Bomb blasts shatter four Rome sites

ROME (UPI) — Four bombs went off at business premises in various parts of Rome early today, causing heavy damage but no injuries. Typewritten messages found near the sites accused America's International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. (ITT) of being behind a "reactionary and fascist plot" in Italy.

Police said the heaviest damage came at the offices of CECA, an Italian computer company which disclaimed any link with ITT. Company officials, who left the building minutes before the blast, estimated damage at more than $1 million.

The building, three blocks from the Via Veneto, is around the corner from the office of the American Broadcasting Company (ABC).

Other explosions occurred miles away at the headquarters of the Intercontinentale di Assicurazioni, an ITT-controlled insurance company, and in a warehouse and truck owned by different telephone equipment companies. Business sources said one of these recently supplied telephonic equipment to Rome police.

Typed messages found on the scenes of the explosions said: "ITT is the spearhead of reaction and the hand of American intelligence services in Italy. It is the company that organized the coup in Chile and is preparing, by means of wiretaps, a reactionary and fascist plot here."

Last September someone poured an inflammable liquid under the door of the ITT office in Rome and set it on fire, causing minor damage.

In a separate incident today, a bomb went off outside a Turin building housing the Spanish consulate and a Spanish chamber of commerce. It damaged the building's door and several parked cars but not the Spanish offices.

More on hand than a year ago

Texaco admits its tanks 'full'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Figures released by Texaco, the first major oil company to reveal its inventories, show the firm has more fuel oil, gasoline, home heating oil, aviation fuel and diesel fuel than it had on hand a year ago.

But the firm, announcing its stocks apparently in response to criticism that the major oil firms are trying to keep the American public from knowing exactly how much oil they have at present, said it has less crude oil than it did last year.

The figures for crude oil were 17.6 million barrels at present, compared with 19 million barrels Jan. 1, 1973. Texaco said it was this reduction in crude stocks that is causing the energy shortage.

"Due to these crude oil shortages, Texaco's refineries are currently operating at about 85 per cent of maximum capacity," a company statement released Thursday said.

Texaco said gasoline production is likely to be cut further due both "to government directives to maximize the manufacture of heating oils and to the lack of adequate supplies of crude oil to keep our refineries running at maximum capacity."

Texaco said one reason it had more finished fuel than last year was, "Inventory levels of Jan. 1, 1973, were dangerously low because of a very cold fall season," and this year, "to prevent a run-out of supplies during the winter months, it has been necessary to build up inventories."

The inventory figures released by Texaco said the firm had on hand Jan. 1, 1974:

Gasoline—22.3 million barrels, compared with 23.2 million barrels on Jan. 1, 1973.

Middle distillates (home heating oils, aviation fuels, and diesel fuels) — 2.2 million barrels, compared with 15.7 million barrels a year ago.

Residual, or heavy fuel oil— 7.6 million barrels, compared with 7.4 million barrels a year ago.

Crude oil—17.6 million barrels, compared with 19.0 million barrels on Jan. 1, 1973.

ONLY HEAT IS HOT DISCUSSION

Ball State University students in Dr. Joseph Trimmer's English class may have heated discussions, but in a cold classroom. Thermostats in classrooms at the Muncie, Ind., university are set at 65 degrees to conserve heating fuel and most students and teachers have elected to keep coats on.

Attack on witnesses

Man awaiting trial takes own life after shooting 7 others

DOVER, Del. (UPI) — A three-hour shooting spree late Thursday night by a man awaiting trial on two felony charges ended in the deaths of five persons and the wounding of three others in what law enforcement officials believe may have been a vengeance attack against potential witnesses.

The gunman, Ronald Hoffecker, 30, of Dover, killed three persons and wounded another at two Dover residences, wounded a state policeman and a woman hostage, and then apparently killed himself and his girl friend after their getaway car crashed into a field.

Hoffecker and his girl friend, Barbara Johnson, 19, Dover, were uninjured in the crash but died of bullet wounds to the head.

Delaware State police said the hostage, 25-year old Sandra Katcher, was in satisfactory condition at the Delaware division of the Wilimington Medical Center with a gunshot wound in the neck.

According to Capt. Angelo Citro's reconstruction of the incident, Hoffecker stopped first at a house in Dover, where he killed Shirley E. Haggerty, 34, and John W. Pappas, 29, a neighbor from nearby Wyoming, Del. A third man was wounded in that confrontation, but was treated and released at Kent Hospital.

Hoffecker picked up Miss Johnson and then drove to the second home in search of Richard Katcher. When Hoffecker was unable to find him, he took Mrs. Katcher hostage. The three then stopped at a third home in suburban Camden, where Hoffecker shot Mark Lovelace to death, Citro said.

Hoffecker and the two women sped north on state route 896 in a late model compact car but were spotted by state police trooper Billy Reep, 31.

Reep stopped the car for a license check and while waiting for identification from the driver was shot in the arm by Hoffecker.

Despite the wound, Reep followed the Hoffecker car in a high speed chase until the auto careened off the roadway north of Middletown and ran into a field.

Deputy Delaware Attorney General Joseph Hurley described the spree as a "systematic killing of witnesses."

Capt. Citro said wearily, "I've been a policeman for 23 years, and I can't quite recall anything like this, repeatedly threatening one of our people-trooper that is-and then the killings: one, two, three, four, five."

Hurley said Hoffecker was free on bond on charges of heroin possession and threatening the life of the undercover officer who arrested him.

Fuel crisis hitting tourist attractions

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — The fuel shortage is beginning to cast a shadow over some of the sunshine state's major tourist attractions.

State tourism director Morris Ford told a group of hotelmen Thursday, "It's no use kidding ourselves. We're going to be affected on the car-travel bit with this gas situation."

Walt Disney World, the flagship of Florida's tourist industry, cut 2,000 regular and seasonal workers from its staff this week, citing a decline in tourist attendance.

Two weeks earlier, Cypress Gardens, the oldest of the state's tourist attractions, announced a cutback of 10 per cent in its work force.

Southern England lashed by storms

LONDON (UPI) — Storms lashed southern England with strong wind and heavy rain today, uprooting trees and ripping off roofs.

Police said 80 per cent of the houses in the small Anglesea village of Malltraeth were damaged and numerous rural roads were blocked by fallen trees.

Apartment complex destroyed

4 killed as fire triggers gas explosion

WEST ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — A giant explosion set off by propane gas ripped through an apartment complex today, killing four persons, destroying buildings and cars and shattering windows four miles away.

"It was like someone dropped a bomb," a photographer said.

Authorities said the blast was triggered when flames in a garage fire at the Charleton Park Apartments got to a propane tank being loaded by a truck. Three firemen and a woman died and several other persons were hospitalized.

Hundreds of residents of the apartments were driven into 7 below zero cold while ice-caked firemen battled to keep the truck from exploding.

City officials called in a National Guard unit to help police the area and prevent looting.

"It was awesome," one witness said. "Cars were smashed like toys someone had stepped on."

The dead were identified as firemen Richard Neikark, Early Armstrong and John Buhrer and a woman, Dodie Peterson. The blast blew off the legs of one of the firemen, who were trying to extinguish flames in the garage when the gas tank blew up.

Men from 15 fire departments, their clothing coated with ice in the sub-zero cold, were sent to the scene. The explosion occurred about 12:30 a.m., shaking the residential area with the seeming intensity of an earthquake.

A fire department captain said about four hours after the explosion, "We've been through the rooms that were damaged the most about three times now and didn't find anyone inside."

Red Cross officials said at least 200 persons were homeless following the explosion. They were being served breakfast by the Red Cross.

Persons from a four-block area were evacuated and between 300 and 400 of them sought refuge in St. Shephen's Church nearby.

Authorities said three buildings in the apartment complex collapsed and several automobiles were destroyed.

Witnesses said the explosion shook buildings in a 15-mile area and sent flames about 150 feet into the air.

Steel workers will seek big pay hikes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The steel workers union will seek "very substantial" wage and fringe benefit increases from the steel industry this year as well as full pay for workers furloughed because of the energy shortage.

Woman rams car into police station, again and again

NORTH HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The sound of shattering glass broke the early morning calm at a police station today and officers were shocked to find a woman had driven into their lobby.

But it was no accident —she aimed for it, they said.

Police at the North Hollwyood division station said the woman drove her two-door sedan over the curb, down the walkway and gathered speed before smashing through the plate glass door.

The officiers scattered and no one was hurt.

Moments later, the officers said, the woman shifted the car into reverse and bore down on the station house lobby again ... and again ... and again.

The floor was littered with shards of glass and twisted door frames before the woman's car finally stalled after she rammed through the doorway some two dozen times.

Police clasped handcuffs on the driver, identified as Sally Braudrick, 35, an unemployed seamstress, who said she was despondent over legal and financial troubles.

The woman was not drunk, but had been drinking, police said.

Boys were lucky battery was dead

LOOMIS, Calif. (UPI) — A dead battery prevented four boys, ranging in age from 10 to 14, from blowing themselves up while playing with more than a dozen sticks of dynamite and blasting caps.

Placer County sheriff's deputies Thursday reported the boys stole the explosives from a Loomis garage. After attaching an explosive cap to a stick of dynamite, they tried to set it off by hooking it to an old battery.

But the charge failed to go off because the battery was dead. If it had, deputies said, the boys would have been killed because they moved only a few feet away.

The boys, three of them brothers, later took the dynamite to Franklin School in Loomis and "handed it out to five of their friends," said Deputy Gene Bothello.

But Bothello said deputies were able to recover what they believe were all the explosives — 15 sticks of dynamite and 10 blasting caps.

Car covered by snow

Youth's instinct saves woman trapped 2 days

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — John Krusinski said today "something" told his son Ron, 15, that the snow-covered automobile near where he was sledding was not a junked auto. Because of Ron's suspicions, Mrs. Ruth Harris, 56, is alive today.

"It seemed as though it all was planned that Ron should spot that lady's car," said Krusinski.

Mrs. Harris, of Shaker Heights, lost control of her new Cadillac on Interstate 271 in Boston Mills Township, at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday. The car skidded to the left, struck a guardrail, flipped over on its top and slid down a 25-foot embankment, trapping Mrs. Harris inside.

At 12:30 p.m. Thursday, Ron and his brothers, David, 12, and John Jr., 10, were sledding on a hill a half mile east of where the car had come to a stop. The car was nearly covered by snow.

"The boys looked across the Cuyahoga River and saw what looked like a junked car," said Krusinski. "But something told Ron that it was an accident, not a junked car."

Ron went to a nearby service station and called authorities. He then went back to the car with the station's owner, Joseph Dzerzynski.

"I looked in the window and didn't see anything," said Dzerzysni. "Then I heard a little voice that sounded almost like a kitten—it got a little louder and then I realized there was a woman tangled up inside the car."

"Oh God, get me out—I'm so cold. I've been here since Tuesday," Dzerzynski heard Mrs. Harris say.

Several sheriff's deputies arrived on the scene and pulled her from the wreckage, 45 hours after the accident.

She was taken to St. Thomas Hospital in Akron where she was listed in fair condition.

New storm losing punch; less than half-inch likely

A massive storm front that has been looming on the horizon for the past few days threatening to bring heavy rains has dissipated to the point that forecasters now feel the storm will bring less than half an inch of rain toinght and Saturday.

Forecaster Jim Christopherson of the U.S. National Weather Service said Pomona Valley residents "Shouldn't expect too much rain from the new storm."

Today's cloudy skies will be followed this evening by showers. It will also shower Saturday morning. The storm will start to clear Sunday and the sun may even peek through at times, the forecaster said.

Roads to Mt. Baldy are open to the ski lifts. The ski lifts will be in operation Saturday. Mt. Baldy has five to 15-foot snow packs for skiing.

Resort areas in Wrightwood reported 2,000 visitors to the area, where four to six-foot pack pevails.

Pressured by resorts and businesses in the San Bernardino Mountains communities, the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors planned to hold a special session late today to re-evaluate its decision to close snow-clogged mountain roads.

The board said its decision today would depend on weather predictions.

The board closed all roads to the mountains Tuesday because of the snowfall, which is reported to be the heaviest in 25 years in the San Bernardino Mountains.

State and county road department officials say the roads need to be closed to traffic and to reopen the roads would bring "total chaos." Crews are in the process of removing abandoned cars that stalled in the heavy snow. Snow plows apparently can't operate in heavy traffic.

Businessmen in the resort areas say this is the first major storm of the year and it will be a great economic loss if visitors don't have access to the mountain areas.

Operators of a ski facility in Big Bear claim they would lose from $3,000 to $10,000 a day.

The six major resort areas in the San Bernardino Mountains include Snow Valley, Green Valley, Snow Summit, Goldmine, Rebel Ridge and Snow Forest. All are in the area of Big Bear, with the exception of Snow Valley.

Because of the approaching storm, the state of "limited emergency" will still be in effect for the entire Los Angeles County, because of possible road and property damage.

Locally, the temperatures tonight will be in the mid-40s and reach a possible high temperature Saturday of 56 degrees. Thursday high temperature in Pomona was 58 degrees and this morning's low, 43 degrees.

Spying plot against Kissinger revealed

CHICAGO (UPI) — A secret investigation by the White House "plumbers unit" in 1971 revealed a spying and eavesdropping campaign against Henry Kissinger by top ranking military officials, the Chicago Tribune said today.

The copyright story said the investigation "is the mysterious 'National security matter' often referred to by President Nixon in his public statements."

The Tribune quoted "sources familiar with the investigation" as saying evidence showed top secret information was passed by someone in Kissinger's national security council office to the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"At least one military officer assigned to Kissinger's staff was accused by the White House investigators of being 'A spy for the Joint Chiefs' and lost his job," the Tribune reported.

The newspaper said, "No source was able to explain why the Joint Chiefs would direct such a campaign against Kissinger, who was then deeply involved in efforts to settle the Vietnam War."

But one former government official with knowledge of the investigation said military officials were miffed by Kissinger's secret, personal diplomacy and a decision to bypass them with sensitive intelligence, the story said.

The Tribune said White House counsel Fred Buzhardt told one of hits reporters that the story contained a "fundamental inaccuracy," which he refused to explain.

It also said a spokesman for Adm. Thomas Moorer, head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said Moorer never had an difficulty obtaining information from Kissinger through normal channels. The spokesman's statement termed reports that information was received by extraordinary means "ridiculous and ludicrous," the Tribune reported.

The Tribune said the plumbers unit, established in 1971 in a White House effort to stop news leaks, learned of efforts to spy on Kissinger during the investigation of the printing of secret White House documents on the Indian-Pakistan war.

Recall urged for 1959-60 Cadillacs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government urged General Motors today to recall 60,000 1959-1960 Cadillacs for a steering defect which it said could cause a driver to lose control of his car.

James B. Gregory, head of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, asked General Motors to notify owners of the Cadillacs immediately about the defect.

Under law, the safety agency cannot order GM to recall the cars. Gregory urged the company to correct the defect at no cost to the owners.

The defect is centered in the Pitman arm. The steering arm is a critical component which connects the Cadillac's steering shaft to the steering linkage If it fails, the driver loses control of the car.

According to the safety agency, the defect is caused by metal fatigue that can be induced from "repetitive stresses" involved in turns and parking maneuvers.

It said its investigation showed that steering arms "have failed frequently and without warning, causing complete steering loss and thus creating an unreasonable risk of accidents, injuries, and deaths to drivers and passengers."

Unemployment begins takeoff

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the United States warning of worldwide economic hazards from the energy crisis, Americans were told today that unemployment at home began rising rapidly in early December because of fuel shortages.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics released a report showing about 100,000 persons lost their jobs because of actual and threatened gasoline shortages in the week of Dec. 9-15 alone. Since then, tens of thousands more workers have lost jobs, particularly in the auto and airline industries.

The jobs report today was based on payroll data collected from employers.

About half of the 100,000 were at the service station and automobile dealer levels. Other areas hit included hotels, motels, transportation, entertainment and utilities.

The airlines have announced furloughs for 15,000 employes while layoffs due to the energy crisis have reached 61,000 in the automobile industry.

Walt Disney World, the giant entertainment complex near Orlando, Fla., cut 2,000 workers from its staff this week, citing a decline in tourist attendance.

The announcements came a day after President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger pressed appeals for a global solution to the energy crisis.

Nixon said it "threatens to unleash political and economic forces that could cause severe and irreparable damage to the prosperity and stability of the world."

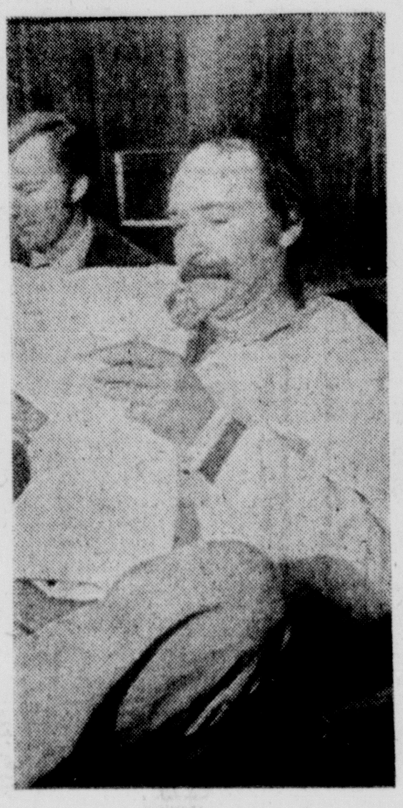

As a shortage of gasoline has grown tighter in some areas of the United States, federal officials have been giving greater attention to price gouging and various price-raising gimmicks.

Charles E. Owens, the Federal Energy Office official in charge of price and tax matters, said today that station operators cannot charge for special services —such as wiping windshields —if they did not do so before price controls.

"As far as we are concerned, they amount to a price increase," he said. "If as of the date of price controls, he (the station operator) was not charging to clean windshields, for instance, he cannot now."

Owens also told newsmen that the home heating oil shortage had apparently leveled off, with as much on hand now as storage and market flow could handle.

Owens said the fact it is becoming harder to sell high priced foreign heating oil shows that the problem has "about topped out." He said as inventories are being used they are being replaced.

Man, woman arraigned in murder-for-hire case

LONG BEACH (UPI) — Eloise Popeil, estranged wife of Chicago millionaire Samuel J. Popeil, and her boyfriend were arraigned Thursday on charges of trying to hire a killer to assassinate Popeil, possibly at a trade show in Chicago today.

Bail for Mrs. Popeil, 43, now of Newport Beach, Calif., and Daniel M. Ayers, 37, of Santa Anna, Calif., was set at $200,000. They were charged with conspiracy to commit murder and remanded to jail.

Deputy District Attorney Charles Sheldon said the suspects tried to hire two men to kill Popeil, offering them $50,000 apiece. The two men, who have not been identified, reported the offer to police, Sheldon said.

Long Beach police said that during a taped telephone conversation betwen the suspects and the two men, the plotters suggested that Popeil could be killed at a housewares exhibit at the international Amphitheater in Chicago today.

"That was one of the alternatives they considered," a police spokesman said. "They knew where he was going to be but had no definite plan."

In the telephone conversation, The district attorney's office said, Mrs. Popeil had described the layout of her husband's Drake Towers apartment and his office, and spoke of killing his maid and chauffeur if necessary.

Authorities said Mrs. Popeil would have acquired about one third of Popeil's fortune, estimated at about $200 million, if he died before their pending divorce was complete. Popeil's firm, Popeil Bros., Inc., manufactures household items.

A preliminary hearing was scheduled for Jan. 21 before Municipal Court Judge Charles S. Litwin.

Black man gets $25,000 for unjust discharge

Army makes amends for 1906 Texas incident

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — A major general gave a $25,000 check Thursday to a smiling 87-year-old former shoeshine man and only known survivor of a group of black soldiers unjustly and dishonorably discharged from the Army nearly 68 years ago.

The ex-soldier, Dorsie Willis of Minneapolis, said he had hoped for more, but it was "all right."

A riotous shooting incident at Brownsville, Tex., in 1906 led to the discharge of 167 black soldiers, although officials could not pin down the blame for the affair. In 1972, the Secretary of the Army ordered all the discharges changed to honorable.

Maj. Gen. DeWitt C. Smith Jr., of Washington, D.C., gave Willis the check Thursday to help make amends.

"Nearly a year ago Lt. Col. William Baker and I, acting for the Secretary of the Army, were privileged to make amends in a very small way for a very large wrong done to Mr. Willis," Smith said.

"We are honored by the quality of life which you have led over the long years and fundamentally we are here to pay tribute to a man whose full life has been marked by hard work, human decency and honor."

Willis, who shined shoes in a barber shop for years before he retired seven years ago, was notified on his 87th birthday Feb. 11, 1973, that his discharge had been changed to honorable.

Willis, white-haired and walking with a cane, said in a gravelly voice, "I'm very grateful (for the check). It's a great birthday present. But it comes too many years too late."

"I'd hoped for $70,000, figuring $1,000 for each of the 66 years I waited plus $4,000 for medical costs I've had over the years."

"But I guess this is all right," he said.

Willis, husky and about 6 feet tall, wore a black suit, pinstriped shirt and a wide black tie.

Willis' younger brother, Orville, of Los Angeles and some of his children were on hand for the ceremony.

The Brownsville incident had been called the "Brownsville Massacre." Brownsville whites protested the transfer of Willis' black unit to the city at the time. When 20 horsemen rode through the streets one night shooting up buildings and killing one man the black troops were blamed.

"The citizens said the men were on horses," Willis said. "Well, we didn't have horses. We were in the infantry."

Nixon will not quit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former White House Counselor Charles Colson said Thursday President Nixon will not resign, but will "serve out the rest of his term and insure his place in history."

Colson, here to appear in a civil trial as attorney for record producer Phil Spector, told a radio interviewer, "No President in history has disclosed as much about his personal financial affairs and the conduct of his presidency as this President."

About people

Hirohito's poem read at party

TOKYO (UPI) — Emperor Hirohito's latest poem was read three times at the imperial poetry party Thursday. The work, in the 31-syllable Waka form, dealt with "Asa," or morning.

"Beyond the hills," it read,
"Is seen in twilight
"The island of Toshima
"In the sea of morning calm."

Among the guests at the imperial palace were the emperor and empress, Crown Prince Akihito, other members of the royal family, and nearly 90 others, including 10 members of the public whose works were also read. They had been chosen from among 30,000 entries.

The Empress's poem:
"In the light of dawn I saw
"A bank of clouds turning crimson
"Oh, there was the morn already
"Over the land of Tzu."

Stennis to run for re-election

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., who was wounded by robbers in Washington last year, Thursday said he will be a candidate for re-election in 1976.

"One of my purposes in being over here is to show the people of Mississippi that I am on my feet and am already working on 1976," the 73-year-old senator told reporters. "My health is good with no complications."

Cahill to teach and practice law

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Gov. William T. Cahill says he will settle in Princeton, N.J., to practice law and teach at Princeton University after he leaves office next Tuesday.

"It is unlikely that I would return to public office," he told reporters, "but if I have to support my family I might consider again seeking elective office."

Although two of his cabinet members and several of his political associates were indicted during his last two years in office, Cahill said he does not think he was "sold out" by anyone.

"I'm sure nobody tried to intentionally hurt me," he said. "An administration attracts all kinds of people, and you don't always get to know them, and sometimes mistakes are made in judgments."

Tunney suspicious of crisis severity

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., says he believes there is an energy crisis but he is suspicious about its severity.

The senator told a news conference Thursday his doubts were fed by reports of increased oil imports, full storage facilities and black market activities.

"I am told you can get all the middle distillate fuels such as diesel that you want if you go to the black market," Tunney said.

5 appointed to consumer group

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — The White House Thursday announced the appointment of five persons to two-year terms on the Consumer Advisory Council.

They are Adolfo G. Alayan, director of a New York consumer action group; Linda Lee Graham, a Wichita, Kan., State University ecnomics instructor; Camille A. Haney of Madison, Wis., the Justice Department's consumer affairs coordinator for Wisconsin; Edna Decoursey Johnson, director of the consumer services program of the Baltimore Urban League; and Robert Lee Wright Jr., an optometrist from Columbus, Ga.

Castro assassination, second invasion scheme told

NEW YORK (UPI) — "An incredibly wild scheme" to assassinate Fidel Castro and invade Cuba a second time was set in motion by the CIA in 1964, but then cancelled when a rebellion broke out in the Dominican Republic, according to a writer on Cuban affairs.

In an article for the February issue of Esquire magazine, to be published, Jan. 17, Tad Szulc, a former correspondent of the New York Times and author of several books dealing with Latin American problems, says the CIA disbursed $750,000 a month for six months between 1964 and 1965 to finance the second invasion attempt.

The article says the new invasion was to be on a smaller scale than the unsuccessful 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion and "was to bring ashore some 750 armed Cubans at the crucial moment when Castro would be dead and inevitable chaos had developed."

Szulc calls the plot "an incredibly wild scheme" which had to be cancelled when a rebellion broke out in the Dominican Republic in April, 1965, and President Johnson sent U.S. troops to that country.

Had the second invasion of Cuba taken place, Szulc notes, it would have violated guarantees given for the sovereignty of Cuba at the time of the Cuban missile crisis.

Szulc says that seven months after the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba in April, 1961, he was invited to the Oval Office at the White House for a private talk with President Kennedy.

During the course of a conversation about Cuba, according to Szulc, Kennedy leaned forward in his rocking chair and asked:

"What would you think if I ordered Castro to be assassinated?"

Szulc writes that after he blurted his objections, Kennedy said "he had been testing me because he was under great pressure from advisers in the intelligence community to have Castro killed, but that he himself violently opposed it on the grounds that for moral reasons the United States should never be party to political assassinations."

L.A. backing off on energy penalty

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The city may back off on enforcing its electricity rationing plan with stiff penalties because it is working so well and because administering the penalty system might be an enormous task.

Mayor Tom Bradley said Thursday he is asking the committee that wrote the plan to reconvene next week and look into the possibility of eliminating the penalties. The Department of Water and Power said it is behind the idea.

Meanwhile, City Councilman Robert J. Stevenson called for a 30-day moratorium on penalties because "confusion is widespread" about how the system works and how to appeal injust penalties.

DWP General Manager Robert Phillips said that since the cutback plan went into effect, electricity usage has been reduced by 16 per cent —well over the 12 per cent reduction that had been hoped for.

At that rate, he said, the DWP will not run short of fuel oil until next December, easing earlier fears of blackouts by spring.

Even if removing the penalties causes a backslide to only a 12 per cent cutback, Phillips said, that will delay the fuel oil shortage until October.

The DWP is in favor of doing away with the penalties because its offices have been flooded with thousands of queries and complaints. The system has only begun to take effect, but DWP estimates of the number of appeals that would have to be processed run up to 250,000.

Those who exceed their ration were to be fined for the first offense with a 50 per cent surcharge on their bill. Subsequent violations were to be penalized by shutting off service, from two to 30 days.

Bradley noted that there has been "widespread voluntary complaince" with the plan. "It is important to remember that the intent of the ordinance in the first place was not to punish people but to conserve energy."

"I think it's reasonable only if people continue to curtail their use of energy at or near present levels," Phillips said.

"If people immediately resume their former habits, then we can't live with it."

Meanwhile, the county supervisors criticized the Air Pollution Hearing Board Thursday for the conditions imposed on use of high sulfur oil in the county's central heating and air conditioning plant.

The plant supplies heat and cooling to county buildings in the Civic Center, including the Courthouse and the Hall of Justice.

The shortage of gas, and low sulfur oil, forced the county to seek permission from the air pollution authorities to burn high-sulfur oil when other fuels run out.

The permission was granted, on condition that the county notify everyone within 1.5 miles of the plant when such oil is used.

U.S. cracks down on 'psychic surgeon' ads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is trying to crack down on "faith healers" it says are luring Americans to the Philippines to remove alleged tumors without surgery.

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) said the "psychic surgeons" sometimes use entrails from animals and fake blood to make the patients believe they are being operated on through the spiritual power of the healer.

The agency said Thursday it had won a court order under which three travel agencies in San Francisco and Seattle were told they could no longer use the term "psychic surgeon" or similar phrases that might lead customers to believe some form of operation takes place during the trip.

The travel agencies have been sending people on tours to the Philippines which sometimes last two weeks and cost up to $1,000, FTC said.

It warned that cancer patients, diabetics and others might foresake their regular medication believing they had been healed.

The agencies named are Travel King Inc., Seattle; Phil-Am Travel Agency Inc., Seattle and San Francisco; and Gm Travel Service Inc., San Francisco.

Richard M. Douglass of Seattle said in an affidavit released by FTC that he took his wife, a cancer patient, on one of the tours last fall, and she was "operated on" by a surgeon named Tony Agpaoa.

"On Nov. 3 or 4, 1973, during the second 'operation' on Phyllis' neck, Tony pulled some tissue from the area of the 'operation', held it up, and said, 'There's the tumor,'" Douglass said in his affidavit.

Production of autos down

DETROIT (UPI) — U.S. auto production this week slipped 68,000 below last year's record figures as 13 assembly plants remained closed because of slumping sales, the trade publication Automotive News said Thursday.

The four major producers planned to build 136,332 cars this week, compared with just 90,424 New Year's week, and well below the 204,588 produced in the same week last year, Automotive News said. Only American Motors topped last year's production figures.

Some 61,000 U.S. auto workers have now been permanently idled because of the cutback which will see first quarter production fall about 24 per cent below last year.

The four major companies plan to produce about 2,055,000 cars in the January-March period, compared with 2,719,343 in the first three months of 1973.

Rowland dist. starts later

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — The 15,300 pupils enrolled in the Rowland Unified School District apparently are the only school children in the Pomona Valley who are not going to school in the dark.

When they returned to their classrooms following the Christmas vacation, educators moved their bells one-half hour later.

Earliest classes used to start at 7:45 a.m. They now begin at 8:15 a.m.

Supt. Stanley Oswalt said "it makes good sense' and so far has caused no problems.

"Our hopes would be that this change will last from 45 to 60 days," Oswalt said. "When the days grow longer, we will revert back to Daylight Savings Time. If Daylight Savings Time continues next year, we'd continue our current policy and change again."

Oswalt said starting times for services and bus pickups were changed without eruption.

"Some parents have had difficulties in getting to work on time after they bring their children to school 30 minutes later than usual, but most people understand the situation and support the idea," Oswalt said.

Butchers vote to accept pact

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An estimated 700 members of a butchers union voted overwhelmingly Thursday night to accept an offer by Vernon area meatpacking houses.

Officials at the Local 563 said the vote was nearly unanimous. Union members are expected to return to their jobs Friday.

Another 150 night shift workers, as well as members of truckers and operating engineers unions, still have to vote on the proposal.

Details of the settlement were not immediately released.

The month-old strike-lockout had closed 23 meatpacking houses in Vernon, idling more than 1,500 workers.

Traffic tickets issued by CHP 'amazingly low'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An "amazingly low" 1,250 tickets a day have been issued by California highway patrolmen to violators of the newly reduced 55 mile-an-hour speed limit.

The patrol Thursday said about half of the speeding arrests occur on freeways in the populous Los Angeles and San Francisco Bay areas and about 45 a day in the 13 northern rural counties.

Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski said the average 1,250 violators cited each day "is an amazingly low percentage when you realize several million vehicles operate each day on roads and highways where the new limit is in effect."

Pudinski said "most drivers are doing their best" to comply with the energy-conserving reduced speed limit.

'Love Nixon' is chant of youth rally

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Three dozen young persons advocating forgiveness and unity as a solution to the Watergate scandal rallied on the rainswept steps of the Texas capitol Tuesday and said an effective President is a loved President.

"Our purpose is to provide a Christian solution to more than the political crisis, but to the whole conscience of America," said John Harries of Shropshire, England, regional coordinator of the National Prayer and Fast for the Watergate Crisis (NPFWC).

"It's time to forgive, love and unite around the President," Harries said. "We must love our President for him to be effective."

The demonstrators, most of them members of the Unification Church, which planned similar rallies in the other 49 states this week, carried signs that said "We Love Nixon' and "Support Our President."

Harries said the NPFWC was formed to "deal with this (Watergate) situation" and the nonpartisan rally was to try to bring about "a return to the Christian spirit of forgiveness, love and unity" and to express support for President Nixon.

Council faces decisions on resignation, new election

By TONY NAVARRO
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — The City Council at its next meeting Monday "possibly" will accept the resignation of Councilman R. T. French and call for a special election to find a replacement, according to Mayor Ray J. Lepire.

Lepire made the comment at a Mayor's Breakfast Thursday sponsored by the Pomona Jaycees at Buffums Palomares Room. Some 80 attended, including Congressman Victor Veysey, R-43rd Dist., candidate in the new 35th Congressional District, and Pomona Councilman Charles W. Bader, candidate in the new 35th Assembly District.

French, elected to a four-year council term in April of 1971, resigned Dec. 31 over a state financial disclosure act that went into effect this year. He said he was not engaged in anything that could be construed as a conflict of interest but resented the forced disclosure of matters he considered very personal in nature.

Lepire Thursday morning expressed his unhappiness with provisions of the new act and over the loss of French, who was described by the mayor as a "very important part" of what has been a "tremendous council"

Most of the mayor's remarks dealt with what he saw as the outlook for Pomona in 1974 and other future years.

"The overwhelming desire of the vast majority of the citizens of this community to move ahead in the direction of aggressive economic stability should not be overlooked," said Lepire.

'I look ahead, not back, when I think of the future of this county. I look ahead, not back, when I think of the energy crisis, and I look ahead, not back, when I think of Pomona."

One of the most critical questions to be faced, said Lepire, is what can be done to improve the downtown Pomona Mall, a question, he added, which was posed to him two or three times a day.

Lepire also talked about council goals on which he previously had commented publicly, about the proposed federal Better Communities Act, which, as it stand now, would mean more than $5 million for Pomona over a five-year period.

OUT OF THE EGG COMES THE CHICK

Chicks hatching in an electric incubator at Harrison Elementary School in Pomona hold the attention of Lela Fulcher, 5, left, and Shawn Sommers, 5, pupils in Mrs. Edward Borseth's kindergarten class. The eggs were incubated at Kimber Farms Inc. 18 days before being placed in the portable California Egg Program incubator at the school Tuesday. By Thursday morning 16 of the 44 eggs had hatched, to the delight of all pupils and staff at the school. The portable incubator, fashioned like a large egg, has large windows which allow pupils to watch the chicks peck their ways out of their shells. Mrs. Borseth said the baby chicks, when they out-grow the incubator, will be given to a Chino rancher.

Half of plan passes

Planners reject liquor store, approve dairy

POMONA — A service station at 1312 W. Mission Blvd. may soon dispense milk rather than gasoline.

The Pomona Planning Commission Wednesday night granted a conditional use permit to allow the vacant station to be converted into a drive-in dairy.

Shawky W. Mikhail, the applicant, had also sought permission to sell wine and beer at the establishment. But planners deleted these sales because of other liquor establishments in the area and the opposition by some area residents.

Eleanor Duncan of 1296 W. Sixth St. was one of the residents to raise an objection to sale of beer and wine. "When we get to a point where a person can drive in without surveillance, then this could lead to teen-agers making purchases," she said.

Mikhail reported, however, that he did not plan to sell beer and wine to drive-in customers. A parking lot would be provided for those making these purchases since sales would be made only inside the building. The applicant also reported the sale of only dairy products may not provide enough revenue to cover expenses.

The commission received a letter from Mrs. Clifford Henning opposing the sale of beer and wine. There is an excess of liquor establishments in Pomona, especially along Mission Boulevard, she noted.

Beer and wine sales, however, received support from William Koch of 1270 W. Mission Blvd. and Mrs. Ray Benacci, who resides near the site. "I see nothing wrong with beer and wine," she said. "If people are going to drink, they will buy it."

In a related matter, the commission denied a request for a use permit to allow a mortuary to be established in a single family residence at 1292 W. Mission Blvd., across the street from the service station.

Planners cited the lack of adequate parking space as a major reason for denial. Several area residents opposed the mortuary. They feared vehicles of persons attending funeral services there would overflow into the residential area.

Tommy Johnson, the applicant, said he proposed to provide many services for black persons that are not presently provided.

Aid grants increased, housekeeper to get pay

I am employed as a housekeeper for a married couple. The husband and wife each receive aid to the totally disabled through Los Angeles County.

The woman has tried since November to collect my wages for me from Los Angeles County without any luck. Would you please help me? — R.V., Ontario.

If you are fortunate, your employers, residents of Pomona, should receive checks for your pay in about a week. It may be longer.

Papers you obtained from them and enclosed with your letter show that your employers recently moved here from another county.

They have other income and a monthly grant of only $3 was approved for each beginning Oct. 31, 1973 through the Los Angeles County Department of Public Social Services.

When they showed evidence of need for attendant care and Meals on Wheels, each grant was increased on Dec. 11 retroactively to $43 for November and $50 beginning in December.

Several incidents have delayed payment, according to Mrs. Evaline Hutchison, eligibility supervisor at the Pomona office.

In the first place, somehow both your employers got listed under the same case number.

When that was cleared up, each case had to be evaluated and clearance obtained to budget each grant.

Local paper work was finished around Christmas. The remainder of the processing is being done in Los Angeles. Mrs. Hutchison estimates your employers' checks should come through in a minimum of three weeks from the date local work was completed. When they do, you can get paid.

I am a student at Mt. San Antonio College and have been collecting educational benefits as a veteran for approximately a year.

Everything was going fine until I enrolled in a three-unit summer school class last June. After I had attended two weeks I was unable to continue the rest of the term.

I notified the VA office at MSAC that I had dropped out for the summer. A VA check came a few weeks later to cover summer school. I sent it back to the VA office in Los Angeles, along with an explanatory letter, by registered mail.

When registration time came for the fall semester, I applied for advance payment through the school.

A check arrived for $16.84, which was supposed to cover September and October.

I went to the VA office in Ontario to see if I could get help in obtaining the full amount for September and October. I was told that it can take many months to clear up problems such as mine and sooner or later it all comes out in the wash.

Can you help me recover the money I believe I am entitled to for September and October? — J.K., La Verne.

We wrote to the VA the day we received your letter. As a result, the regional office about two weeks later authorized a payment of $298.67 for those two months.

Even though you had returned your summer school check, the amount had been deducted from your September and October pay.

Happy that we were able to speed up the wash cycle, you confirmed that you had received the $298.67.

I sent four checks for $15 each to a national religious organization to be forwarded for missionary work.

They have not been forwarded but were cashed by the first organization.

Can you help me get the money properly accounted for? — F.S., Pomona.

Our letter to the religious association brought a phone call from Illinois. We were assured that a check in the amount of $60 had been sent to the mission you designated after your four $15 checks had cleared the bank. You will receive confirmation.

Proposal to erect flags on holidays gets lift from Planning Commission

POMONA — American flags may soon be displayed along major city streets during state and national holidays.

The proposed community project was outlined Wednesday night to the Pomona Planning Commission.

Harriet Harrison, Americanism chairman for the local Republican Club, said the plan is to place the flags on light standards along sections of Garey and Holt avenues and Mission Boulevard.

"We hope to have the blessing of the Planning Commission and other organizations in Pomona," she said. "This is not considered a Republican Club project."

Fred Kline, commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 2018, said such a program is conducted in many communities. "It is necessary to keep us aware there is an American flag and recognize its true meaning."

The proposal calls for the flags to be displayed an average of nine holidays a year. Various community groups will be asked to post the flags during the morning and take them down before sunset, he reported.

"Cost of the project isn't certain since we don't have all the bids on flags, poles and holders," said Kline. "I feel, however, this will take from $8,000 to $10,000 initially."

An organization meeting will be held Jan. 16 to form a committee and elect officers. Plans for a fund-raising program will be discussed.

"There seems to be quite a bit of enthusiasm for this project," said Kline. "I have already received a pledge of $1,000 from an anonymous donor."

The Planning Commission voted unanimously to support the project.

Defendant fights sex offender finding

Psychiatrists testify in Lakey case

POMONA — Lee Donald Lakey, killer almost a year ago here of 19-year-old Cheryl P. Brown, has a history as a peeping tom, procurer, male prostitute, self abuser, passive homosexual and obscene caller, psychiatrists testified Thursday in Pomona Superior Court.

They also revealed that he once forced a high school girl into his car at gunpoint.

The testimony of Dr. Seymour Pollock and Dr. Dennis Philander came during an unusual hearing before a jury. It is intended to determine if Lakey, 23-year-old bus boy, is a mentally disordered sex offender as earlier ruled sex offender as earlier ruled by Judge Glenn M. Pfau. Lakey is opposing the ruling.

The two psychiatrists were appointed by the court to determine the issue after Lakey was convicted Oct. 24 of involuntary manslaughter in Miss Brown's strangulation. Both Dr. Pollock and Dr. Philander, in their reports to Judge Pfau, offered the opinion that Lakey was a mentally disordered sex offender. A third psychiatrist offered the same opinion.

Dr. Pollock described Lakey's childhood as "tumultuous" and said he was from a broken home and had been placed as a foster child. He was divorced and had been living with a young woman when arrested, he said.

Dr. Pollock said Lakey was not cooperative in his interview and that he "resisted and would not reveal" information the psychiatrist attempted to get from him.

Dr. Philander said he had not had enough time to formulate an accurate psyciatric diagnosis, but had had enough time to determine that, in his opinion, Lakey was a mentally disordered sex offender.

A third psychiatrist, also court appointed, was scheduled to testify today.

The issue must be decided prior to Lakey's sentencing on the involuntary manslaughter conviction.

Reducing crime everyone's job

Operation School Watch in the Pomona Unified School District has been so successful that the program is being continued at least through January.

During the Christmas recess, when the schools were not occupied, the public was encouraged to keep an eye on the various school plants with the view of reducing and discouraging vandalism. Police, parents, and school employes were all participating.

As a result there were fewer acts of malicious damage to school property than there were during the same period a year ago. Encouraged by this report, school officials plan to continue this vigilance through the remainder of the month.

This is a classic example of what good can be accomplished when people become involved for the common good. We would hope that this same type of public involvement could be expanded to include individual neighborhoods and shopping areas.

We have excellent public safety organizations but the police and fire departments are only as good as the support they receive from the residents they serve.

Acts of burglary, property damage, arson, and violence can be reduced and even thwarted if everyone makes it his personal responsibility to be alert to what is happening in his neighborhood, where he works and where he shops.

With total participation we can make crime unpopular and unprofitable, restore pride in our community, and thereby improve the quality of life for everybody. It's worth working for.

In praise of 'loophole' demise

A survey by Scripps-Howard News Service of the records of the federal government's General Services Administration reveals that President Nixon was hardly alone in claiming a tax deduction for his personal papers.

Lyndon B. Johnson, both as president and vice president, former vice president Hubert Humphrey, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, cabinet members, presidential advisors and a host of top-and-middle-echelon officials in the last five national administrations, as well as three journalists and authors, made tax-deductible donations of their papers between 1963 and 1969 to the National Archives, presidential libraries or local historical societies.

The matter would be academic now, since Congress abolished this provision of the tax laws effective July 25, 1969, except that it is an example of how the spreading stain of Watergate has touched people not even remotely connected with that scandal.

Then, too, there is the very live question of the propriety, if not the legality, of President Nixon's gift of his vice presidential papers which a joint congressional committee is looking into, at his request.

Were it not for Watergate, it is unlikely that any of this information would ever have become public knowledge. Even if it had, were it not for Watergate again, it is unlikely that much ado would have been made about it.

But whatever the term "Watergate" comes to signify in the history books, for the present generation of Americans it has brought an acutely heightened sensitivity to the ethical behavior of government officials.

The ordinary citizen may well ask why men who were elected or appointed to positions of public trust and prominence should ever have been permitted tax write-offs for materials they acquired simply by virtue of attaining such positions. Documents accumulated in the public service ought to belong to the public — period.

It is interesting to note that the Scripps-Howard list contains no names of representatives or senators donating personal papers, which may be one reason why Congress eventually abolished this particular "loophole."

However it came about, it is well that the practice is ended.

Plumbing a mystery

The story is no doubt apocryphal, but one plumber is said to require his potential customers to submit their requests in writing. All entries are judged on their neatness and originality.

At any rate, plumbers are invariably cited as an example of how those offering skilled services have become the new elite in our society. Some of them earn as much as $18,000 a year — yet you can't get one to make a housecall.

Why this should be so is a mystery. After all, how many times a year — or a decade, for that matter — does the average homeowner require the services of a plumber? There aren't that many new houses being built to keep them all busy.

It's a mystery, and if plumbers know the answer, they're not telling anyone. Except maybe their doctors.

Memos point to more oil troubles

WASHINGTON — The final lifting of the Arab oil embargo, according to secret reports from the Saudi Arabian fields, won't bring the promised gush of oil.

The reports have been shown to us by sources inside Aramco, the multinational, multibillion consortium which developed the Saudi fields. There are four Aramco partners — Exxon, Mobil, Standard of California and Texaco — each an oil giant in its own right.

In these reports, which have been witheld from both the Saudi and U.S. governments, Aramco engineers have warned that "severe technical difficulties" have hampered production.

Their best estimate is that production will be "stabilized" at no more than 7.5 million barrels a day. This is less than half the 20 million barrels that the Saudis promised if their political terms were met.

Greed

But the real scandal, if the engineering reports are correct, is that the production foul-up was caused by Aramco's greed.

For three decades, Aramco has been pumping oil from under the sands of the sheikdom and paying the Saudis more alms.

Not only are the fabulous, one-sided oil concessions of the past now at an end, but the company fears that its whole Saudi operation will be taken over by the government. The secret Aramco memos are full of references to "possible nationalization" and "unstable political conditions."

A year ago, the memos predicted nationalization would come "well before 1980." More recent memos warn that the takeover may be only two or three years away.

Aramco, therefore, began draining every drop of oil that could be sold from its Saudi wells. The daily production was increased from 6.5 million barrels in 1972 to nine million barrels in 1973. The company had set a 9.3-million-barrel production goal by the end of the year.

Existing fields

The corporate objective, according to the secret memos, was to increase production from existing fields without spending any more money than necessary on developing new wells.

The rush to get the oil out caused technical problems. As early as last June, engineers warned that production was too fast. Their secret reports tell of "huge pressure drops" and "erratic production."

The hurried production, according to the reports, created "tremendous volumes" of natural gas, which simply had to be burned off. At a steadier production rate, the reports state, the gas could be compressed and reinjected into the formation.

This would cost a little development money, but it would increase the pressurization and permit more oil to be pumped from existing wells.

However, the documents make clear that Aramco is not interested in preserving petroleum for the Saudi government to expropriate but only in removing as much as possible before nationalization takes place.

No shortage

There is no shortage of oil under the Saudi sands. The barren, baked desert virtually floats on a sea of petroleum. The engineering reports, indeed, are highly critical of Aramco's management for failing to conduct adequate "development drilling" and "reservoir analysis."

But plainly, the company is unwilling to invest substantial sums in developing Saudi Arabia's vast oil reserves unless the government makes the risk worthwhile.

One memo estimates that it would cost Aramco $1 billion to increase production. The money is needed for drilling new wells and building more pipelines and storage tanks. Even if this vast investment is made, according to the memo, no substantial increase in production could be expected before 1977.

The Aramco documents show that the company, meanwhile, is concentrating on draining the fields it has already developed. Only 14 of the 20 known fields are now being worked, according to the engineering reports, and substantial production is coming from only 12. Geological surveys indicate that many more fields merely await exploration and development.

Minuteman aimed at Soviet doubts

There has been speculation that the proposal to test-fire Minuteman missiles over the continental United States is intended to show the Kremlin that a Watergate-weakened President Nixon is as tough as ever. This is so much rubbish.

Rather, the tests would be an attempt to convince the Russians that a continuation of the arms race is a wasteful and futile adventure for Moscow. Hopefully, they would demonstrate to Soviet party leader Leonid Breshnev and his associates that the Minuteman is exceedingly accurate and reliable under operational conditions.

Such an outcome would suggest that despite costly Russian research and development programs, the U.S.S.R. is hopelessly behind and destined to fall even further behind in the arms race unless it comes to terms with the United States in the second round of the Strategic arms Limitation Talks (SALT II) for a standstill, or at least a slowdown, in the incredibly expensive and dangerous contest.

In the U.S. view, the necessity for these tests arises now because of recent advances in Russian missile capabilities. There is a likelihood that the Soviet Union within a number of years, will have both heavier and more nuclear weapons that the United States if its current program goes unchecked. It is known that Russian scientists are currently making considerable technological advances.

But the tremendous Soviet effort could go for naught if U.S. weapons continue to be far ahead of their Soviet counterparts in accuracy and reliability.

The question is one of credibility, which is the key attribute of a strategic missile system designed more for preventing nuclear war than for winning it. Most planners now believe there would be no winners in any Soviet-U.S. nuclear holocaust.

It was in the pursuit of credibility that a military analyst some years back seriously suggested U.S. defense would be strengthened if the President would make the Soviet Union a gift of the Polaris missile. This gift would, this strategist reasoned, convince the men in the Kremlin that Polaris was, in fact, a devastating weapon. Not U.S. claims, but Russian tests would do the convincing.

Other analysts have noted that the Soviet Union became progressively more cautious on all-out war as it developed its own nuclear weapons and witnessed first hand their awesome power.

The question of Minuteman's accuracy and reliability may seem a curious problem in view of our heavy investment, the number of successful firings and other tests. But the Minuteman checkouts to date have been special firings from specially-prepared launchers. Missiles launched from standard silos under operational conditions can be far less accurate and considerably less reliable than when those same weapons are fired in what, for all practical purposes, are scientifically controlled launches.

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . letters

Stay-at-home mothers

Hooray! The working mother has scored again with the Chino Unified School District. Now that we are on daylight savings time, our twelve and thirteen year olds can walk to school or to the bus stops in the dark since they are "responsible enough to exercise caution" at this time of day.

School couldn't possibly start a little later to accommodate these young people because it would "create numerous problems in those homes where both parents work." In the days of double sessions, it was the working mother who had her child transferred to a different session to accommodate her schedule.

The working mother's child is the one who is given priority over other children when class changes are made or when a kindergarten assignment isn't convenient for the working mother.

Grant you, there are mothers whose income is needed for the family budget, but what about the stay-at-home mother who takes care of her children, who attends daytime meetings for the betterment of the schools, who takes the survey for the school district, who donates part of her time in the classroom to help teachers and students and who makes the school day a little happier by helping with parties and who often pays someone to look after her younger children during this time. Isn't she entitled to a little consideration when policies are set? I think so. — Mrs. Don Lamb, Chino.

Mother substitutes?

In reference to your recent article headlined "Day coming when expectant mother sure to have a boy." This is the kind of brainless experiment only a man could love.

If every expectant mother has a boy — having successfully screened out female sex chromosomes — where do the scientists working on this project think the next generation of mothers will come from? Test tubes?

Perhaps they'll find some way for men to reproduce themselves and eliminate the need for women entirely. Which does seem to be their goal. — L.A. Perry, Ontario.

Gossip for today

One sometimes gets to wondering how folks managed to stay alive a hundred or more years ago. Certainly they had few of the life saving advantages which our modern medical science provides. — No wonder drugs — no heart pacemakers — no artificial kidneys — no X-ray machines — no electrocardiographs — no insulins — no cobalt treatments — no polio vaccine — no laser beam surgery — no Medicare. — And that's just for starters.

But after mulling the matter over I have come to the conclusion that maybe the reason for those old timers' longevity was a simple one. THEY DIDN'T HAVE ANYWHERE NEAR THE NUMBER OF THINGS TO KILL THEM THAT WE HAVE TODAY. — No plastic bags to smother in — no aerosol spray fumes to poison them — no mercury in their tuna — no airplane crashes — no toxic motor exhaust gases — no atomic fall-out — no pesticide poisons — no birth controls with lethal side effects — no overdoses of vitamin pills — not even a single mile of freeway. — And furthermore they did have one thing going for them that probably more than offset their lack of the wonder drugs we enjoy today — They had doctors who made house calls.

We don't know real fuel score

Any American who has listened to or read of his country's economic greatness over the years knows that it has always been expressed largely as a blend of "product" resources and energy resources which allowed power to do the work of many men.

It is, therefore, truly incomprehensible that the United States government did not decades ago develop a long-range energy policy which was at once sweeping in scope and sufficiently flexible to permit constant updating.

Admittedly, in some realms of endeavor, planning always has had a bad name in this country. But this attitude has not generally extended to industries. Without reasonable market projections, firms in many fields most certainly could imperil their future.

But a great nation's future energy requirements, involving a very complex meshing of highly varied resources, are a subject which obviously goes far beyond the private preserve of such an enterprise as, say, the oil industry.

The size of the fuel industry should be enough alone to hammer this home to high government authorities.

As M.I.T.'s professor of nuclear engineering, David J. Rose, observed in his new article in "Scientific American," the procuring, refining, distributing and consuming of fuels account directly for nearly a 10th of this country's economic activity — roughly $125 billion a year out of a gross national product close to $1,300 billion.

In dollar terms, that's about equal to the whole of farming, food processing and distribution, activities Rose says we have "long recognized as requiring intellectual organization" and balance — to the point of providing them with their own full-scale department of government.

Everybody concerned with energy decisions is complaining these days that we are virtually 100 per cent dependent upon the oil industry for data on oil production and processing, on the extent of proven reserves and estimates of possible additional reserves (which may or may not be enormous).

Yet the federal government has had endless years to develop its own exploratory agencies in oil and other energy fields, and to adopt legislation giving it authority to compel the oil people and all other energy producers to yield up fully the pertinent data needed for an intelligent, balanced, longrange national energy program.

As an example of the damage done by ignorance, scientist Rose points out that few in either federal or industrial decision-making posts gave proper eye to the scarcity of low-sulphur fuels as the polluting higher-sulphur types came under restriction from tough environmental standards. No one, so far as I know, has accurately gauged the cost to U.S. consumers from the inevitably higher prices of low-sulphur products, or from conversions to use of other resources like gas.

Federal agencies charged with developing fossil fuels other than oil (coal, gas, shales productive of synthetic crude) have been starved for funds. Meantime, notes Rose, the nuclear engineer, "tax funds have been lavished on nuclear reactors."

No opponent of nuclear energy development, he nevertheless offers many complex technical complaints about the way this effort is being financed and advanced. (Indeed, he considers federal energy research funding fragmented and chaotic.)

But at root he is arguing we don't know the real score on our fossil fuel resources and attendant problems, while asserting, convincingly, that they are going to be broadly crucial to our economy for a very, very long time.

ON THE AIR

Walnut Mayor Richard Laughter, right, and station manager Larry Thompson, center, look over some of the equipment at Mt. San Antonio College's new FM radio station on the Walnut campus. Disc jockey Rex Moore, seated, launched the station's first broadcast day Thursday at 10 a.m. Laughter was on hand at the first broadcast to welcome the station to the community.

MSAC has new sound: it's radio station KSAK

WALNUT — Mt. San Antonio College is on the air.

A new student-operated radio station, KSAK, 90.1 FM, began broadcasting to Pomona Valley listeners Thursday morning from the third floor of the Social Science Building. The 10-watt transmitter has a radius of 10 miles.

KSAK has been licensed by the Federal Communications Commission and will broadcast from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on weekdays. The hours and days will be expanded later.

KSAK will offer middle of the road rock, jazz, taped educational progams, sports events and news, according to production supervisor John Wohlf, whose car bears the license plate KSAK-FM.

Others on the staff of the new station are Larry Thompson, station manager; Rowena Duron, music director, and Howard Peth, faculty supervisor.

KSAK plans to build a library of releases offered by music companies and agencies. The young disc jockeys attend a monthly seminar offered in Hollywood by RCA.

"KSAK wants to serve the comnity," Wholf said. "We are open to suggestions from the college and local residents."

Diamond Bar homeowners will meet

DIAMOND BAR — The Diamond Bar Homeowners Association will hold a general membership meeting Jan. 22 at 7:30 p.m. at the Diamond Bar Country Club.

Dick Vind, president of the Walnut Valley school board, will speak on the upcoming $5 million school bond election.

Also to be discussed will be a letter from Pomona Mayor Ray Lepire. In his letter Lepire told the homeowners he would like to discuss their plans to study the possibility of incorporation or possibly annexation.

"I have met with some of the homeowners before," said Lepire, "and they are trying to decide which way to go. My role, if they wanted it, would be to supply information. I'll help in the spirit of cooperation to supply information."

The idea of annexation to Pomona is a new one to come before the homeowners, and was brought up by Lepire.

Association President Frank Skrah said he would like all members to attend the meeting and voice their views on the matter of annexation and on the school bond election.

Association directors held their first 1974 meeting Tuesday night.

In keeping with new board policy, secretary Leonard Leger said a newsletter will be mailed out to the membership starting in February on a quarterly basis.

In addition, he said membership will be notified of meetings by telephone.

Skrah and Clint Park, chairman of the association's transportation committee, attended a meeting of the Pomona Valley Juvenile Diversion Project in Pomona Thursday.

Skrah reported that all rumors to the contrary, the Southern California Rapid Transit District study to provide a line between North Diamond Bar and Pomona still is very much alive.

At the Jan. 22 meeting, the agenda will include committee reports, a Municipal Advisory Council application status report, an airport report and a report on the Juvenile Diversion meeting, Skrah said.

Community resources aide chosen for Walnut district

WALNUT — William T. Lucas of 20648 Seton Hill Drive has been named school community resource and public relations assistant by the Walnut school board.

Lucas will serve in the dual capacity of coordinating the district's public information program and acting as a liaison between the schools and their volunteer workers.

The new assistant holds a bachelor's and master's degree in journalism from Cal State Los Angeles and UCLA. Before accepting the newly created part-time position in Walnut, Lucas taught for seven years at community colleges, including Mt. San Antonio, Cerritos and San Bernardino Valley colleges. He also has had public relations experience with the Los Angeles City Schools, youth services section.

According to Superintendent David L. Brown, the Walnut district's selection of Lucas was made after an employment process in which candidates completed a written, competitive examination in order to qualify for an oral interview. Scores from the test and interviews were added to arrive at a ranking of candidates. The top three qualifiers were given a final interview before Lucas' appointment.

MSAC to have seminar for volunteer tax helpers

WALNUT — Sessions of the Voluntary Income Tax Assistance (VITA) seminar will be offered at Mt. San Antonio College this Saturday and Jan. 19 from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in Room 103 of the Technology Center.

This is the fifth year the college has sponsored the seminar. The primary purpose is to train area residents who will then assist elderly people, the physically or linguistically handicapped and low income families fill out their tax forms.

IRS specialists James Donahoo, Robert Tadlock and Richard Norton will conduct the classes. All are volunteering their time for the third year. All necessary seminary materials will be provided by the IRS. The seminars will use the current federal tax form as a text, and lectures will go through the forms item-by-item to explain proper procedures.

VITA students are expected to volunteer their services. All such assistance to other area residents is given free of charge. VITA assistants will be available in both MSAC Educational Service Centers, in La Puente and Pomona, and in community buildings, libraries and churches throughout the district.

Dog obedience class to start

WALNUT — The Hacienda Dog Obedience Club will be offering a dog training and obedience course beginning Tuesday.

Fees for adults will be $20 for a 10-week course and $10 for juniors under 15 for an eight-week course.

All breeds of dogs over six months of age are eligible for the course.

Measles in sharp dip in California

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The number of reported measles cases declined sharply last year in California as a result of state efforts to promote immunization, according to the Department of Health.

Statewide figures on infections disease totals for 1973, made public Tuesday by the department, showed that 848 persons were treated for common measles during the year, compared to 3,329 in 1972.

It was the most dramatic change of the year among diseases which require reporting by health authorities.

Rubella, the form of measles which can cause birth defects and death to unborn infants, dropped from 5,087 reported cases in 1972 to 2,538 last year.

"We're now bearing the fruits of immunization," said Dr. James Chin, head of the state's infectious disease unit.

Other disease totals released by the department showed "significant" increases in reported syphilis cases and a doubling of serum hepatitis. Syphilis rose from 12,366 cases in 1972 to 13,525 cases last year. Hepatitis struck nearly 3,000 persons in 1973, compared to about 1,700 the previous year.

Chin said his staff was trying to determine exactly what caused the increase in syphilis. He said he suspected it might be due to intensified efforts at early detection.

Gonorrhea remained "nearly stable" during the period, Chin said, with 95,785 cases reported last year and 99,584 cases treated in 1972. The difference, Chin added, "doesn't amount to a hill of beans."

Additional disease totals: Whooping Cough, 199 cases last year, up from 180 in 1972; Mumps 5,920 cases' down from 7,342; Valley Fever, 415 cases, the same as 1972; Salmonellosis, 2,242 cases, up from 2,097, and tuberculosis, 3,696 cases, down from 3,816.

A-bomb developer writes P-B article

Dr. Philip Morrison, whose lecture on "Science: Hero, Villain or Scapegoat?" will be published in the P-B Sunday as part of Courses by Newspaper, was a member of the Manhattan Project team which developed the first atomic bomb.

Now a professor of physics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Dr. Morrison rode in the back seat of an automobile with the plutonium core from Los Alamos to the New Mexico desert site for the first test of the A-bomb in 1945.

Author of scientific and popular-scientific articles published in The New Yorker, Nation, The New Republic, the Saturday Evening Post, Science, Newsweek and Scientific American, Dr. Morrison also is co-author of the physics test, "Introductory Nuclear Theory," and author of "Fabric of the Atom."

Associated with the Physical Science Study Committee (forerunner of Education Development Center, Inc.), Dr. Morrison is co-author of its secondary school text, "Physics." He also is co-editor of "Charles Babbage and his Calculating Engines," a collection of writings by Babbage and others. In 1960 Dr. Morrison received the AAAS-Westinghouse Science Writing Prize.

In recent years he has been giving much of his attention to puzzles posted by cosmic Xrays, supernovae and quasars.

He was one of the first scientists to predict that knowledge as to whether life exists on other planets may not be beyond man's reach.

In 1964 Dr. Morrison joined the physics faculty at Cornell University, where he remained until he went to M.I.T. He has lectured in Japan, India and Britain.

U.S. position on Cuba still 'unchanged'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — State Department spokesman George Vest said Tuesday the United States has heard nothing that would cause it to change its policy against recognition of Cuba.

Vest was asked to comment on a statement by the Cuban ambassador to Mexico, Fernando Lopez Muino, who said that "the lifting of U.S. economic blockade against Cuba" was his country's "only condition for the resumption of relations." The U.S. spokesman said the American position remained as stated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger Dec. 27.

At that time, Kissinger said U.S. refusal to resume normal relations was due to hostility toward the United States and its continued commitment to a revolutionary policy throughout the Western Hemisphere.

Vest described Lopez' statement as a press report that "came to us out of the blue from Mexico City." He said the State Department hears various reports from time to time concerning Cuba and "we evaluate everything, weigh everything."

Jury requests salary limit for welfarers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A county grand jury survey on the salaries of welfare recipients showed recently that county aid goes to nearly four dozen persons who earn $900 a month while one person receives as much as $1,200 monthly.

The grand jury committee which prepared the report said a ceiling should be put on how much a person can earn and still receive welfare.

Samuel Sherwin, chairman of the grand jury committee reviewing the county welfare department, said a salary ceiling should be established "to correct the inequities in the system."

IRS sends a billet due

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

The mail at Christmas time is so exciting, isn't it? The property tax bill from Howard Ostly, the California income tax installment tab, the city trash collection bill, the note from the bank that you are overdrawn and would you please step in and see our Mr. Davidson.

And now comes a 28-page document in red, white and blue from Donald C. Alexander, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, the thickest and gaudest please-remit of the Yuletide season. All he wants is anything you have left, plus a pint of blood. ("I'm sorry," I said to the cab driver after a long ride, "I have no money. You can't get blood from a turnip, ha ha." "You ain't no turnip," he said, taking off his coat.)

All right, Mr. Alexander (may I call you Don?), let's see. "Figure your tax if you decided to take the standard deduction and you DID NOT check the block between lines 15 and 16 (if you checked the block, follow instructions on Page 7, or skip to Step. 14, Tax Rates Schedule X, Y or Z)" Skip to Step 14? I'd never make it with my back. "Persons with income from sources outside U. S. possessions, skip line 16, if under $5,000, or step 23, if over 65 or partially blind or near-sighted. Stop—Don't Go. If married, back up two spaces and lose next turn." No wonder my kids always beat me at Monopoly.

While the general tone of Don's document is friendly, courteous and cheerful, there is an unnerving reiteration of the word "Penalty" that fascinates me as a cobra does a small bird. I'm as honest as the next man (who happens to be doing two-to-five up at Q), but this constant harping on what's going to happen if I try to hold back anything has me uneasy.

"Penalty for not paying enough tax during the year," rumbles Form 1040. "Add lines 58, 59, 60 and 63. Subtract this total from line 20 and call the difference total A. Add lines 63, 21c (unless extension is filed) and 64. Subtract this total from line 22 and call the difference total B." (I call it a total loss.) "If total B is less than 80 per cent of total A (or 66 per cent if you are a farmer or a fisherman) you may owe a penalty unless you meet one or more of the exemptions in Form 2210."

Well look, Don, baby, I did some fishing last year—little deep sea stuff, not much luck, a few albacore—and some trout fishing up to Mammoth—you like the Royal Coachman?—and you can put me down as a fisherman, if it's cheaper than farmer. Maybe I could see my way to guiding you to a couple of good fishing spots no one else knows about, eh? I wouldn't want to do anything, you know, dishonest—not the American way at all, is it? —but surely no one could construe a friendly fishing trip by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and an indigent taxpayer as. .. could they?

Well, on with old 1040. Sounds like a football play, doesn't it, ha, ha? You watch the Rams, Don?

Since I'm filing a joint return, I think I'll go down to some joint and do my homework over J-B rocks. And I may not return.

The doctor comments

Two pounds in week enough weight loss

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have been on a diet for almost three weeks now. I have only lost two pounds. I weigh 128 right now. I feel that I am starving myself. I eat approximately 1,300 calories a day and exercise everyday. I'm 25 years old and very active. I've got a huge stomach and roll around my waist and big thighs.

Is dieting more effective than exercise? Am I still consuming too many calories? What would you suggest? Also, I love dry toasted sunflower seeds. Are they really good for you and do they contain a lot of calories?

DEAR READER—You didn't say how tall you are, so it is more difficult for me to judge just how overweight you might be. You are, though, a typical example of people who run the risk of really damaging their health by the type of diet program they pursue.

Young, active people on 1,600 calories a day lose weight, but also have serious health problems develop, including loss of muscles, hair, sex drive and ability and personality changes. I can't speak out too strongly about the ill-advised practice of overly-restricted diets. You have some protection if you have excess fat since the calories will be used in the process, but you and everyone else should be careful about overdoing the diet bit.

You also represesent a common problem in weight reduction, the failure to lose weight at the beginning of the program. It is not unusual for the fat to be used, and the water that is formed in converting the fat to energy be retained in the body. As a result, it may be three weeks before any real change appears on the scales.

Then there is a sudden elimination of lots of water with a significant weight loss. Another period may fellow when there is no apparent weight loss, then another sudden drop. People often lose weight like this, with plateau periods of no weight loss for several weeks. When they don't understand this, they get discouraged and stop the diet or cut down even further on carlories.

I am convinced that no one should be on a diet for more than a week that has less than 1,500 calories without being under a physician's care. You can do too much damage to yourself with the do-it-yourself programs.

The other point is to be content with a slow loss. More than two pounds a week is too much too fast after the initial decrease from elimination of retained food residue and loss of water. If you insist on being on such a restricted diet, you can expect problems, including loss of energy and perhaps even your health.

Exercise is a wonderful way to lose weight. I would prefer that you have a better diet and exercise more each day and that exercise should include as much walking as you can get into your program.

I'm skeptical about how many calories you are eating. Sunfower seeds are a good source of polyunsaturated fat. They are very high in calories as are all nuts, and I would not recommend them for anyone on a calorie restricted reducing diet.

Send you questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of the Progress-Bulletin, P. O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N. Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on losing weight, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Losing Weight" booklet.

Mass slayer's death sentence changed to life

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The state Court of Appeal upheld the conviction of mass murderer John L. Frazier on Wednesday but changed his death sentence to life in prison.

Frazier, 26, was convicted in Santa Cruz County Superior Court in 1972 of killing five persons at a mountain top mansion.

He contended unsuccessfully that his judge committed seven errors.

Jurors convicted him of murdering Dr. Victor Ohta, 47, an ophthalmologist; the doctor's wife, Virginia, 41; their sons, Taggart, 11, and Derek, 12; and the doctor's secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Cadwaller, 38.

Frazier had said he was trying to protect the environment from polluters.

Dream a little first

Remodeling kitchen is worthwhile

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — The experts will tell you kitchen remodeling is the most worthwhile of all home improvement projects. Rare is the woman who would not agree with them.

The full-time homemaker may spend almost as much time in her kitchen as her husband spends on his job. It has been estimated she walks 120 miles a year just in the preparation of two meals — breakfast and dinner!

Dull, drab surroundings, inadequate work space or storage, inefficient appliances, poor lighting, awkward layout make every minute in the kitchen a chore. It's wearying and nerve-wracking for the woman who spends her days at home; even worse for the one who juggles an outside job along with her domestic tasks.

A well planned, attractive kitchen, on the other hand, while it isnt guaranteed to make a better cook, a better wife or a better mother, will save time and energy and make time spent in the kitchen more productive and enjoyable. And it is one home remodeling project that can be counted on to return the money spent even if the house is to be resold.

Klaus Paradies, long-time kitchen designer, founder of the American Institute of Kitchen Dealers and now a management consultant, in his new "Kitchen Book' says some kitchens can be improved for under $100. Even a $2 investment in a "deluxe warm white' bulb for your fluorescent kitchen fixture, if you've been using daylight or cool white, can do wonders. The bluish tone of the cool light, he explains, drains the red tones from cabinets, wall coverings and curtains, even the occupants skin. The warm light, however, brings out the rich, warm hues of natural wood and the orange, red and yellow tones in decorative fabrics and accessories are emphasized. Everything — even the cook — looks more cheerful. With regular incandescent lighting, switching to higher wattage would have the same effect, he said.

Paradies says more than 2.5 million families will spend an average $2,200 this year to modernize their kitchens and his 400-page book is an expert guide on "how to get exactly the kitchen you want and can afford." Living up to its billing, The Kitchen Book is an instruction manual, an encyclopedia, a source directory, a financial adviser and a do-it-yourself guide.

Whether you're a do-it-yourselfer or want to hand over all or part of the job to a professional, Paradies says, you must — before you do anything else — define your needs.

"Only you can make a good analysis of what role the kitchen plays (or the role you would like it to play) in the life of your family.' He suggests, as a beginning, you run down the following questions:

— Do you enjoy spending time in the kitchen? Do you envision it as a kind of famly gathering place? Do you like the idea of using it as a place where the children can do their homework? Where you and the neighbors can chat over coffee?

— Will it also be a laundry center, with space set aside for washing machine, dryer, ironing board? Would you like a corner for sewing, plus storage for sewing equipment? Should you have a desk for telephoning, making out shopping lists, and writing letters?

Will most of your meals be taken in the kitchen? Or only breakfast and snacks? Or do you prefer a streamlined, ultra-efficient kitchen — a kind of laboratory to be used exclusively for meal preparation?

Some day-dreaming and a lot of list-making are in the recipe for kitchen planning, according to Paradies.

He recommends: "Dream a little bit. Just for a little while, don't consider costs at all. Dont make any decisions about what's possible and whats not; they may be premature. Dont' be concerned about whether a sink can be moved, a wall broken through, a door closed off. You're not at the floor plan stage yet. You're simply trying to decide how things can be made simpler, more convenient, less time-consuming."

Ask yourself, for example, whether a double sink would be better than the present single bowl? Would the refrigerator be more convenient on the right wall or the left? Do you, or would you, use an oven enough so that double ovens would be useful. Think about details like storage of everything you use in the kitchen, cutlery, pots and pans, dishes, food supplies, cleaning supplies, towel rack, cutting board, even the garbage can.

Most important, Paradies says, "Keep a list of all these ideas. Have a sheet of paper and pencil handy and jot down anything that comes to mind when it comes to mind. Dont' give yourself a chance to forget!

"When youve accumulated a goodly number of thoughts thoughts . . . get a big manila folder . . '

Into this folder go all your thoughts, plus a "shopping list." Prepare it as you would a grocery list, Paradies suggests. Make a two-column list. In one itemize the things you feel you really need; in the other the nice-to-have things — items you can do without, at least in the immediate future. Just get it all down on paper. What's wanted is a complete overview. Priorities can be established later.

All the while you're making up these lists, Paradies recommends, you can be digging for fresh facts and searching out new ideas. Study the magazines which deal with house and home. Clip ideas you like — a method for storage; a decorative idea; equipment you'd like to investigate.

Don't overlook as sources friends, neighbors, relatives, especially those who've remodeled. Ask specific questions. Try to find out why things were done as they were, whether they work well. Ask, tactfully, why a new refrigerator or stove is liked, what advantages a new flooring material has. Weigh the information you get against what you know about the people you get it from and then evaluate it against your own tastes, needs and pocketbooks.

Next on the agenda is shopping, or rather shopping around, looking at actual products, still gathering information, still finding out what's available, what may be right for you.

Make own leather clothing, accessories

By STEVE ELLINGSON

There's no question about it, leather's the rage these days. And if you can sew fabric, you can sew leather. Every project offered is a contemporary design, the "new look".

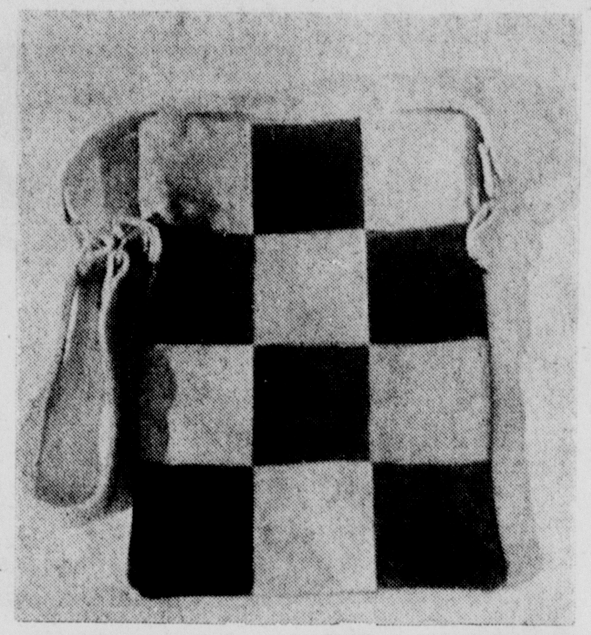

You can't help admire the appearance and feel of real leather. Cowhide and calf are the most often used leathers. However, many others are popular, such as sheepskin, lambskin, buckskin and pigskin.

Our instruction sheet gives you a complete step-by-step guide to creating such leather lovelies as a fringed vest or shoulder bag, a checkerboard vest and purse (made with scrap pieces), skirts and the more classic-style leather purses.

There are also detailed guides for making leather bracelets, watch bands, belts and candle or plant hangers. Over 100 pictures and drawings to follow, including some full-size patterns. We'll tell you how to cut, sew, stamp, tool, braid, color and finish all these beautiful and practical projects.

To obtain our "Leather — The New Look" Pattern number 531, send $1.50 by cash, check or money order to:

City, club team up for 'community gardens'

POMONA — With some generous help from the city, a "community garden" will be planted at Philadelphia Park under the direction of the Pomona Valley Organic Garden Club.

At its meeting last Tuesday, the group began plans for the garden, which will hold about 120 plots available to club members and non-members alike. Plot reservations are available on a first-come, first-served basis.

According to the PVOGH newsletter, the 1.4-acre plot was set aside through the city Parks and Recreation Department. That agency is installing a fence and gate around the parcel and putting in a pipeline with hose bibs. The city will furnish water.

A "nominal" fee will be charged to cover overhead expenses, the club reports. For information, contact club chairman Ray Hutton, in care of the Pomona Valley Organic Garden Club, 372 W. Franklin Ave., Pomona 91766.

"This is an act of faith on the part of the city," Hutton wrote. "With some good planning, skillful management and a lot of hard work we can make this piece of bare ground into a real garden.

"At today's and tomorrow's prices the farmers' costs are going out of sight. There is only one way the farmer can pass on these increased costs to the consumer, in the form of 25-cent potatoes. There is only one way for the thoughtful consumer to go — grow his own."

In the same newsletter, the club gives a "frost gate" chart for the valley. Harold F. Benson, using data supplied by Jan Christopherson of the National Weather Service in Riverside, listed a seasonal frost average showing when the first and last frost of the year were likely to occur.

Rose pruning is big seasonal challenge

The big challenge for the amateur rose grower, at this time of year, is how to make the most of the rose's potential with proper pruning.

Experts agree that a weak bush should be pruned severely. This practice forces new shoots from the base of the plant which probably will be more sturdy.

With the development of stronger hybrid rose varieties rose growers recommend that the length of cane left be determined according to the strength of the variety being pruned. Some, with a natural upright growth habit and strong canes can be left with canes up to two feet, others cut back to 15 inches.

One other consideration in determining the amount of pruning is the type of rose. Climbing roses are only thinned, whereas most other roses are cut to five and six canes of uniform length.

Pruning experts agree it is best to discourage center growth. Keeping an open center by eliminating shoots coming out from the middle of the plant insures that the remaining canes will have plenty of light and air. The pruner must select the place at which he makes the cuts very carefully. Each cut should be made one-quarter-inch above a bud which faces away from the shrub's center.

The home gardener should note the bearing limit of the canes in each bush and be prepared to select younger canes to take over when the older canes reach their limit.

According to the California Association of Nurserymen, in the mild areas of California, rose pruning may begin in mid-January.

Don't ignore enduring perennials

There's a special beauty about perennial bedding plants, often ignored by California gardeners who choose popular annuals due to our year around growing conditions. We can get year around use from annuals, while perennials are seasonal and prefer their winter rest.

Perennials, with proper use, are a challenge making gardening all the more enjoyable. They have the added advantage of permanence — or relative permanence — and need only be cut back after bloom or left to come again, another year.

No California garden should be without Shasta daisies, delphinium, primroses, penstemon or transvaal daisies. And no gardener has really earned the label until he's tried many other lovely perennials such as phlox, columbine, sweet William, pinks or bleeding heart.

The challenge in their growing lies in putting them to the proper use. Perennials, depending on the variety, can be fit into foregrounds or backgrounds; spotted in the border or squeezed into pocket-size beds; spilled over a retaining wall or hung in pots; featured in beds of their own or side by side with annuals. And they can be used as an edging or as a rock garden specialty.

In planting perennials, the California Association of Nurserymen reminds you that they are not uprooted after bloom as are annuals. Take a little extra time to work the soil deeply and thoroughly, adding soil conditioner to a depth of 12 inches and of an amount that will accommodate the planting until they are ready for division — usually at least three years — or in the case of perennials that do not divide, for even longer.

Gardener's Checklist

1. Shade trees should be planted now, not later when you think of their shade. Bareroot stock is easier to handle and will make a fast start in the spring if their roots become established now in the winter rains.

2. You can get some good buys in spring-blooming bulbs now. Put them in immediately for a good show of bloom this spring. Tulips, hyacinths and daffodils are the big ones.

3. Don't prune roses until buds begin to swell. In most areas this will not be until later in the month or early next spring.

4. Cut back that ivy that has grown out of bounds. You can shear it severely with hedge clippers.

5. Clean up any leaves that were overlooked last month. Use a dormant spray to get garden pests before their eggs or larvae develop.

Negative play positive slam

By Oswald & James Jacoby

After a negative double a jump bid is strength showing, but not forcing. If either partner wants to force to game he does so by cue bidding the emeny suit. This cue bid does not indicate any specific holding; it merely forces to game.

	NORTH 11 ♠ A Q 10 9 ♥ 7 4 ♦ A K 8 6 5 4 ♣ 2
WEST ♠ 5 ♥ A Q J 8 5 2 ♦ 7 3 ♣ J 10 9 4		EAST ♠ 8 4 3 2 ♥ 10 9 6 ♦ Q J 9 2 ♣ Q 6
	SOUTH (D) ♠ K J 8 7 ♥ K 3 ♦ 10 ♣ A K 8 7 5 3

Both vulnerable

West	North	East	South
			1♣
1♥	Double	Pass	1♠
3 Pass	2♥	Pass	3♣
Pass	3♦	Pass	3N.T.
Pass	4♠	Pass	6♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—J♣

The negative double by North made it easy for South to become declarer in spades. There was no slam anywhere else. With North as declarer the defense would grab the first two heart tricks.

Careful play was required to bring the slam home, but South was equal to the task. He won the club lead; ruffed a club with dummy's ace of trumps. Led the nine to his jack; ruffed another club with the queen; drew trumps; ran the rest of the clubs and dummy's ace-king of diamonds and conceded the last trick.

The bidding is worthy of more comment. After North's cue bud South bid three clubs to show the long suit. North bid three diamonds and South went to three no-trump. He didn't know about the spades at that time. Then, when North bid four spades South knew his partner had been heading for that spot all the time and South just bid the slam.

Be careful, keep friend

By JEAN ADAMS

TRIANGLE: (Q.) My best friend and I are very close and wouldn't do anything to hurt each other. But I have fallen in love with the guy she likes.

He has been trying to be with me but I haven't been with him.

I don't think he likes her, but it would hurt so badly if I were with him and she found out. So tell me what I should do. — In Love in Alabama.

(A.) Some of your statements are not clear. I gather that your girl friend admires this boy, may even have a crush on him, but has never had a date or other more-than-just-friends relationship with him.

If that is the case, and if he asks you for a date and you want a date with him, then you are free to go ahead.

If, on the other hand, she is dating him on occasion or steadily, then you should be careful.

ONE TIMER: (Q.) I met Tim at a party and we had a lot of fun. He stayed with me the whole time and even kissed me good-by. I haven't forgotten about him. But now every time I see him (which isn't very often), he barely seems to know I'm there. What can I do? — Puzzled in Pennsylvania.

(A.) Very little except to be friendly with him when you see him.

Some boys are not ready for regular friendships with girls but will be friendly when they are thrown together with a responsive girl. Some boys like girls in general but, either consciously or unconsciously, are hunting THE girl who is right. Some boys like to "play the field." Some boys prefer one girl but are friendly to others at times.

The boy you like probably fits into one of these categories.

Warfield's health affects Super Bowl

Dolphin star pulls muscle

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Miami Dolphins without Paul Warfield are like bread without butter or bacon without eggs.

"He's their big play man," Minnesota Vikings' coach Bud Grant said Thursday, "it would make a big difference if he wasn't in there."

With Super Bowl VIII less than two days away, the Miami Dolphins today face the unhappy prospect of going into their biggest game of the season without Warfield.

The gifted wide receiver suffered a pulled hamstring muscle in his right leg Wednesday and the Dolphins wouldn't really speculate on his chances of playing Sunday.

Coach Don Shula, who has been tossing quips all week while Grant has been doing the complaining, let a bit of irritation show in his voice for the first time this week when newsmen pressed him on the chances that Warfield would be ready.

"I'm not holding anything back," he snapped. "I wish I could tell you more. But it's a wait and see situation.

Warfield could do nothing more Thursday than walk around the Houston Oilers' practice field in a sweatsuit as the rest of the players took part in the drill. Shula said it was unlikely he would do any running before the pregame drills Sunday when a decision will be made on whether he can go.

Since he was walking without a bad limp, the chances are that Warfield will try to play. After all, the Dolphins have two players in uniform (Bob Kuechenberg and Jim Mandich) who have casts on their arms and steel pins in them and three more (Nick Buoniconti, Jake Scott and Tim Foley) who have steel pins or screws in their hand or shoulder.

"Our big worry is a lightning storm," Scott quips.

But the key question is how long Warfield can go if he does try to play and how effective he will be.

The Dolphins don't pass that much (Warfield has caught only 29 passes although 11 have been for touchdowns) but the coverage Warfield gets helps to open things up for the running game.

Grant said, "Miami doesn't usually have too many third-and-long plays so his absence might not hurt them as much as it would another team but he's obviously a key player."

The man who'll replace Warfield if he can't start is Howard Twilley, who started last year's Super Bowl but was injured during the exhibition season and lost his job to Marlin Briscoe. Twilley is noted for his good moves and blocking ability but lacks Warfield's speed and ability to go deep.

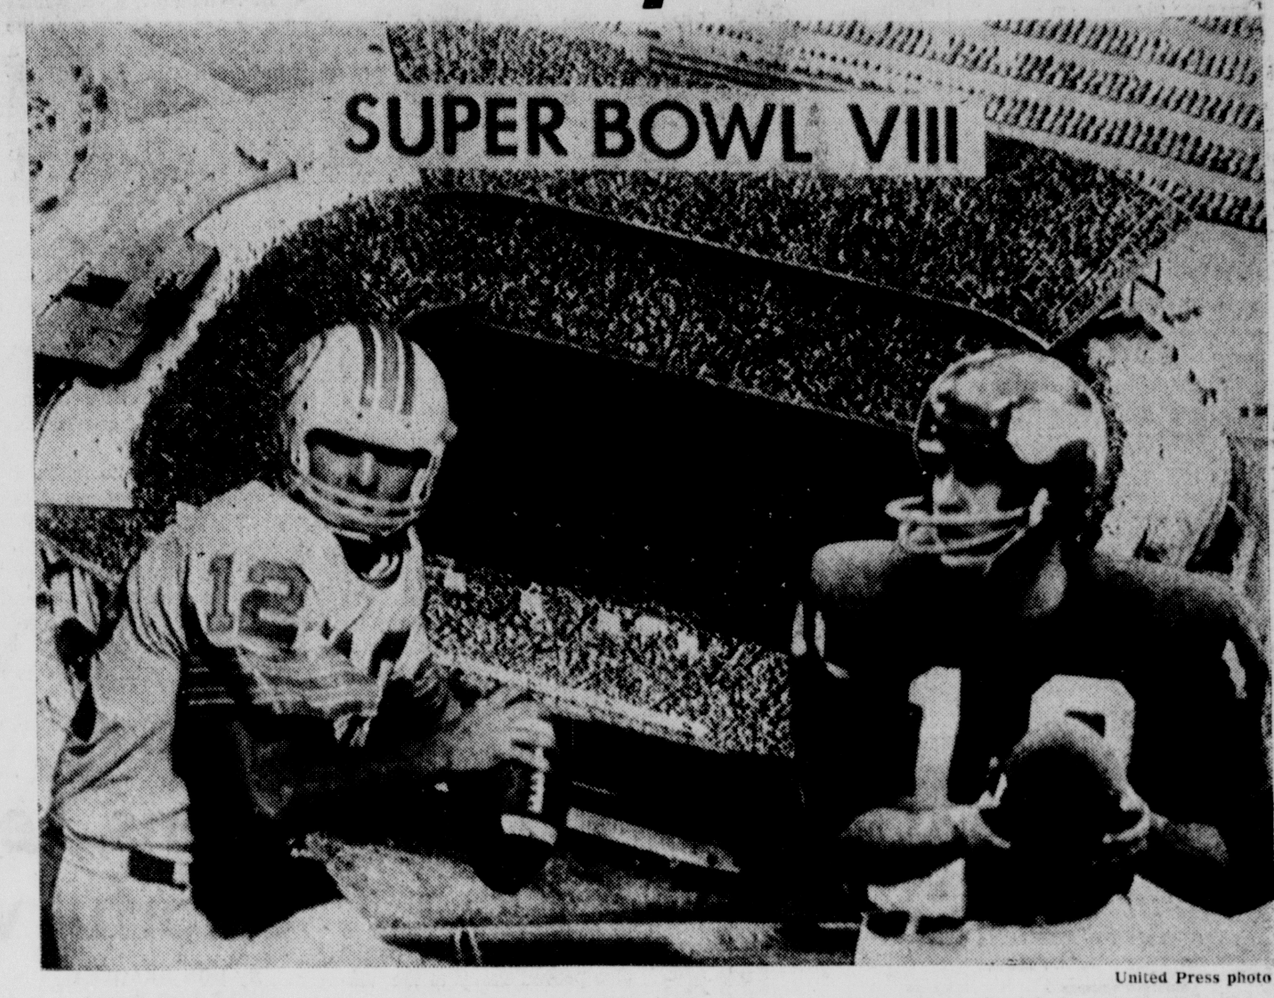

He's been backing up Briscoe on the right side but will flop over to the left side to replace Warfield. "It doesn't make any difference," he said, "I'm just as slow on the left side as I am on the right side."

Twilley added, "you can't replace a guy like Warfield no matter who you put in his spot. He's the premier wide receiver in football."

Warfield said he had a similar injury 10 years ago when he was a rookie at Cleveland. He got it in a regular season game and was able to play the following week. But that was so long ago, he says it's difficult for him to compare.

"There was a definite twinge. For a pass receiver, any problem with your legs is worrisome. But I'm hopeful. There's some soreness in the area but it's not severely sore."

Warfield suffered the injury going through a normal passing drill without any contact. He just left the line of scrimmage and felt the twinge.

SAL cage race close as expected

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

The San Antonio League sure didn't disappoint its fans earlier this week when the eight teams opened up circuit play.

In fact, even the teams which were considered out of the running for the title put up a good showing and have made the league look even more interesting than predicted.

Tonight's action shouldn't let anybody down either.

When the league opened its 1974 campaign Tuesday, two games were decided in overtimes, one was decided by only eight points and the fourth was a little closer than expected.

But when the day came to an end, Claremont, Chino, Ganesha and Garey had walked away with victories.

After tonight only three (at the most) will remain unbeaten in league play.

Chino, sporting a 10-1 record after defeating Upland by a 58-50 margin Tuesday, goes up against Ganesha, a 64-59 overtime winner over Montclair Tuesday. The two clubs, both ranked in this week's CIF 3-A ratings, should put together one of the better contests of the year.

The game spotlights Chino forward Tim Smith against Ganesha's Cleve Porter and Broderick Hunter. Both teams are tall and quick and possess some great outside threats.

Smith, Chino's leading scorer with a 17-point average for the season, stands at 6-foot-7 and will be backed up by 6-foot-7 center Dirk Story and 6-foot-5 forward Mark Milton. The Cowboy guards are Bob Hairston (6-3) and Manny Delgado (5-7).

Ganesha, claiming a 10-3 record on the season, has two awesome tall men in Porter and Hunter. Porter, an All-CIF third-team selection last year, is averaging 21.4 points per game—fourth best in the valley.

Hunter, who at times outplays his 6-foot-5 teammate, is dumping in an average of 18.6 points per outing—eighth best in the valley. He stands at 6-foot-4 and weighs a hefty 195 pounds.

The other Giant starters include forward Gary George (6-3) and guards Earl Wilson (5-9) and Donald Barnes (5-10).

Other SAL games tonight which should be just as interesting pit Damien against Claremont in the Wolfpack gym, Montclair against Garey at the Viking hardcourts and Upland against Pomona on the Red Devils' grounds. All games are scheduled for 8 p.m. starts with the junior varsities playing at 6:30 p.m.

Three of the SAL teams were rated this week in the CIF 3-A rankings. Claremont, with a 13-1 record, was rated third, Chino was ranked sixth and Ganesha eighth. Only the Ocean League, which includes the likes of Morningside, Inglewood and Redondo, have three teams rated in the top 10.

Claremont is small in size, but somehow the Wolfpack puts it all together each game and comes out on top. The Wolves' only loss came against Ganesha (89-63) in the Upland-Montclair Tournament. But since then the 'Pack has piled up 12 consecutive victories and collected two tournament titles.

Damien should give the Wolfpack a tough time if it plays like it did against Garey. The Spartans gave the Vikings a good game last Tuesday before bowing to the defending league champions in two overtimes, 82-80.

Damien is small like Claremont and probably even smaller.

Claremont center Bruce Abraham, the teams leading scorer with a 16-point average, will be the tallest player on the court tonight. The 6-foot-4 transfer is averaging 10.5 rebounds per game and can completely dominate a player two inches taller than him.

Other Wolfpack starter include forwards Reggie Goldsmith (6-foot-1) and John Douglass (6-foot-2) and guards Todd Ervin and Rip Sears. Ervin is leading the team in assists, averaging seven per game.

Damien's tallest man is forward Cornell Kasbergen at 6-foot-3, while the others only stand as tall as 6-2 (forward Larry Pekarcik), 6-1 (center John Pignotti), 5-9 (guard Brian Krueger) and 5-5 (guard Bill Karr). That's small!

And wouldn't you know it, Karr is the leading scorer on the club with a 14.3 average, followed closely behind by Pignotti's 14-point average.

If sophomore Gary Carpenter continues to play the rest of the San Antonio League games like he did against Damien, Garey is going to be tough to beat. The 6-foot-4 Viking forward dumped in 30 points against the Spartans and should be interesting to watch against Montclair tonight. Carpenter is averaging 16.3 points on the season but teammates Billy Evans and Delbert McDonald top that. Evans is presently the seventh-leading scorer in the valley with a 19.1 average and McDonald is 10th with a 16.9 average. Carpenter is 11th in the valley.

The player to watch on the Montclair team is 6-foot-6 center Mark Gosswiller, who is averaging 19.9 points per game—fifth best in the valley.

The loser of the Pomona-Upland confrontation tonight will have a long way to go if it hopes to win the league championship. Both teams lost Tuesday and another loss could really dim their chance of a title this year.

Red Devil center Mike Yarborough (6-foot-5) leads his team in scoring with a 13.6 average, while Upland forward Curt Oldenkamp (19.4) and center Stu DuVall (15.7) are among the top 15 scorers in the valley.

Long Beach still awesome

Bill Walton will miss UCLA's weekend games

By United Press International

Long Beach State's basketball team showed it's still awesome without two of its stars and tonight UCLA will test it's own strength without Bill Walton against California.

Long Beach Thursday night played its first game since being put on indefinite probation by the NCAA for recruiting violations. Two starters were declared ineligible and the team was barred from postseason playoffs.

The 49ers nevertheless rolled over Pacific 72-53 with a 65 per cent shooting performance. Massive Leonard Gray was sensational with 13 of his 14 shots going through the bucket and Clifton Pondexter, the freshman sensation whose big brother was one of the players banished, dominated the boards with 14 rebounds.

Long Beach is now 11-1 while it was only Pacific's second loss in 10 starts.

In other Pacific Coast Athletic Association openers, a San Jose State team that keeps surprising even its most diehard fans got 48 points from backcourters Pete Miller and Ken Mickey and thumped San Diego State 81-69. Bobby Taylor's layup with 30 seconds to play gave Los Angeles State the 70-69 nod over UC Santa Barbara.

Meanwhile, the surprise word from Los Angeles is that Bill Walton won't start when toprated UCLA hosts Cal tonight and Stanford Saturday afternoon. It will be 7-1 soph Ralph Drollinger in the pivot while Walton, who took a hard tumble last Monday at Washington State, rests his aching back. Walton has appeared in 70 straight varsity games. Nobody is betting against the Bruins anyway, especially in view of Drollinger's fine work in relief of Walton in the crucial minutes against North Carolina State.

In other Pac-8 action, Stanford is at USC tonight while Washington State calls on an Oregon team that is 2-0 in league play and Washington is at Oregon State.

The West Coast Athletic Conference also gets going with San Francisco at Pepperdine, Santa Clara at Loyola, Nevada Las Vegas at St. Mary's and Nevada Reno at Seattle.

Pepperdine, which has shown little so far, could be a real contender in that WCAC race along with favorities Nevada Las Vegas and USF. The waves announced that Brazil Olympic star Marcos Leite, a 6-10 pivot man, has joined the team and is expected to play this week. He averaged 23.2 points at the Munich Olympics.

In one more game Thursday, small college power U.C. Irvine thumped Quinnipiac 96-74 to run its record to 8-3. Irvine hit 61 per cent of its shots as Scott Magnuson scored 28 points and grabbed 11 rebounds.

Poly opens CCAA play

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

SAN LUIS OBISPO — The California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) is known for its tight, exciting basketball races.

Nobody ever dominates it. There is no UCLA or Long Beach State in the CCAA.

Two years ago, three teams tied for the championship. Last year, UC Riverside and Cal State Bakersfield shared the crown.

Pomona's Cal Poly opens CCAA play the roughest way possible in taking its annual northern swing. After tackling brother Cal Poly San Luis Obispo here tonight, the Broncos complete the weekend by visiting Cal State Bakersfield Saturday night.

It's a rough way to start but Poly coach Don Hogan just as soon have it this way.

"Sure it's tough," Hogan admits, "but we must make this swing every year. I just as soon get it over with now. If we are in the running for the title at the end of the season, I would much rather play these two teams at home then."

With a 5-7 season record to rate as the CCAA's only losing team, Poly certainly enters the chase as a longshot entry but Hogan feels the Broncos may be able to surprise some people.

"I think every team in the CCAA has a chance at the title," Poly's rookie coach stated. "We must improve our rebounding if we are to figure in the championship race and we must cut down on our turnovers."

Newcomers David Kennedy (6-0) and Paul Newton (6-4) will be in Poly's starting lineup tonight with Lee Roy Williams (6-9), Horace Aubrey (6-0) and freshman Frank Prince (6-4).

Williams is leading the CCAA in rebounding (11.3 per game) and field goal percentage (61.5 per cent) besides pacing the Broncs in scoring with 13.8 points a game.

The Broncos will have their hands full tonight against their Poly brothers. The Pomonans haven't won here in three years with last year's 54-52 defeat the toughest to take.

After a slow start, SLO has won five of its last six games to even its season record at 6-6. In that span, the Mustangs have played exceptional defense in holding the opposition to 52.8 points a game.

Veteran guard Pinky Williams (6-4) leads the Mustangs in scoring with a 14.4 average followed by forward John Parker (6-3) at 14.2. The other SLO starters include freshman center Tom Flavin (6-8), forward Dave Bush (6-6) and guard Gary Orgill (6-0), a transfer from Golden West College.

Poly will also have its problems in moving over to the Bakersfield Civic Auditorium. The Cal State Bakersfield Roadrunners enter tonight's home game against UC Riverside with a string of 12 consecutive victories at the auditorium and an overall mark of 21-1. Poly outlasted Bakersfield, 71-63, in three overtimes last year at Highland High.

The Roadrunners have extra help with the addition of Steve Lantz, a transfer from the University of Washington.

Guard Ken Shiloh is Bakersfield's top scoring threat with a 20.9 average.

PRESSED FOR TIME

Even though Ganesha's Scott Sorge (bottom) finds himself at a disadvantage against Montclair's John Zens, Sorge came back to decision Zens during their San Antonio League wrestling match in the 135-pound class. Montclair defeated Ganesha in the league opener, 39-24. (See story C-2)

Lakers trying to beat Boston

BOSTON (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers haven't beaten the Boston Celtics here since Dec. 1, 1971.

They attempt to halt Boston's domination tonight when they face Dave Cowens and company in the teams' second meeting of the season.

The Celtics beat the Lakers 115-110 at Los Angeles Dec. 16 on a Sunday night Los Angeles announced Jerry West was going to be sidelined a month with an abdominal muscle pull. West is expected to return to the Laker lineup at Kansas City next Friday night.

The Celtics swept all four regular season meetings from Los Angeles last season, the first time the Lakers have been blanked in a season series since moving from Minneapolis.

In the first two games of a six-game road trip, the Lakers were beaten by the Capital Bullets and Detroit Pistons. They're at Philadelphia Saturday night.

L.A. Supervisor Debs says Rams too busy

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles County Supervisor Ernest E. Debs charged Thursday that Los Angeles Rams' owner Carroll Rosenbloom has been "too busy" to negotiate with the county on a new lease for use of the Coliseum. Rosenbloom denied the accusation.

In an open letter to Rosenbloom, Debs said the Coliseum Commission, of which he is the president, has been trying to re-negotiate the Rams' lease for 10 months.

"But you (Rosenbloom) have either been too busy at the moment or sent someone who could not speak for you," Debs said in his letter.

A 10-year lease between the commission and the Rams expired in July, and Rosenbloom has indicated he wants the stadium overhauled before the Rams sign to play there in 1974.

"Mr. Debs' letter attempts to paint me as a bad boy and I'm not," Rosenbloom responded. "It's just not true that I've not been willing to negotiate. I've had several meetings with him, city and Coliseum officials in the past few weeks."

Debs said the commission is agreeable to a number of Rosenbloom requests, including building private boxes in the stadium, lowering the field to increase attendance capacity and construction of an underground parking lot and a nearby practice field.

"We want the Rams in the Coliseum and are willing to listen and negotiate," Debs said. "But we do not know what Mr. Rosenbloom disagrees with since we have had only one meeting with him in the last three or four months."

Rosenbloom said "in all probability his team will play in the Coliseum next season.

Favorites win in SAL's '74 mat openers

The San Antonio League wrestling wars began Thursday, and things went pretty much as expected for the local high schools.

Upland fired its first salvo in defense of the SAL crown, defeating an undermanned Garey squad by a 49-18 count. Claremont, which is expected to challenge the Highlanders for the league title this year, had it a little tougher but took the measure of Chino 36-21.

Montclair downed Ganesha 39-24 in the other match held Thursday.

Key individual matchup in the Upland-Garey tussle occurred when the Highlanders' Bill Glasheen pinned the Vikings' Gary Mendoza in the 122-pound class. A Garey forfeit in the 194-pound class to Uplands' Richard Hermocillo also proved costly to the Vikings.

Standout in a losing cause for Garey was Sergio Godoy, who continued his fine season efforts by pinning his opponent in the 114-pound class.

Claremont and Chino battled on fairly even terms in their match at Chino High, but once again the forfeit route hurt the losers. The Cowboys dropped the 177-pound class to Claremont's Mike O'Connor by forfeit, at which point Chino could have still pulled the match out.

Impressive in victory for the Woflacpk were Jeff Whitton, who pinned his opponent in the 194-pound class, and Robin Chew, who scored a decision win in the 156-pound class.

Mark Roberts continued to roll for the Cowboys in the 147-pound class, as he pinned his mat foe. Roberts has not been beaten by an opponent this season, his only blemish being a disqualification. Larry Imbach also showed well for Chino, pinning his foe in the 115-pound class.

Montclair shot off to a 18-0 advantage against Ganesha and held off the Giants for a 39-24 triumph. Cavalier Jacy Surby, last year's SAL heavyweight champ, showed why with a pin against his Ganesha opponent.

Ganesha's Mike Newton decisioned Montclair's Gary Baker in the 194-pound class, in a match resembling football season, as both wrestlers also performed on the gridiron.

Charles Stewart remained undefeated on the year by pinning his foe in the 167-pound class. The Giants' Stewart is now 11-0-1 on the season.

Valley cagers stay close

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

If tonight's basketball games are as exciting as the midweek prep battles, a sports fan can get his money's worth from any game in the valley.

A total of 23 points separated the outcome of six most teams started league play.

Tonight's Hacienda matchups will feature Bonita at Sierra Vista, both first round winners; Royal Oak at Ontario, each team lost by two points Wednesday and Walnut at San Dimas, both teams won at home. All games will start at 8 p.m.

Chaffey will try to make it two Citrus Belt League wins in a row when it visits San Gorgonio, a 59-57 loser to Ramona, and Rowland will try to even its Montview League record at 1-1 tackling Workman on the Lobo court.

Western Christian begins its Olympic League schedule at San Fernando Valley Christian High. Ontario Christian, who dropped a 46-41 league opener to Valley, invades Whittier Christian and Webb draws a bye.

Bonita, picked as the surprise team in the Hacienda circuit, started its league campaign by surprising Ontario, 50-48, Wednesday. H. P. Drake tossed in 17 points but game average. Scott (formerly known as Stu) Johnson added 10 points and Russ Tyner came off the bench to turn in his best effort of the season, 10 points and 11 rebounds.

Sierra Vista, who edged Gladstone 53-46, may have the best guard in the league in Greg Song. The 5-10 guard missed most of the preseason with a knee injury. David Howard is the top scorer at 11.0 points a game.

Royal Oak will be hungry for a win after losing to San Dimas in overtime and could put forth its best effort of the year against Ontario.

The Romans have balance as four starters average double figures led by Rory Pernot with a 22.9 average. Ontario may have the best one-two punch in Jim Donaldson (16.7) and Joe Jefferson (11.9) but they're yet to play well when on the court at the same time. The Jaguars dropped a 50-48 decision to Bonita in their opener.

Kirk Christ took over the lead in the valley scoring race as the 6-6 forward tossed in 29 points in Walnut's 80-66 win over Alta Loma. Christ is now averaging 24.9 points per outing. Marcello Maurin added 24 points.

The Mustangs won't be able to take things lightly as they face San Dimas tonight.

The Saints surprised Royal Oak 63-61, as Matt Draayom enjoyed his best game of the year, tossing in 19 points. Greg McCrary added 18.

'Hens, Leos host colorful visitors

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

A choice between conference basketball or international competition is available to SCIAC fans tonight.

Pomona-Pitzer (7-4) hosts Caltech (0-5) tonight in Pomona College's Memorial Gym. Meanwhile, La Verne (2-9) takes on Toluca University of Mexico in Bonita High's gym.

Both games are scheduled for 8:15 p.m. starts. Pomona-Pitzer and Caltech will play a junior varsity game at 6:15 p.m. Toluca did not bring a jayvee team but did bring a volleyball squad so a volleyball match is slated at 6:15 p.m.

Toluca boasts a 25-7 record and is coached by Eduardo Gutierrez Murillo. Murillo and coach Art Bias of La Verne were to reach a decision today on whether to play International or American rules or a combination of each.

Toluca has 13 players. The average height is 5-11 with Fernando Orozco the tallest at 6-2.

Those attending the 6:15 p.m. game at Pomona tonight are in for an added treat.

The Caltech jayvees feature the only girl basketball player in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC).

She is freshman (or "freshperson" if you're a pro women's lib) Eileen Reeds, a 5-5 guard from Thousand Oaks.

In the varsity game, The Sagehens will be shooting for their second conference win. Both teams opened conference competition Wednesday night. The 'Hens defeated Claremont-Mudd 80-60 while the Beavers took a 97-33 beating at he hands of Redlands.

Caltech has one of the conference's top scorers in skinny center Bart Locanthi. The 6-7, 150-pound Locanthi was averaging 16 points a game but scored only six against Redlands.

Pomona coach Les Nagler used all of his 14 players Wednesday night against Claremont-Mudd and undoubtedly will do the same tonight.

La Verne will be idle Saturday night. Toluca University moves over to Memorial Gym for a game with Pomona-Pitzer.

Sports news in brief

DICK WILLIAMS, former Oakland Athletics baseball manager, will pass up baseball this season to become administrative assistant to Florida multi-millionaire developer John D. MacArthur.

Williams resigned from the A's after they won their second World Championship last October but owner Charles O. Finley refused to free him from his contract to become manager of the New York Yankees.

ARTIE MCNICLE, a second-year pro who earned less than $13,000 as a rookie, shot 35-32-67 to share the opening round lead of the $150,000 Phoenix Open with rookie Mark Hayes, Thursday.

McNickle had an up and down round with seven birdies and three bogeys and was surprised he ended the day on top.

GEORGE FOREMAN, under increasing pressure to defend his title more often, may be headed for a heavywight championship title match with Baltimore contender Larry Middleton.

Baltimore fight promoter, Eli Hanover, said Thursday that he's trying to arrange the match and "There's no question both fighters are interested.'

JOHN HICKS, Ohio University offensive tackle, Thursday night was presented with the Vince Lombardi Award, symbol of the nation's outstanding collegiate football lineman.

Hicks, 22, was runnerup to winner John Cappeletti of Penn State in the Heisman Trophy competition but captured the Outland Trophy from competition exclusively among linemen.

Allen holds 73-pin lead

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — Bill Allen, a left-handed bowler from Orlando, Fla., is hoping to end a long dry spell.

Allen, 39, hasn't won a Professional Bowlers Association event in six years and earned only $7,350 in eight events last season. But after two days of the $70,000 Don Carter Classic, Allen maintains a 73-pin lead over Mark Roth, of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Linda's Chief carries high weight for Malibu

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — Linda's Chief will carry the maximum impost of 126 pounds at Santa Anita Saturday in the $58,800 Malibu Stakes, the first leg of the Strub series excusivly for 4-year-olds.

Aaron Jones' $1.8 million Chieftain colt will spot his nine rivals from 6 to 12 pounds in the seven-furlong Malibu. The field includes Ancient Title, which defeated Linda's Chief in the Malibu last year.

The 22nd running of the Malibu also has attracted Dancing Papa, Driftin' Along, Mariache II, Mug Punter, Roka Zaca, Expression, Out Of The East and Ocala Boy.

Seeking the 11th stakes triumph of his career, Linda's Chief will be ridden by Bill Shoemaker while Ancient Title, which never has lost a seven furlongs, will have Fernando Toro up in place of the suspended Laffit Pincay.

Red-hot Don Pierce, winner of six stakes races during the young meeting, scored his 14th, 15th and 16th victories of the season Friday, including the $15,000 feature aboard longshot Viva La Vivi.

He kept Viva La Vivi ahead all the way for a $16.80 triumph, two and one-half lengths ahead of Waltz Fan in the field of seven fillies and mares. Tizna was third.

She was clocked in 1:12 in six furlongs on a track that was considered heavy despite the absence of rain.

Pierce is second in the Santa An

Perez KOs Cesar Sinda at Olympic

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Carlos Perez of Los Angeles gained his fourth straight knockout win Thursday night with a third-round KO of Cesar Sinda of the Congo.

Perez, 129, cut Sinda's mouth in the first round. He sent his opponent down for the first time early in the third round with a right hand to the head.

Sinda, who weighed 133, got up but was put down again with only five seconds left in the round. Sinda made the bell and went to his corner, but referee Larry Rosadilla decided to stop the fight and award Perez the KO.

Citrus seeks more Mission victories

Winners of two of three Mission Conference games, Citrus College eyes its third victory and a piece of first place in the standings in weekend games tonight and Saturday.

The Owls, 6-11, overall host, last place San Diego City (0-3, 3-12) tonight and Grossmont (2-1, 8-7) Saturday. Both Games begin at 8 o'clock.

Citrus stunned 10th ranked Chaffey Wednesday night, 74-73, in overtime, containing all-state forward Bob Kovach. Guard Roy Hickman, who is averaging 31.3 points in three conference games pumped in 33 against the Panthers including the winning bucket on a twisting lay-up in overtime.

Kovach, who has been averaging better than 20 points per game, was a cool shooter from the field against the Owls, sinking only four of 24 attempts, and totaling 15 for the game.

The Panthers hope he returns to form for weekend games against Saddleback (1-2, 2-13) tonight and San Diego City Saturday. Both games are at Chaffey beginning at 8 p.m.

Coach Barney Newlee's team's record dipped to 1-2 in conference play and 9-7 overall.

San Bernardino, Palomar and Riverside lead the conference standings with 2-0 records, Palomar hosts Riverside in tonight's action and San Bernardino Saturday.

Houle's 'trick' helps down Sharks

QUEBEC (UPI) — Rejean Houle scored his first hat trick since switching to the WHA Thursday night to lead the Quebec Nordiques to a 7-1 victory over the Los Angeles Sharks.

Quebec's Guy Dufour tallied two goals with Nordique team captain J.C. Tremblay picking up four assists.

Quebec opened the scoring in the first period with Houle scoring his first of three, cutting in front of goalie Ian Wilkie and flipping the puck into the top right hand corner of the Los Angeles net.

At the 11.49 mark of the first period Gary Veneruzzo tied the score, beating Quebec goalie Richard Brodeur with a 10-foot wrist-shot from the slot.

Quebec's scoring leader Serge Bernier scored what proved to be the winning goal at 14:48 of the second period, rifling a pass from Tremblay past Wilkie.

Dufour made the score 3-1 shoveling in a goal-mouth pass from Houle.

In the opening five minutes of the final period, Houle scored his second and third goals with Renald LeClerc picking up his sixth goal of the season and Dufour his 18th.

THE ROTARY-ENGINE MAZDA MAKES MORE SENSE EVERY DAY.

We didn't know there was going to be a gas shortage.
And we certainly hope it ends soon.
But in the meantime, we want to make sure everybody understands exactly what a Mazda is. And what it isn't.
Mazda is the only rotary-engine car in America.
It gets good mileage on low-octane gas. And since the rotary engine has far fewer parts than the piston engine, there's less to go wrong. Less to maintain.
Therefore, Mazda is an economical car.
But the rotary engine also makes Mazda very quick and powerful. Even when you add an automatic transmission and air conditioning.
So Mazda is also a performance car.
We believe Mazda offers you the best balance between fuel economy, performance, size, price and emission control. Plus quality. And proven reliability.
Predictions are that six out of ten people who buy a new car will buy a small car. If you're one of those people, we think you should test-drive a Mazda.
Even before the energy crisis, the rotary-engine Mazda made a lot of sense. But now that there's a gas shortage, it makes more sense every day.

The famed "'spirit of '76," painted by Archibald M. Willard, Ohio artist and wagon decorator, was exhibited at the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition of 1876. Critics ignored the painting, but the public loved it.

MSAC Players to do 'The Frog Prince'

WALNUT — The Mt. San Antonio College Players will present "The Frog Prince" in the college dining hall at 10 and 11:15 a.m. Saturday. Tickets are 25 cents.

This is the second Tarradiddle Travelers presentation of the Sounds of Wonderful childen's series.

The new program stars Mark Klopfenstein, Covina, as the Prince; Judi Nicolin, West Covina, as the Princess, and Harumi Tribble, Covina, as the Snake Witch, plus a company of 18 Tarradiddle Travelers.

The laughing, singing, dancing and acting troupe has delighted children with numerous plays this season. The Travelers perform all over the stage, in the aisles and among members of the audience.

"The Frog Prince" will offer songs such as "A Very Fine Fellow Am I," "I Know What's Best for You" and "Where Can a Frog Find Happiness?"

Tickets may be purchased in the MSAC Community Services Office or at the door the morning of the performances.

COMEDY CAPERS — Two members of South Coast Repertory rehearse for two shows to be put on in the auditorium of Citrus College at 2 p.m. Jan. 26. The productions, sponsored by Junior Programs of California, are "Magic Theater II" and "The Sunday Funnies." Tickets are $1.

Children's show set at Citrus

AZUSA — South Coast Repertory will present "Magic Theater II" and "The Sunday Funnies" in the auditorium of Citrus College at 2 p.m. Jan. 26. The show is offered by Junior Programs of California. Tickets are $1.

"Magic Theater II," the creation of Saundra Mathews-Deacon, is produced by the South coast Educational Services. It is not a magic show, but apepals to the imagination of each child. The play is structured in a series of short, fairy-tale sketches and songs which are presented to help children cope with the problems and fears of childhood.

The South Coast Repertory Actors Mime Theater, created by Ronald Boussom, will perform "The Sunday Funnies." Although not using specific comic characters from the Sunday papers, the company portrays familiar situations using pantomime to humorously depict thought-provoking sketches that will be enjoyed by children of all ages.

Tickets will be available at the auditorium box office immediately preceding the performance. Discount rates are available for groups of 10 or more.

French film scheduled at Scripps

CLAREMONT — "De l'Amour" (All About Love), a French film based on Stendahl's book of aphorisms, will be shown in the Humanities Center auditorium at Scripps College at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 16. Admission is free.

The movie consists of sketches held together by the central character, a dentist played by Michel Piccoli. The film also stars Anna Karina, Elsa Martinelli, Jean Sorel and Joanna Shimkus. Jean Aurel directed.

The movie has English subtitles.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Ask Dr. Brothers

Break the pattern

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My girl friend and I have been going together ever since we were juniors in high school two years ago. Now she's starting to embarrass me because she won't let me be a man and open doors. She considers this silly, but to me, it's very important. My mother always taught me that men should take care of women and this included even small things like pulling out chairs and opening car doors. When I can't do this or when my girlfriend jumps to do it first, it makes me feel insecure and as if she really weren't my girl. I may be old-fashioned but I think women should be women and men should be allowed to be men.

Why should women mind being dependent? To me it seems a great way to live. There are times when I'd like to know that someone would take care of me and let me be dependent. I can't figure out why women object to this and I feel it's a put-down. Women have it a lot easier than men and sometimes I almost envy them. — V.J.

Dear V.J: Everybody needs to be dependent sometimes — it has nothing to do with gender. Admitting this need and indulging it occasionally is wholesome.

Your girlfriend may be trying to break the rigid pattern of women as passive, helpless and dependent and men as strong, aggressive and independent, regardless of how they may feel at a particular moment or on a particular day.

Dependence starts in childhood and the adult who allows himself infantile moments of loving when he is cared for and feels total security is building an inner security and strength that will get him through difficult periods that must be faced alone.

Your masculinity has nothing to do with whether or not you open doors or pull out chairs. It is much deeper than that. You are male because of our anatomy. The question is what kind of male are you? How do you really feel about other human beings? Do you have the capacity to give real friendship, love and respect? In human relations the answers to these questions are much more important than superficial gestures. Whether males open doors and pull out chairs may, in the future, depend on individual needs and wishes rather than on custom alone.

Ohio State University sociologist Laurel Richardson Walum feels that a man's opening a door for a woman is an act which "affirms a patriarchal ideology." In our society, she says, the person with the authority opens the door; the doctor ushers in his patient; the mother, her children; the boss, his employee; the men, the women. The person who has the power to open the door also has the power to close the door.

You and your girlfriend are not the only ones who are confused about who should assume what role. Dr. Walum believes this confusion and conflict will eventually lead to the emergence of new rules of conduct governed more by humanitarian needs rather than gender. This might lead to everyone's being able to get through daily rounds with increased ease and joy.

This new freedom would allow men as well as women to feel comfortable being dependent as well as independent. When men can feel free to indulge their real feelings, they may live longer and suffer much less strain. Your girlfriend may be trying to protect both you and herself from being put into a kind of behavioral straitjacket.

TODAY'S Women

Wedding vows said in Montclair setting

The First Assembly of God Church in Montclair was the setting for the marriage of Miss Sharron Ruth Baker and Alfred Paul Surdam.

The Rev. Philip A. Alward performed the double-ring afternoon ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Paul Baker of Pomona and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Surdam of Brockton, Mass.

Given in marriage by Stephen Mark Baker, the bride wore a floor-length white gown with a train and a headpiece of velvet flowers which held her long veil. She carried blue, white and pink carnations.

Cynthia Baker was the honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Nancy Peterson and June Yarush. Serving as best man was Norman d'Filiatrault. Ushers were Jeffrey Baker and Darryl Baker.

Chris Baker was ring bearer.

Fifty guests attended the reception at the Washington Park Community Center, including the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Lura Smith.

The bride is a Garey High School graduate. Mr. Surdam graduated from Brockton Trade High School and is a cabinet maker with Coast Showcase in Vernon.

ORVILLE L. HUBBARD

Lose it--mayor

Fat's in fire for tubby dept. heads

DEARBORN, Mich. (UPI) — Mayor Orville L. Hubbard kept his first campaign promise. He lost 10 pounds.

Hubbard, 70, began his 33rd year as mayor of this city of 104,199 this week after meeting his declared goal of losing seven pounds by inauguration day.

"I'll tell you this," he said. "If I'm alive on Dec. 31, I will weigh 75 pounds less than I do now."

Hubbard weighed in at 273 pounds before taking the oath of office from his son John.

He did not weigh the heads of 19 city departments but he told them earlier that if they did not lose weight—from two to 10 pounds — he would suspend them.

"The fat guys around here don't do much work," Hubbard said. "They eat too much and get drowsy and then drink a beer for lunch and then it's all over for the day."

When Hubbard campaigned last fall for re-election to his 15th term—a national record for major cities—he complained that his 283 pounds were too much. The 5-foot-11 inch Hubbard has weighed as much as 327 pounds.

It was the liveliest issue of the campaign but not the most controversial in his long political career.

Hubbard set up a government in exile in 1950 across the Detroit River in Canada in an attempt to thwart a libel suit. He finally overcame it and several ensuing wrangles with state and federal officials.

Price sticker complaint is of no avail

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A state health official says a consumer has but one recourse when on a store shelf he finds a can or box cluttered with different price stickers:

"He can quit buying the product."

George Steel of the state Department of Health, whose job it is to monitor quality, ingredients, labeling and advertising of food products, also said there is no law governing stock repricing—the store practice of changing the sticker price upward on products.

"It's a time of seller's market and buyer beware," he said.

Under the practice, a product which cost 31 cents one week, costs 34 the next and then 36. Before a shelf is depleted, one item could have as many as four layers of price tags, each one higher than the one underneath.

Donald Beaver of the Northern California Grocers Association says store managers have no choice but to remark items "because stores must keep an absolute price control.

"When you're dealing with 10 to 12,000 items, there is no way possible to remember which can came in at this price one week and that price, the next."

But consumer advocates believe a store which has purchased the item at a wholesale price, added its profit and placed it on the shelf should not raise its price because later stock came in at a higher cost.

Despite his controversial voters support him overwhelmingly.

'74 GRAND VILLE
14.3 miles per gallon
Pontiac's Grand Ville Tested

In this era of uncertain gas availability a two-ton luxury tourer, such as Pontiac's '74 Grand Ville, six-place four-door hardtop is somewhat anachronistic.

However a 700-mile work-out behind the wheel reminded The Herald-Examiner road test crew of Jackie Gleason's household phrase: "How sweet it is!" The standard-sized road-cruiser was designed, engineered and constructed to provide adept handling, better-than-adequate passenger and truck-cargo capacity and quiet comfort for cross-country travel at what may be deemed a reasonable price. The suggested retail tab of just over $5500 (and this includes air, AM-FM radio, electric window lifts, seat adjusters, cruise control and sundry other luxury-comfort items) is not unreasonable in the current economy.

Even the 455 CID quad-barrel carburetored OHV V-8 which puts out 215 net horsepower, was reasonable from the aspect of fuel consumption. The power plant delivered an 11.1 miles-per-gallon average for the overall test which included acceleration checks, mountain grade work, stop-and-go city traffic legal 65 mph cruise in California and a sustained 100 mph sprint on a neighboring state's open road.

The mileage went up to 14.3 during a sustained 55 mph gait between Los Angeles and Ojai.

2 roads to snow resorts reopen

THE SAN BERNARDINO — The county Board of Supervisors Friday decided to reopen two roads to the Snow Valley and Big Bear areas after businessmen in the resort areas complained of economic losses because of the road closures.

Supervisors voted to open Highway 38 into the Big Bear area from Mentone and Highway 18 into Big Bear from Lucerne Valley and through to the Snow Valley ski area.

Traffic will be permitted on the reopened roads to Snow Valley and Big Bear only as long as adequate parking is available and only to vehicles carrying enough gasoline, chains and shovels, according to the board's action.

The California Highway Patrol will check traffic on the reopened highways. Cars found in unauthorized places or blocking roadways will be impounded and towed away.

Highways still closed will include Highway 30 from San Bernardino to Running Springs and Highway 18 from San Bernardino. Crestline and Lake Arrowhead; and Highway 138 from Cajon Pass to Crestline.

Access to Crestline, Lake Arrowhead, Green Valley, and Running Springs will be open only to permanent residents because of a problem with the domestic water supply to the area because of frozen and broken water lines.

Kissinger in Egypt, aims to halt Israeli deadlock

Nixon can't count on help from Dept. of Justice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General William B. Saxbe said Friday should President Nixon be impeached on the grounds of serious criminal activity the President will have to defend himself at his own expense without Justice Department help.

But a different procedure would be called for if Nixon were subjected to impeachment proceedings or grand jury prosecution on grounds of actions he took officially as President, Saxbe said in his first general news conference since taking office Jan. 4.

In that case, the Justice Department would defend Nixon as it would any other federal official whose official acts are challenged, Saxbe said.

In any event, he said, if an impeachment proceeding progressed from the House to the point of a trial before the Senate, the Justice Department would have to withdraw its legal defense and leave the President on his own.

The House can act as a grand jury on impeachment proceeding and if it approves of such action by a majority vote, it must go to the Senate which would act as trial court.

Saxbe declared the Justice Department neutral toward the impeachment investigation under way by the House Judiciary Committee and determined not to influence decisions of special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

But he said he did not believe the President can be indicted, even for a felony.

Saxbe said if the Justice Department did not defend the President, then he would have to rely on a private defense possibly financed by a defense fund such as was raised for President Andrew Johnson in the nation's only presidential impeachment trial in its history. Johnson was cleared by one vote in 1868.

MAY NOT DEFEND NIXON

Attorney General William Saxbe explained at a news conference Friday that the Justice Department will not defend President Nixon if he is impeached on grounds of criminal conduct. If that were to happen, said Saxbe, the President would have to provide his own defense. If impeachment took place, however, on the grounds of official actions made by Nixon as President, the Justice Department would defend the President.

Begins his third trip of peace to troubled sector

ASWAN, Egypt (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, beginning his third Middle East peace-seeking trip since the October Arab-Israeli war, arrived in this resort city on the upper Nile Friday night for talks with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Kissinger will be attempting to break the Egyptian-Israeli deadlock over the disengagement of troops along the Suez Canal.

Talks at kilometer 101 on the Cairo-Suez road and at Geneva have failed to result in an agreement on separation of forces along the canal, where there have been daily shooting incidents.

En route here, Kissinger stopped in Madrid, where he met with the new Spanish foreign minister, Pedro Cortina.

After further talks today, Kissinger was to fly to Israel. U.S. officials in Washington said Kissinger would return to Egypt later for another meeting with Sadat and then go back to Jerusalem. He is also to visit Jordan and possibly Saudi Arabia and Syria.

Western sources in Brussels said Kissinger is expected to visit there next week to brief North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) allies on his Middle East mission. The Europeans have complained that Washington dealt with the Soviet Union on the Middle Esst crisis without adequately consulting them.

The Egyptians, along with all the other Arab states, insist that separation of forces must be only a preliminary move to a total Israeli withdrawal from all Arab territory occupied during the 1967 June war.

Egyptian officials said they expected Kissinger to put forward a detailed plan at the Aswan talks and that the broad lines of his proposals already had been communicated to Sadat.

1 of 3 newly hired at NASA to be woman or minority

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, under attack for its hiring policies, promised Congress Friday to make one out of every three professionals hired in the next year a minority group member or a woman.

Ruth Bates Harris, who was fired in October as deputy administrator for NASA's equal employment office, said she had been dismissed because she criticized the space agency's employment policies. Her supporters told a Senate subcommittee that the office director had undermined the program and was hostile to an effort to hire more women.

"The climate in NASA is not now nor has it ever been conducive to positive gains in equal employment opportunity," said Mrs. Harris, who is contesting her dismissal before the Civil Service Commission.

Dudley G. McConnell, the black director of the NASA Equal Opportunity Office, defended the NASA programs. He said a comparison of the space agency statistics was misleading because of cutbacks in space spending and hiring.

"It is simply not possible to make significant improvements in the percentages of any group of employees if the total number of new hires is small," McConnell said.

"Nevertheless, for the small numbers we did hire, we hired well above NASA's current percentage of minorities: 10.3 per cent in 1971; 13.2 per cent in 1972 and 16.3 per cent in 1973."

Ehrlichman's 'deal' denied by spokesman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Spokesmen claim that no deal has been made for former Presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman to plead guilty to one felony in exchange for cooperation in the Watergate case.

Ehrlichman's lawyer, John J. Wilson, and the public affairs office of Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski denied Friday that the former White House aide was engaged in plea bargaining during a Washington visit.

Ehrlichman, who resigned as President Nixon's No. 2 adviser last year because of the Watergate scandal, is under indictment by the Los Angeles County Grand Jury in connection with the 1971 break-in at the office of the psychiatrist for Pentagon papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg.

Ehrlichman arrived in Washington last Sunday from his home town of Seattle, Wash.

Wilson said that he and Ehrlichman spent 65 minutes with Jaworski on Thursday. At the time he told a reporter that Ehrlichman had "not to my knowledge" made any plans to enter a plea.

When asked whether he would recommend his client make a plea, Wilson replied, "no comment."

Ambulance for dying mother was stopped, officials admit

ELK GROVE VILLAGE, Ill. (UPI) — Authorities confirmed Friday an ambulance dispatched to a dying mother eight months pregnant was stopped because the family had not contracted for village police and ambulance service.

Instead, Mrs. Jean Pettee, 36, was picked up by an ambulance from another village which had to travel six miles to the Pettee home in an unincorporated area just outside Elk Grove Village, northwest of Chicago.

Mrs. Pettee was dead on arrival at Elk Grove's Alexian Brothers Medical Center, a hospital spokesman said Friday.

Physicians performed a Caesarian section and delivered a girl who died a short time later.

An autopsy showed Mrs. Pettee, the mother of five other children, died of a massive pulmonary embolism, a blood clot in her chest.

Authorities said the tragedy began last Sunday when Mrs. Pettee collapsed and stopped breathing in her Elk Grove Township home. Her husband, Gary, a self-employed businessman, called the Elk Grove Village police and asked for an ambulance.

Police called the Elk Grove Fire Department which dispatched one of its paramedical teams to the Pettee residence.

The ambulance was stopped "on the apron," Elk Grove Village Manager Charles Willis said, when it was determined the Pettees did not subscribe to the village ambulance and police service. Instead, the Roselle Village Fire Department was called and a second ambulance dispatched.

No official word on spy story

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — White House spokesmen would not confirm or deny published reports Friday that a spy operation on Henry Kissinger's Vietnam peace negotiations was conducted on behalf of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, but they said the accounts were fragmentary and distorted.

In a statement, the White House press office would say only that the reports of alleged spying on the National Security Council on behalf of top military leaders in 1971 "touched on a matter peripheral to" a serious leak of national security information which could not be discussed.

The Chicago Tribune and Scripps-Howard News Service reporter Dan Thomasson had reported that the White House "Plumbers" unit came up with evidence of the spying while investigating the source of that leak.

$10 million set for oil executive

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — The left-wing People's Revolutionary Army (ERP) guerrillas said Friday that the Esso Argentina Oil Corp. had agreed to donate $10 million worth of food, clothing, tools and medicine to the poor if the guerrillas would free Victor E. Samuelson, an Esso executive kidnaped Dec. 6.

The announcement of the agreement came in a communique sent to Buenos Aires newspapers. Esso had no immediate comment. Esso Argentina is a subsidiary of the Exxon Oil Co. with headquarters in New York.

Seven men carrying submachine guns walked into a cafeteria at the Esso refinery in Campana, 50 miles north of Buenos Aires, on Dec. 6 and seized Samuelson as he was eating lunch with other executives.

Hertz selected

POMONA — The Pomona Valley Municipal Water District board of directors Friday night unanimously appointed Paul Hertz as director for Division 3 which includes the City of La Verne, a small part of north Pomona, and county territory.

Hertz will fill the unexpired term of Allen C. Oberle, who resigned as director Jan. 1. The term expires Jan. 1, 1975.

Hertz is in the trucking and citrus businesses.

Poison symbol urged for all cigarette packs

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — On the 10th anniversary of his landmark smoking and health report, former U.S. Surgeon General Luther Terry said Friday a warning as bold as the skull and crossbones symbol of poison should be on all cigarette packs.

Terry, whose 1964 report produced a law banning all television and radio advertising of cigarettes and a requirement for warning notices on all cigarette packs, made his recommendations during the signing of a "Bill of Rights for Non-Smokers" at historic Congress Hall.

"I believe the warning should be as bold as the skull and crossbones used on poisonous substances," Terry said. He complained that type on present cigarette pack notices "is so tiny and the message so obscurely placed that it is difficult to find it and read it."

He said the warning should include the message that cigarette smoking contributes to cancer of the lungs, larynx and other organs, as well as coronary heart disease, bronchitis, emphysema and other pulmonary ailments.

"I also believe a law should be passed banning the advertising of cigarettes in any media at all," Terry said, explaining that smoking contributes to "the leading causes of death in this country."

Terry, a former cigarette smoker who switched to a pipe, said in Washington he would not favor a ban on the sale of cigarettes, but would favor a ban on cigarettes that contain significant levels of tar.

Terry was optimistic the dangers of smoking eventually would be greatly reduced. He said that an estimated 29 million smokers have dropped the cigarette habit in the past seven years.

Body Shop hit by extensive fire

MONTCLAIR — A fire caused extensive damage Friday evening to the Montclair Body Shop, 4518 Mission Blvd.

The fire, said officials destroyed the business's paint shop and caused extensive damage to the roof of the building.

Five fire units fought the blaze, which was brought under control in about 20 minutes.

The cause of the fire is under investigation.

One fireman James Bishop, was injured while fighting the fire. He was treated at Doctor's Hospital for a broken foot.

Soviet wheat to ease U.S. shortage of bread

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union has agreed to a delay in delivery of 18.4 million bushels of American wheat in a move which officials here said could help ease threats of a U. S. bread shortage this spring, the Agriculture Department said Friday.

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, meanwhile, called "preposterous" a warning from bakers that the price of a 1.5 pound loaf of bread could go up to $1.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Carroll G. Brunthaver said the shift was disclosed Friday in a routine report on export contracts held by private U.S. traders as of Dec. 30. The report showed that 18.4 million bushels, which previously had been listed for shipment during the 1973-74 season were now listed for delivery during the 1974-75 season which begins July 1.

Butz said the administration had been seeking a voluntary slowdown in wheat exports, and he expects a reserve of around 200 million bushels in the U.S. before the 1974 crop is harvested and "we can assure consumers that we will have adequate wheat."

The administration has been urging private traders to arrange voluntary delays in some shipments. Officials say they would like some foreign customers to wait for part of their scheduled shipments until summer when the United States harvests an expected record wheat crop.

Those shipping delays would leave more wheat in the United States this spring and Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said Friday that with these and other tactics "we can assure consumers that we will have adequate wheat."

NIXON BACKERS — Demonstrators in Sacramento held a rally Friday on the Capitol steps to show their support for President Nixon. The demonstrators, from the National Prayer and Fast, Forgive, Love, Unite for the Watergate Crisis, made speeches, sang, and played a brass band during the day. The rally was attended by about 100 persons. Many were hecklers who came to jeer the Nixon backers.

Opponents of year-round schools launch attacks

By MAE TATE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — A cross-section of parents and teachers launched what may be the first in a series of organized meetings this week against the implementation of the year-round school program throughout Chino schools.

Approximately 225 people—parents, teachers from both elementary and secondary levels, and administrators—gathered at Centro Basco Restaurant late Thursday afternoon to hear opposition arguments on the year-round school. The meeting was called by the Chino Federation of Teachers' year-round school committee, chaired by Alaree Govett.

Alternative programs

Mrs. Govett explained that the CFT committee, composed of George Riggle, Katie Yanez, Robert Heinauer, Henry Guillen and CFT President Larry Woodruff as an ex-officio member, had been formed in an effort to study alternative year-round programs to the 45-15 plan.

Brian Smalley and Jack Perkins, teachers in the Milipitas Unified School District in northern California, and Chuck Caniff, director of organization for the Orange County branch of the California Federation of Teachers, outlined the problems they had encountered in dealing with the 45-15 plan.

(Under the 45-15 program students attend school for 45 days, then take 15 days vacation.)

Milipitas is the only district in the state that has its total system of three high schools, two junior high schools and 10 elementary schools on the 45-15. It has also been listed as the third poorest district and the district with the highest tax rate in the state.

'Chaos' created

Smalley cited several problems that created what he termed "chaos" in the Milipitas program. Among those were no provision for the traditional program or for students with summer jobs; departure of students and parents to adjoining districts without the 45-15 plan; fluctuation of class size due to the mixing of tracts or attendance area; impersonalization of education because of the continually changing student and teacher populations; teachers in subject areas they are not qualified to teach; student passivity toward school; drop in state monies from reduced average daily attendance; lack of administrative expertise in planning and scheduling; and question of liability about machinery in vocational arts classes that rotate teaching staff.

"We were not opposed to 45-15. Mandatory 45-15? Yes! Our district did not have the resources or administrative expertise nor did it wish to pay the teachers what they deserve in terms of salaries," Smalley said.

Outline course

Perkins suggested that each teacher and department head put in writing a complete schedule for one year under 45-15. Then problems arising could be better clarified, he stated.

"If you're not a wealthy district and don't have the money to fit the bill, then you should really take a good, hard look at the year-round school," he ended.

Caniff, formerly a teacher in the Newport-Mesa School District which rejected the all-year program, said the justification for the program—more space and better education—doesn't hold water.

"It has pretty well been established that 'the savings' doesn't work. When you look into it, find out about savings, you find out they are minimal, if any," Caniff commented.

The argument on better education can be traced, he continued, to the initiation of new curriculum programs at the same time the year-round school program began. This simultaneous start makes it difficult to determine which was the actual reason for improved education, he said.

Popularity questioned

"It is difficult, if not impossible, to find any hard, documented fact that year-round school provides a better education for the kids," he said. He also pointed out that popularity does not necessly mean something has better educational value.

Newport-Mesa decided against the program after a year of study by a committee composed of parents, teachers, administrators, police, recreation officials, PTA and other community groups.

In many districts, there is a "situation of the tail wagging the dog," he said. Instead of the board adhering to the wishes of the community that elects, there is the tendency to accept the recommendation of superintendents.

"Many of the problems can be solved by adequate planning and administration. But in the majority of the districts that have initiated it, that has not been the case. The savings and educational value have been nearly nil. Planning must be long, must be precise and must involve everybody not just the administration of the district. Ask 'is it worth it?' Is the hassle of initiating this new program for questionable results worth it," said Caniff.

Another meeting

After those present voiced interest in continued opposition to the extension of the Chino plan, Mrs. Govett announced that another meeting would be scheduled to feature Stan Bartnick, a vocal opponent on the plan in San Diego schools, and Alice Cummings, a proponent of the alternate plan operating in Big Bear.

Magnolia Jnior High and Walnut Avenue Elementary schools in Chino are currently on the plan. Richard Meyer and Charles Stortz, principals of the respective schools, both attended the meeting.

Supt. Royce Lapp will make a recommendation to the board on Jan. 22 for those schools to be included on the year-round program in 1974-75.

Alta Loma-Cucamonga battle over fire station

Districts told to end feud

CUCAMONGA — The San Bernardino County Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFC) has given the Cucamonga Fire District and the Alta Loma Fire Protection District boards two weeks to work out their differences on the location of a proposed fire station in the West End district.

A two-week continuance of a hearing to determine if the Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Etiwanda fire districts are able to consolidate their fire protection services was granted after the LAFC meeting Wednesday night on the request of the fire district boards.

Work out differences

The LAFC indicated the fire district boards should try to work out their differences before the San Bernardino County Municipal Advisory Council meets Jan. 23. The advisory council appointed by the county Board of Supervisors makes the final determination if unincorporated communities can join to provide services to local residents.

Last week a controversy developed between the two fire districts, who have long sought the consolidation of their fire services. The Cucamonga Board of Directors sent a letter to the Alta Loma board threatening to withdraw from the consolidation plan if Alta Loma built a new fire station before a consolidated district board could be formed.

The Cucamonga board noted that it had received a petition from many Cucamonga and Alta Loma businessmen and residents asking that they do all in their power to delay the planned construction of the new fire station so the new consolidated board could decide the location and costs of the new station. Acting on the petition the Cucamonga board sent the letter to Alta Loma.

No halt to building

Alta Loma board members last Monday night, after reading the Cucamonga Fire District board's letter, made a resolution stating that they would neither halt nor delay the construction of the new station.

The Cucamonga board argued that the station, proposed at 19th Street and Amyhest Avenue, would cost too much to build and the location might not speed up the response time for homes and businesses north of the Foothill Freeway, now under construction. The Cucamonga board said the decision should be left with the consolidated board.

The Alta Loma board argued that the delay in construction already had cost the taxpayers of Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Etiwanda over $100,000. The board said the longer the delay, the higher the prices of construction materials. The Alta Loma board has already received bids from various construction companies ranging from $314,295 to $356,000 and have until Jan. 17 to make a decision on the contract award.

Both boards intend to meet in joint session, perhaps as early as today to discuss their problems, it was learned.

Woman traps 2 burglary suspects

UPLAND — Two burglary suspects were arrested by police here after a 59-year-old Upland woman blocked the men's car into her driveway and demanded that they identify themselves.

According to police, Dennis LaCrosse, 35, of 727 E. Seventh St., Pomona, and Larry Joe Fielder, 26, of 1945 11th St., La Verne, were arrested at the home of Mrs. Lulabell Kaldock, 1404 Primrose St. Thursday evening.

Police said that Mrs. Kaldock arrived home to find the men in her garage with their car parked in her driveway. She parked her car so that it blocked the driveway entrance and summond police.

In the meantime she approached the men and demanded that they show identification. One of the pair police said, produced identification while the other claimed he did not have anything in his possession that would identify him.

They were arrested on suspicion of burglary and for being under the influence of narcotics.

They are also suspects in a shooting in Claremont in which a correctional officer was seriously wounded with his own gun, but according to Los Angeles Sheriff's investigators, no firm link has been found to connect the men with the shooting.

Lakey tries to avoid ruling of 'disordered sex offender'

POMONA — Lee Donald Lakey's attempt to avoid being determined a mentally disordered sex offender will resume Monday in Pomona Superior Court when the prosecution either calls one more psychiatrist as a witness or rests its case.

Lakey, 23-year-old bus boy, was ruled guilty Oct. 24 of killing 19-year-old Cheryl P. Brown in her apartment here almost a year ago.

Already, three state-appointed psychiatrists have testified at the hearing that, in their opinion, Lakey is a mentally disordered sex offender.

The issue must be decided before trial Judge Glenn M. Pfau can sentence the young man for killing Miss Brown.

Friday afternoon, Dr. Franklin Drucker told the jury that Lakey is anti-social, a border-line psychotic and of average intelligence at best. He said Lakey showed him no remorse for the killing and seemed almost indifferent about it.

He also testified that Lakey told him he fears being judged a mentally disordered sex offender because if he is, he can be committed to a state hospital for an idenfinite period.

Lakey's conviction came during his second trial on a murder change in Miss Brown's strangulation. The first jury, also in Pomona Superior Court, was hung, reportedly 11-1 for conviction, and was dismissed by Judge Pfau.

Woman, girl hurt on bike

POMONA — A 26-year-old Pomona woman and her 3-year-old daughter suffered minor injuries Friday when they were thrown from a bicycle after colliding with a Pomona police car.

Mrs. Linda Hunt, of 501 Vinton St., and her daughter, Tawnya, were both treated for abrasions and bruises at Pomona Valley Community Hospital and later released.

According to police, the woman and little girl were southbound on Towne Avenue about 8 a.m. As they approached Mission Boulevard, the traffic signal at the intersection changed yellow.

Mrs. Hunt could not stop and continued into the interesection and ran broadside into a patrol car driven by Officer Harrison Parker, who had entered the intersection eastbound from Mission.

Work day at Hamilton

POMONA — Parents of children who attend Hamilton Elementary School, concerned about the appearance of the schoolgrounds, will hold a workshop day today, to clean up and beautify the campus.

Chairman Ben Munford said the workshop begins with breakfast at 8 a.m. after which the clean-up gets underway.

The projects that parents feel need attention are cleaning of auditorium drapes, washing auditorium screens and windows, sweeping and hosing of the black-top areas, and cleaning and reorganizing the book room.

They also have a cafetorium wall mural in the planning stages.

Munford said Hamilton parents feel pleasant surroundings aid learning and "perhaps the school that works together will stay together."

The United States Capitol's professional guide system stems from the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition of 1876. Near chaos occurred when hordes of sightseers moved on to Washington, prompting Congress to appoint guides to organize the crowds while describing the Capitol's wonders.

New post office to use solar energy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Postal Service said that it would build an experimental post office which will use the sun's rays to cool in summer and heat in winter.

The post office is to be constructed in Ridley Park, four miles northeast of Chester, Pa., with completion scheduled early next year. If the solar energy heating and cooling system is successful it will be used in future post offices, a spokesman said.

Jury selected as 2 go on trial in CIM killing

LOS ANGELES — An eight woman, four man jury has been selected and testimony in the murder trial of Mrs. Betty Jean Hobson, 45, and Robert Seabock, 23, has begun here in a maximum security courtroom.

The jury, with three men and two women alternates, was sworn in to hear the case Wednesday by Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Charles G. Stratton. After opening statements by San Bernardino County Depty Dist. Atty. Thomas Feld, testimony began.

Mrs. Hobson and Seabock are accused of murdering California Institution for Men Correctional Officer Jesus Sanchez, wounding correctional officer George Fitzgerald, and freeing state prison inmate Ronald Wayne Beaty in the bloody ambush in Chino on Oct. 6, 1972.

The defendants, according to the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Office, participated in the ambush with two other persons, Benton Douglas Burt, 31, and his wife Andrea Holman Burt, 19. The Burts, in another trial were convicted of second degree murder, assault with a deadly weapon and rescuing a prisoner. They have been sentenced to state prison.

Chino Hills development plan postponed

CHINO HILLS AIRPORT PLAN

This plan of the proposed Chino Hills Airport, to occupy 4,000 acres in San Bernardino and Orange counties, was prepared by Reg Wood, president of the Chino Hills Airport Complex, Inc. His rendering shows two main runways to handle 120,000 aviation operations per year, a Century Freeway route for surface traffic, plus related aviation facilities such as a control tower, passenger terminals, air cargo structures, and areas for aircraft production and maintenance and general aviation. Outside the airport complex would be a hotel and motel complex, farm and world trade exhibit center, industrial park, recreation area and veterans national cemetery. A series of studies is proposed on the feasibility of such an airport in the Chino Hills. It is not planned to become operational until 1980. Various groups have opposed the proposed airport site. They seek to keep the Chino Hills as a "open space" area.

Density for dwellings still unresolved issue

By L.T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

SAN BERNARDINO — Acceptance of a general plan for the Chino Hills has been delayed for lack of an ordinance regulating planned residential developments.

The San Bernardino County Planning Commission Thursday continued a public hearing to Feb. 7 and directed the planning staff to formulate an ordinance concept.

Ron Pizel, president of the Southwest Hills Environmental and Planning Association (SHEPA), had requested postponing the adoption of the general plan pending acceptance of an ordinance to cover both planned residential developments (PRD) and planned unit developments (PUD).

Kenneth Topping, county planning director, reported the process to formulate and adopt such an ordinance could take a minimum of six months. "This issue," he added, "may postpone a number of projects."

As a compromise, Robert Townsend, commission chairman, requested the planning staff to draft an ordinance concept for these type developments and meet with Chino Hills residents prior to the Feb. 7 session. Pizel said the proposed general plan was good except for some areas where higher densities than recommended could be permitted.

"It would be conceivable there are low density areas showing on the map that could be allowed PUDs and PRDs," he noted. "We could allow higher densities here and still maintain open spaces."

As an example, he cited areas where there are both slopes and flat land. "We could have a bonus situation where we don't use the slope areas but increase the density on the flat area.

"I don't know how we can come up with this unless we look at a policy which allows such a trade-off," he added.

In reply, Topping said the county planning staff believes a good PUD ordinance has been needed for a long time as it will provide a new tool. "The question I have is if we should wait until we get the PUD ordinance before we come back to the general plan. The process could take six months."

Pizel suggested the hearing be continued until residents get a "more definite projection" of how long the process would take. In the interim, residents could meet with the planning staff to get its definition of the PRDs and the PUDs. Unless the county adopts a policy statement so residents will know what is and isn't allowed, then the planning project isn't done, offered Pizel.

The county planning staff began a study in January 1973 for a new general plan encompassing a 40-square-mile area generally bounded by the Corona Expressway and the Los Angeles, Riverside and Orange County lines.

A proposed general plan, presented last October to the planning commission, advocates a large area remaining open space. About 58 per cent of the study area is designated rural residential density with only one dwelling unit per five acres of land allowed.

In two previous hearings, the proposed law density has been both challenged and supported by Chino Hills property owners and residents.

Owners of some large parcels have opposed the limitations, stating their plans include much higher dwelling densities. Some residents, however, stated they moved to the Chino Hills because of the low density and open space concept.

This conflict erupted again at Thursday's session when Walter LeBand, owner of 1,200 acres at the end of Old English Road, sought a higher density classification for his land.

As proposed, the density would be limited to one to two units per acre for an average of 1.31 units per acre and a total of 1,600 units.

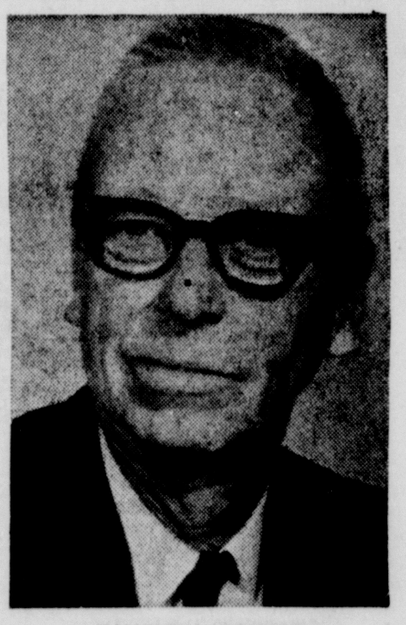

He pointed to nearby Diamond Bar where more than 2,000 residential structures are planned for 450 acres. That density would be 8.8 units per acre. LeBand said he would prefer a density of two to four units per acre, with a minimum of 2,400 units.

Wayne Pederson, representing the Western Hills Country Club, also sought a higher density designation for that area between the summit and the Orange County line. "If there was an area which needs PRDs and PUDs, the Chino Hills is the place for it."

Eldona Reasoner, who owns five acres near the summit, supported the low density concept. "I bought my property here in hopes the area would remain sparsely populated. I favor as minimum density as possible. I don't favor another Diamond Bar in Carbon Canyon."

In closing the hearing, Topping reported his staff would have by Dec. 31 a text written that would incorporate the basic principles of the PRDs, reflecting the foundation of such a future ordinance.

The Feb. 7 public hearing will be held at the Planning Commission chambers, 316 Mountain View Ave., San Bernardino.

HOUSTON A. SNIDOW

Judge slips off quietly to retirement

POMONA — Presiding Pomona Municipal Court Judge Houston A. Snidow has retired from the bench after 13 years as a judge here.

Like his former colleague on the local bench, Judge Roland J. Brownsberger, Judge Snidow slipped away without fanfare. He currently is at home in Avalon, Catalina Island, and his plans were unknown.

The 60-year-old jurist was appointed to the Municipal Court bench here Dec. 1, 1961, by then Gov. Edmund G. Brown. Snidow at that time lived here on Berkeley Avenue, and practiced law here and in Azusa, where he had an office. Earlier he practiced in Los Angeles.

Snidow was born in Arizona but moved to San Dimas with his parents when he was 5. He attended elementary and high school in San Dimas, obtaining his college education at Pomona College and Stanford University and his law degree at USC.

At the time of his appointment, the local Municipal Court had only one judge, who was Brownsberger. Prior to Snidow's retirement, there were three judges assigned here.

They are Judge James Piatt and Judge Robert C. Gustaveson. With Snidow's retirement Thursday, Piatt became presiding judge.

A replacement here for Snidow is being studied by Gov. Reagan, authorities said.

Conflict over lot sizes

Compromise urged on D.B. project

LOS ANGELES — The Regional Planning Commission, has put off a decision on lot sizes for the Roaring Creek development in Diamond Bar.

Rather, it instructed developers Thursday to meet with commissioners and representatives of the Diamond Bar Homeowners Association and work out a compromise.

The commission recommended a 6.5 unit-per-acre use of the 46 acres west of the Orange Freeway at Pathfinder Road, identified as Roaring Creek.

The homeowners, attempting to retain low density housing and the rural atmosphere of the community, had requested 5.5 units per acre. Initially, Don Scholtz Co. had requested 8.8 units per acre in the tract.

Currently the land is zoned fr single-family, 10,000-, 20,000-and 7,500-square foot lots. Developers have asked that it be rezoned to single-family 8,000-square foot lots. The homeowners has asked that the use be held to 10,000-square-foot lots.

When an agreement is reached and a decision made by the Regional Planning Commission, that body will make a recommendation to the county Board of Supervisors.

A Scholtz company spokesman, said that adoption of a compromise posiion on density would not prohibit the firm from moving ahead with the development.

It was announced last fall that the firm planned to build about 3,000 houses, including townhouses, cluster houses and single family residences, in Roaring Creek.

The plans included a five-acre shopping center and a 10-acre school site.

It was estimated the tract would bring an additional 10,000 persons into Diamond Bar in five years.

Representatives of the homeowners group have opposed the 8.8 units per acre land use since plans first became known.

They have asked that development be kept in continuity with existing neighborhoods, that open space be preserved, that developers be required to stay within existing county and Diamond Bar general plans and that their shopping facilities, the addition of 10,000 new residents in five years.

They emphasized that Diamond Bar could not support, with schools and wishes for low-density housing be adhered to.

In other actions the Regional Planning Commission:

— Voted to recommend to the Board of Supervisors that Hacienda Boulevard, from Skyline Boulevard to Canada Sombre Road in Hacienda Heights, be widened and realigned.

— Agreed to withdraw Parcel Map 2640 showing a subdivision of one acre of land south of Tree Palms Street east of Dunswell Avenue in Hacienda Heights.

— Agreed that a proposed three-acre tract north of Rorimer Street west of Deepmead Avenue in the La Puente area be dissolved. This site is being proposed as a county park.

Doctor sues Covina hospital in dispute over work load

COVINA — A radiologist here has sued the Inter-Community Hospital for $6 million charging that the hospital tried to force him to work there on a full-time basis.

The radiologist, Dr. John H. Hancock, contends that since hospital administrators are lay people, the doctors cannot be their employes, because that would mean the doctors would be "the agents of lay people."

He said only doctors can practice medicine; hospitals cannot.

The suit filed in Superior Court in Pomona, stems from an allegation that the hospital tried to force Hancock to sign a contract of full-time employment which included giving up his private practice at Parkside X-Ray Laboratories.

Hancock said when he refused to sign, the hospital tried to run him out of business by undercutting his fees.

The hospital administration has denied all of the allegations. Joseph W. Cook, director of the hospital, called Hancock's interpretation of the law "ridiculous."

Minimum standards set

Claremont giving reins for horse zone to citizens

CLAREMONT — The City Council has passed for first reading an ordinance through which horse owners can set up an equestrian overlay district in their neighborhood if they live north of Base Line Road.

The owners would apply to the city for a conditional use permit to se up the district on at least five acres.

The new ordinance provides for three types of minimum size lots. A property owner living outside the city and having horses before being annexed must have at least a 10,000 square-foot lot.

He must have 10,000 square feet for one horse and an additional 5,000 square feet for other horses.

A horse owner living in the city must have a 15,000-square-foot lot to keep one horse. He can have up to four horses, but must provide an additional 5,000 square feet for each additional horse.

Persons deciding to keep horses after their property is annexed to the city must provide a 20,000-square-foot lot for the first horse, and 5,000 square feet for each additional horse.

The Planning Commission may grant permission for the keeping of more than four horses when the property is larger than an acre and the keeping of additional horses is compatible with the surrounding property.

Planning Commissin Chairman Enid Douglass told that council that "Ideally, if you start from scratch, a half-acre lot is suitable for horses. We don't believe that a person should have a horse if the size of the property is only 10,000 square feet."

Councilwoman Clarie McDonald inquired how many developers will come to the city and offer to develop 20,000-square-foot lots.

City Manager Keith Mulrooney explained that Commissioner Robert Anderson was an adviser during discussions, and that Anderson felt it is not fair to a horse to roam on a small lot. "In many cases you are talking about the keeping of several horses," Mulrooney said.

Mrs. McDonald said that the using of different size lots was discriminatory, but that she was willing to give the ordinance a try.

The ordinance also defines corral and stable requirements, sanitation and maintenance, and access.

The Planning Commission, under the ordinance, will require installation of bridle trails in the equestrian district, and Councilman Gene Block questioned whether there would be a maintenance-problem on the trails.

Mayor Bertye Smith asked if the city could establish a surcharge or horse tax to maintain the trails. City Atty. William Bergman agreed that such could be done.

City Planning Director Sharon Hightower explained that before the city's animal ordinance went into effect in July 1972 persons could own horses north of Claremont High School. The ordinance gave horse owners a year to get rid of their charges if they did not own the required one acre of land.

Under the new regulations horse owners may get together and request a horse overlay district if they meet the minimum lot size requirements. Otherwise, a person living north of Base Line Road must own an acre to keep a horse.

Public speaking made public

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

Had an unnerving experience the other day. Came home to find my wife sitting in a chair with her head lolling forward like a rag doll, reading aloud from a piece of paper on the floor at her feet.

I've been expecting her to pop her mainspring for some time now, but still it came as a shock, you know? And supper not even on the table.

As I headed for the telephone to ring up the men from the laughing academy (they've been expecting my call) she stopped me haughtily, if slightly red of face.

"The shyest clubwoman," she panted, "can overcome her fear of public speaking by talking at home. That's what I'm doing."

"That's what you're always doing," I said, edging nearer the fire tongs. "Who says you're a clubwoman? Who says you're shy?"

She got to the tongs before I did (they're cat-quick at certain stages) and when I awoke in bed the next day with my head in a turban of tape and gauze (eight stitiches), she gave me "Everybody's Book of Better Speaking" by Dorothy Uris.

Sure enough, Miss Uris, a speech teacher, or teach speecher, urged diffident females faced with a talk in public, to slump over like a drunk in the subway, and read the speech from the floor for practice.

"When you go to the meeting," crooned Miss Uris, "you should feel just that relaxed."

If word gets around, the next PTA meeting is going to look like ladies' night in an opium den.

Miss Uris said that poise and confidence in public speaking can be achieved through practice at the family dinner table. This I would rather not hear.

What sort of business can any club consummate, even a PTA, if the talk is composed of "Keep your elbows off the table," and "Why were you late for dinner?" and "Yes, you DO have to eat your squash" and "Do you mean to tell me you washed those hands?" and "Just why was it necessary to fire that nice old Miss Algernon and hire a new secretary who wears miniskirts?"

"Talking in public is really no different from talking in your own living room," Miss Uris said. Except that you have to talk LOUDER in your living room.

When you stand to speak in public, she said, "ground yourself." (Presumably in case of a lightning bolt.) Plant your feet firmly on the floor—she usually digs in with her toes—press your things against the chair in front of you, and rest your fingers lightly on the back.

It's a spectacle to astound the gods. All those stocking footed matrons, their toes curling on the cold gymnasium floor, heaving their be-girdled thighs against the folding chairs, babbling confidently of rummage sales and eighth-grade dances, while on the stage in front of them the PTA officers sit with their heads hanging down like tired irises, mumbling the speeches at their feet.

Personally, I'll take the good old blushing, tongue-tied clubwoman. At least she keeps her shoes on and her head up.

'Agonizing' over decision says Younger

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — State Attorney General Evelle J. Younger said Wednesday his decision whether to enter the governor's race is an agonizing one because he doesn't know if Republican Party members will be willing to support his campaign.

They may be so "turned off" by politics, he said, that it would be impossible to put together a viable campaign.

Younger called that a critical factor in his decision, which he said he may not announce for another several weeks.

"I honestly haven't made a decision yet," Younger told reporters before addressing a meeting of the Women Lawyers Association of Los Angeles.

"I'm not playing games. I want to make up my mind and announce a decision on this. I don't enjoy this."

Younger said he was "spending a good deal of time agonizing over what to do."

He said, however, he would stand for re-election as attorney general if he doesn't decide to seek the GOP nomination for governor.

Younger said it would be "traumatic" not to be attorney general when he feels he could still do a lot in office, unlike some of his fellow Republican office holders who may make a gubernatorial bid.

"(Ed) Reinecke would just as soon raise cattle as be lieutenant governor," Younger said. Houston Flournoy, he said, has done what he wanted to do as controller and it is now either up or out.

Claremont High

Students offer ideas for better career fair

CLAREMONT — The Claremont Unified School District's first career fair Oct. 17 has been declared a success, but the fair's vocational advisory committee has received constructive suggestions to make the 1974 fair even better, the school board has larned.

LeRoy Hughes, Caco-Pacific Division, Amerace Corp., a committee member, told the board that there was no littering at the fair held at Taylor Hall. "We received the impression that the students were reading the material they had picked up at different booths, and would take the material home."

According to an evaluation report, students who attended the fair suggested more extensive professional career booths, such as doctors and engineers, more ideas in college areas more cultural careers, and a larger facility with more booths.

They complained that the occupational displays were technologically oriented and were lacking in fine-arts types of jobs.

One student suggested that the jobs represented by the 32 businesses do not pay enough. Another asked for more noticeable booth signs, and mentioned that the literature ran out too quickly in some areas.

Teachers called the fair very worthwhile, but suggested that it be larger, have more occupational areas represented, and more junior colleges. They called the fair very successful, said it "just needs refinements," such as more information to teachers, and more conspicuous booth identity. A teacher suggested that more females be represented.

Occupational representatives suggested an outdoor exhibit section for large equipment, said it should be limited to juniors and seniors, and that the timing in the fall was good.

Another representative said he was glad junior high students were included. "It's not too early to start exposing them to career information and planning," he said.

Hughes explained that the fair had been put on at no expense to the district. He said he was disappointed that very few parents attended during the evening session and mentioned that lack of parents might have been attributed to the fact that the World Series was been televised.

Hughes said that cooperation with the high school was outstanding.

A popular memento was a plastic disk with the Claremont wolfhead inscribed. Hughes donated the die and the students at Claremont High stamped out the pieces and gave them out at the fair.

Mrs. Lynda Veatch, Claremont High vocational coordinator, screened for the board colors slides taken during the fair by the students.

Africa dust pollutes air in Caribbean

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Caribbean is experiencing a reduction to sunlight because of dust whipped up by hot desert winds blowing across the parched grasslands of Africa which is crossing the Atlantic in increasing amounts, according to government scientists.

The atmospheric dust layer seems to be suppressing the growth of cumulus clouds over the tropical Atlantic and may even affect the growth of tropical disturbances into hurricanes, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) said.

Concentrations of red brown dust in the summer and lesser amounts of black dust in the winter in the skies over Barbados in the West Indies have tripled since the beginning of the great African drought in 1968.

As a result, Dr. Toby N. Carlson of NOAA's research laboratory in Miami said the transparency of the air over the West Indies has been transformed at times into the hazy conditions normally found over industrialized areas of North America.

"The difference is that the 'pollution' consists of natural soil particles and is concentrated much more at 10,000 feet than at the surface,' he said.

Nature Nearbys request

Extended footpath denied by council

CLAREMONT — The City Council has gone along with the Parks and Recreation Commission's recommendation that Nature Nearby's request for extension of a footpath up Sycamore Canyon be denied.

The commission based its recommendation on the need for a master plan of the canyon, and said that if the master plan is not completed by April 1, the commission would review the Nature Nearby request after that time.

In other actions, the council did the following:

—Referred to staff the sale of a 20 by 300-foot strip of land west of Mt. Baldy Road to Mr. and Mrs. D. Sydney Brown. The staff will negotiate the price with the Browns. Ten years ago the city bought a 90-by-300-foot parcel from the Browns for planned extension of Mt. Baldy Road and construction of the Thompson Creek flood control channel. The city abandoned the plans and now the Browns want to buy back part of the land on which to build a house.

—Received a ruling from City Atty. William Bergman that the council cannot permit a delayed filing of a candidate's statement of qualifications. Bergman cited the state law providing for the filing of a statement of qualifications when the candidate's nomination papers are returned. City Council candidate Lawrence Little had asked if he could file his statement late.

—Denied a claim of Joseph Paul, 1230 Cambridge Ave. who asked for $20 for the replacement of four trash containers which the city's rubbish pickup crew had taken along with his rubbish.

Public Works Supervisor George Duffy reported that Paul's trash cans had been repeatedly tagged as unsafe.

—Continued until the next council meeting the matter of resurfacing the wall behind the park sign at Mallows Park. Miss Winifred Mallows, for whose father the park was named, wrote a letter to the council and asked why the wall had not been repaired after a car smashed into it and knocked off some letters in the park sign.

City Manager Keith Mulrooney estimated that the cost of restoring the wall is $600, and reported that a Claremont resident, Dennis Wheeler, had talked about raising the money privately.

—Agreed to hold a public hearing to vacate Colorado Street, a dead-end street in Claremont Men's College, which had requested that the street be designated private instead of public.

—Agreed to join the city of Baldwin Park in legal proceedings to change the distribution formula of the state sale and use tax. The agreement will not be forwarded to the attorney until enough cities have joined in to lower the cost of the suit to three cents per capita. Mulrooney estimated that the city might receive $73,000 more under Baldwin Park's proposd for-ee Baldwin Park's proposed formula.

Two officers suspended for gun violations

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — The Riverside Sheriff's Department suspended two officers who violated the department's gun policy during a narcotics investigation last week.

Under sheriff Robert Presley said Wednesday that Sgt. Virgil Woodward and Det. Gerald Driscoll have been suspended for an unannounced time for shooting out the tires of a man whose home was being searched for marijuana.

Presley said the incident occurred as the man whose home was being searched backed his car out of the driveway.

The department policy on guns, the undersheriff said, stipulated that an officer can fire his weapon only in defense of his life or that of another person.

Jail for war foe

Three billion dependents in tax return

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Lyle Snider, a 28-year old Quaker school teacher who said he wanted to protest American involvement in Southeast Asia, claimed a large family or his 1971 tax withholding form—three billion persons.

Snider, of Durham, N.C., claimed the world's population as dependants, citing his own religious convictions as grounds. But the U.S. district court for the middle district of North Carolina sentenced Snider to eight months in jail for his action, and then tacked on another 30-day term after the Quaker refused on 15 different occasions to stand when the court ordered him to do so.

"It is my sincere religious belief that, as an individual, I have the duty not to make a symbolic physical gesture of obedience to governmental authority, such as standing in the presence of a judge," Snider said.

In his appeal Thursday to the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, Snider's attorney, Richard Hobbett, claimed the conviction "was obtained at the expense of a serious distortion of tax laws," and that other relief could have been found.

Hobbett told the court that Snider's claim to three billion dependents was "so absurd that no reasonable person could have relied on it," and two members of the three-judge panel apparently agreed with him.

Judge J. Braxton Craven said that if Snider actually thought he would avoid paying taxes because of his dependent claim, "he was the dumbest crook ever, because there was no way in the world he would ever get away with it."

Judge Harrison L. Winter said, in questioning former U.S attorney William Osteen about events leading up to charges against Snider, that he shared judge Craven's view.

"I must confess that my initial reaction in his saying three billion dependents would be that he was either some kind of a nut or that this is obviously a symbolic action of some kind because it strains the credibility. . ."

Osteen told the judges that Snider was charged with filing a false withholding statement simply because he broke the law, not because of his religious or political views.

The panel took the appeal under advisement.

Wrong man fingered in robbery case

NEW YORK (UPI) — It looked like an open and shut case against George Morales, 19, a high school honor student. The woman he was accused of robbing at knifepoint positively identified him, and he had no foolproof alibi.

Even his defense attorney recommended that he plead guilty and hope for probation. Morales spent three days in jail where he was beaten by inmates while his family raised $1,000 bail. Then he fired his lawyer, quit school, got a job to pay for legal fees and refused to admit to the robbery.

Morales' struggle, which began Oct. 10, 1972, ended when the real robber, who looks like Morales, confessed to the holdup. State Supreme Court Justice Burton Roberts dismissed charges against Morales Thursday and praised him for his faith in justice.

The real robber is serving several prison sentences for other crimes.

The victims of the robbery, Marina Danzig, attended Thursday's session and afterward apologized to Morales, whom she had identified in several lineups as the man who robbed her of $5 Oct. 4, 1972. She spotted him six days later as he walked to school and called police.

Morales, who said he was beaten in jail because "I was the new kid on the block," said he was not bitter. "I can see how it would happen," he said.

Reds using girl fighters in Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Toch Voan, a petite shy girl, looks as though she would be more at home playing with dolls than American-made M16 rifles and preparing to fight "American imperialists."

But until her capture last Sunday by Cambodian government troops, 14-year-old Toch Voan was a rifle-carrying foot soldier of the Khmer Rouge guerrillas' 129th battalion.

Toch Voan said there currently are two such battalions engaged in the heavy fighting northwest of Phnom Penh, each with about 350 girls and young women, and each commanded by a woman.

Toch Voan was one of six girls presented to local and foreign journalists Thursday by the Cambodian high command. Officers of the command did not interfere with the questioning of the girls by newsmen.

The six girls were all captured last Sunday at Samrong, about four miles northwest of Phnom Penh, the same day insurgent forces launched a major offensive in the region.

Toch Voan, who giggled and tugged at her dirty black pajama guerrilla uniform throughout the interview, said she was abducted by insurgent forces two months ago from her village.

She said she and about 10 other boys and girls were taken to insurgent-held territory for two weeks of training.

"We couldn't resist, because those people who took us away said they would kill us and our families if we refused," she said through an interpreter.

Toch Voan said she was issued an M16 rifle captured from government troops and 40 rounds of ammunition.

In addition to basic military training, Toch Voan said the girls attended political classes. "The leaders told us we were going to fight the traitorous clique of (Cambodian President) Lon Nol and the American imperialists," she said.

All of the girls said the insurgents lived well and had a plentiful supply of dried beef and rice. But she said a few guerrillas said they lacked ammunition.

When the current insurgent offensive began last Sunday, Toch Voan and the others were told to stay in a trench and not to fire until told to do so.

Toch Voan said she never fired a shot.

Car kills girl

Death stalks driver going to son's side

MIAMI (UPI) — When his wife called to say his four-year-old son had been struck and badly injured by a hit-and-run driver Raymond Joseph Ruth left his office early. Driving home, his tragedy became a double one.

Police said Valerie Ann Berstein, 13, was riding her bicycle toward traffic when her bike wavered into the path of Ruth's car.

The impact carried the girl and her bike 201 feet, killing her instantly.

Police said other children coming home from school with Valerie told investigators the girl's bike may have hit a bump and that it wobbled for an instant before swinging into the path of Ruth's car.

No charges were filed against the 27-year-old Ruth. He went home, and to the hospital where his son, John, was undergoing surgery to repair punctures of the liver and other internal bleeding.

Police said the boy was playing under a tree beside the street near his house when a car struck him. The driver drove away, but officers searching the area found a damaged car and arrested Ron K. McMahan, 20, on charges of hit-and-run.

An older brother of Raymond Ruth said at the Ruth home, "He's not doing too good, not too good at all."

"He's been such a good kid all his life," said Donald Ruth of his brother, Ray. "He doesn't deserve two tragedies in one day. I feel bad for him and so sorry for the others."

Ganesha, 'Pack unbeaten in SAL

Giants rally to down Chino, 50-43

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Ganesha High has been rising to the occasion when put in a pressure situation almost all season.

The Giants did it again Friday night.

Ganesha, going into its second San Antonio League game of the season as the CIF 3-A's No. 8 ranked team, put together a last-minute rally to down the visiting Chino Cowboys in the Giant gym, 50-43.

Rated as one of the top games of the season, both Chino and Ganesha displayed great defensive games. But it took two Cowboys turnovers late in the game which gave Ganesha the opportunity to pull away and remain unbeaten in league play.

Chino, playing without its 6-foot-7 center Dirk Story (flu), went into the game ranked No. 6 in the CIF polls and had recorded only one loss in 11 outings.

"I was scared to death when I found out Story wasn't going to play," stated Ganesha coach Gary Fulkerson after the victory. "When a team loses a player like that, it usually plays harder to make up for it."

And it did.

After trailing the whole game, the Cowboys came back to tie the score at 38-all with four minutes to play. The visitors eventually took a one-point lead on forward Mark Milton's free throw with 3:10 remaining, but immediately lost it when Ganesha center Cleve Porter dumped in a field goal to put the Giants back on top.

Ganesha forward Gary George then converted on a field goal and a free throw after the two Cowboy turnovers and the Giants were quickly four points ahead. And with one minute left in the game, Giant forward Broderick Hunter added a field goal to give Ganesha what turned out to be the deciding bucket.

Ganesha took the upper hand early in the game taking a 13-4 advantage late in the first period. In fact, Chino was unable to score until guard Manny Delgado scored from the field with 2:50 left in the quarter.

The Cowboys pulled to within five points when the quarter came to an end, but Ganesha quickly pulled to an 11-point lead early in the second stanza, 19-8.

Chino couldn't get any closer than three points through the rest of the game until the fourth quarter. After reserve guard Jim Love dumped in two field goals at the end of the third period to bring Chino to within four points, 38-34, the Cowboys scored the next two buckets to tie it up.

"We played great defense," Fulkerson praised. "But we didn't shoot worth a damn. I don't know how many shots bounced off the back of the rim and came out. Hunter just couldn't hit from the outside.

"I really didn't expect Chino to be that tough," Fulkerson added.

The Cowboys looked like they were going to take command in the fourth quarter when they continually capitalized on Giant turnovers to cut a 10-point lead to four in a minute and a half.

Ganesha, now 11-3 on the season, should move up in next week's CIF polls after the win.

But Chino, hoping to have Story and forward Mike Coppess back by the second round, should be really tough.

Porter finished the game Friday night as the game's leading scorer with 17 points. Giant guard Earl Wilson was the only other Ganesha player to score in double figures.

Chino had three double-figure scorers in center Tim Smith (12), Milton (13) and guard Bob Hairston (10.)

Wolfpack holds off Damien, 77-70

By TOM FAHEY
P-B Correspondent

CLAREMONT — The Claremont High Wolfpack withstood a late Damien Spartan surge and went on to register their second San Antonio League victory, 77-70, Friday night at Claremont.

The Wolfpack, which led most of the night, saw their lead cut to three points with a little over two minutes to play.

The Spartans had arrived at the three point deficit after trailing 71-63 with three minutes remaining.

John Pignotti hit an outside jumper to make the score, 71-65. Larry Pekarcik, Damien's center, then was fouled in the backcourt by Bruce Abraham and sank his first free throw.

When his second try missed, Gerard Piccicni rebounded and dropped in a bucket from five feet out and the Spartans were back in the contest at 71-68.

However, the Wolfpack would not be stopped and came back in the final two minutes on the strength of their expert foul shooting.

One of the drawbacks of the game was the job by the officials.

Fouls were being called left and right, with four technicals thrown in for good measure. Damien was cited 21 times while the Wolfpack was guilty on 24 counts.

The Spartans shot a miserable 52 per cent from the charity line, 12-23, while the Wolfpack hit on 25 of 27 attempts for a 93 per cent figure.

The Wolfpack controlled most of the game, using a fast break to keep the Spartans from gaining any ground.

Claremont led after the first quarter 19-12, but then saw the Spartans come back.

Bot teams were tied at 23-23 with four minutes left in the half, but the Wolfpack then outscored the Spartans 14-3 to take a 37-26 halftime lead.

Damien could not come back in the third quarter and trailed by as many as 17.

The Spartans, who rely on their outside shooting, could not find the hoop until it was too late.

Guard Bill Karr, who is usually a dead-eye missed on his first ten attempts before he connected late in the third quarter.

Reggie Goldsmith led the Wolfpack attack, pouring in 22 points mostly from close in. He also hit on 10 of 10 at the free throw line.

Todd Ervin, Claremont's playmaker, chipped in with 16 points, while the Wolfpack's other guard, Rip Sears, threw in 14.

Goldsmith and Ervin were the main reason for the Spartans inability to regain the lead that they had held momentarily at the outset of the game, 2-1.

The Spartan's offensive charge was led by Pignotti who had a game high of 23 points.

He was followed by the other four starters on his team who also hit in double figures.

The boards saw some tough rebounding with Claremont's Abraham and Rob Fossum leading the way. Damien countered with Pekarcik and Cornell Kasbergen who held their ground against the taller men from Caremont.

Claremont, the No. 3 rated team in CIF, will now continue in their quest for the title, playing Upland in their next meeting.

Top players vie in Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — The nation's top graduating college football players perform today in the Senior Bowl game before scores of pro scouts, but Alabama running back Wilbur Jackson doesn't think the contest will significantly affect the draft.

"It's a game where you can try to impress people," said Jackson, who will play for the South. "But from watching me all year, they (the pro scouts) know what I can do.

"This one game won't matter that much," Jackson said, "but it could help me some."

Although it's an all-star game with players shuttling in and out of the lineup, Jackson may end up seeing more action than he did during an average game with the national champion Crimson Tide, which was unbeaten in 11 regular season games.

Jackson, one of the country's leading running backs, carried the ball only 95 times in 1973, an average of less than nine times per game, and gained 752 yards for a 7.9 yard average. Coach Bear Bryant used a stable of running backs each game.

Heisman Trophy winner John Cappelletti, who gained 1,572 yards for Penn State in 1973, is among seven All-Americas who will play for the North in the contest, which begins at noon (CDT) at Ladd Memorial Stadium here.

The others are starting quarterback David Jaynes of Kansas, wide receiver Lynn Swann of Southern California, lineman Daryl White and John Dutton of Nebraska and Lucious Selmon of Oklahoma and defensive back Artimus Parker of Southern Cal.

The South has two All-Americas, center Billy Wyman of Texas and offensive lineman Buddy Brown of Alabama. Danny White of Arizona State will start at quarterback for the South.

Cappelletti suffered a cut under his eye during a practice session this week and five stitches were required to close the wound, but it was not expected to affect his performance.

Coach Mike McCormack of the Philadelphia Eagles is in charge of the North squad while coach Don McCafferty of the Detroit Lions directs the South.

The South won the 1973 game 33-30.

Hondo torrid but L.A. wins

BOSTON (UPI) — Connie Hawkins exploded for 14 of his 22 points in the third period Friday night as the Los Angeles Lakers stormed from a seven-point halftime deficit to top the Boston Celtics, 111-103, in a National Basketball Association game.

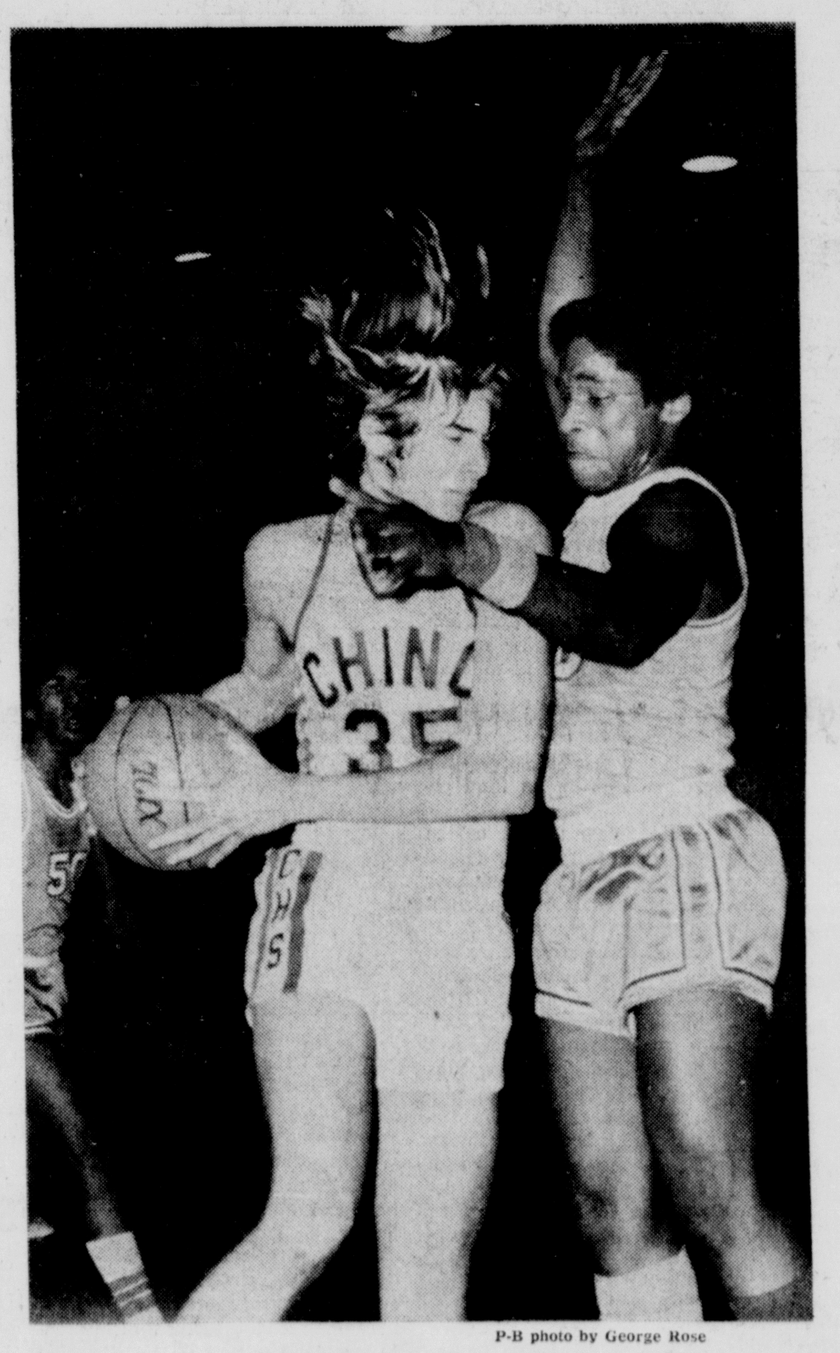

Boston's John Havlicek scored 26 points, bringing his career total to 20,003—making him just the eighth player in N.B.A. history to reach that plateau.

The Lakers, trailing 46-39 at intermission, reeled off a 14-4 spree at the start of the third period to take the lead for the first time. The Celtics got their fast break moving and regained the lead, going ahead 64-58 midway through he period.

But the Lakers ran off 10 straight points, six of them by Hawkins, to grab a 74-68 lead after three periods and were never headed.

Boston dominated the first half which featured poor shooting at both ends of the court. The Celtics jumped to a quick 10-2 lead but the Lakers tallied eight straight to tie the game.

Boston shot a poor 37.3 in the first half but the Lakers hit on just 23 per cent of their shots in the same span.

GIANT ROAD BLOCK

Chino High's Bob Hairston (35) finds out his road to the basket is blocked by Ganesha's Earl Wilson. Ganesha defeated Chino Friday night in SAL action, 50-43.

Who needs Bill? Bruins bop Cal

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Forward Keith Wilkes scored 20 first half points as UCLA, playing without center Bill Walton for the first time in three seasons, raced past California 92-56 in a Pacific-8 conference game Friday night for their 86th straight win.

The victory for the defending national champions was also their 29th straight over the Bears since 1961.

Wilkes, who finished with 24 points after playing only 11½ minutes of the second half, hit on nine of 11 shots from the floor. He also ran his free throw streak to 27 in a row before missing on his second attempt.

Wilkes did not attempt a field goal in the second half.

Walton, who suffered a bruised back in UCLA's win over Washington State last Monday, was replaced by 7-1 sophomore Ralph Drollinger and 6-9 freshman Richard Washington. Both scored eight points each.

The Bruins led 44-22 at the half.

Walton, who did not suit up, was not expected to play in Saturday afternoon's televised contest with Stanford. He will probably see action against Iowa in Chicago Jan. 17.

UCLA, scoring its 11th win of the season, also got 11 points each from guard Greg Lee and forward Marques Johnson and 10 points from guard Pete Trgovich.

The Bruins, who have won the NCAA crown in nine of the past 10 years, also set a new Pac-8 win streak record with 46 conference wins dating back to 1970.

Walton may miss Irish

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — UCLA coach John Wooden said Friday night All-America center Bill Walton has not recovered as expected from a bruised back muscle and may miss top-ranked UCLA's meeting with No. 2-ranked Notre Dame Jan. 19.

Wooden, commenting in the locker room following UCLA's 92-56 win over California, said Walton might have suffered more serious damage than previously thought.

Trojans stop Cards, 64-57

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Clint Chapman hit for 22 points Friday night as Southern California outfought Stanford 64-57 in a hotly contested Pacific-8 game.

The Trojans overcame a 34-32 halftime deficit to stretch its season record to 11-2. It was the third straight Pac-8 defeat by Stanford and gave the Cardinals a 5-6 over all mark.

The score was tied six times and changed hands three other times.

Chapman was Southern Cal's only player in double figures, but Dan Anderson and Biff Burrell each tallied seven in the second half.

The Trojans took the lead for keeps 53-52 on a layup by John Lambert. Burrell followed with three free throws and a layup to give Southern Cal a 58-52 lead with 4:29 to go.

The first half was tight throughout with Southern Cal enjoying the biggest margin of six points, 19-13, on two quick field goals by Chapman 9:14 into the period.

Stanford took a lead for the first time, 26-24 on a five-foot turnaround shot by 6-foot-11 sophomore Tim Patterson with 4:21 remaining in the first period. Southern Cal fought back to a 32-32 tie on a free throw by Gus Williams.

Devils nip Upland

POMONA—The Red Devils issued a warning Friday night that they are not to be forgotten in this tight wire act called the San Antonio League race. Pomona High put it together at a jam-packed Red Devil gym and edged the hot shooting Upland Highlanders, 70-67.

The way coach Ed Taylor was mobbed after the exciting win you'd have thought Pomona had just won the National title—and beat UCLA to get it.

When asked who the outstanding Devils for the game were Taylor remarked, "Everybody . . . that's why we had eight co-captains tonight."

But it was Derrick Thomas' free throw with 1:12 left in the game that provided the margin of victory. The 5-11 guard, who scored eight points in his best all-around effort of the year, sank the charity to give Pomona a 68-64 lead.

Upland kept the game in suspense when Curt Oldenkemp's three-point play with 45 seconds remaining cut the gap to 68-67.

Red Devil center John Weiman, who took game-scoring honors with 22 points, scored on a six-foot hook shot with seven seconds showing on the clock to put the game in the cooler.

"I hope this game gives us the lift we've needed for a long time," said Taylor. "We play Ganesha there Tuesday."

Pomona — in SAL play, returns to the courts today hosting a 3:30 p.m. contest with Big Bear. Upland, now 0-2 in league play, hosts Claremont Tuesday.

The Highlanders, who shot a torrid 50.9 per cent from the floor connecting on 28 of 55 attempts, jumped out to a 7-1 lead before the Devils could get untracked.

Pomona rebounded with four straight points, to make it 7-5, and the teams exchanged buckets the remainder of the opening quarter. The Scots held a slim 19-14 edge as Curt Oldenkamp tallied tight points.

Trailing 23-17 early in the second quarter, Pomona enjoyed an 8-2 scoring binge to pull to within a bucket, 25-24. Upland widened the margin to 31-26 only to have the Red Devils take a 10-4 scoring burst and a 36-35 lead to the locker room at intermission.

Pomona, which shot 40.5 per cent from the floor hitting on 30 of 74 attempts, spurted to a 45-41 advantage only to have the Scots turn the tide and outscore Taylor's club 11-6 and trail Pomona 52-51 entering the final eight minutes of play.

Upland's Orien Ogg, who didn't start the game because of disciplinary reasons, hit three quick field goals while Wieman (four poonts) and Mike Yarborough, who did an outstanding job on the boards (nine caroms) and scored 11 points, added a two-pointer.

The Scots' Stu DuVall, who finished with 21 points and 14 rebounds, extended the lead to 60-57 only to watch Pomona erupt for eight unanswered points, four from Jerome Holliman who finished with 11 points and seven boards.

Ogg and Wieman traded baskets and the Devils held their 67-62 lead with 2:24 to play.

DuVall the cut the deficit to three points only to have Thomas score what turned out to be the winning bucket.

Doug Moore kept Pomona in the game in the second perfiod with eight of his game-ending 13 points.

Ogg finished with 11 while Oldenkamp and Matusewicz sank 21 and 10 points, respectively.

Laub, Soper in bowling finals

Laub, from San Francisco, won seven games Friday to take the lead away from Allen for the first time all week. Laub's only loss came against Soper, 243-218.

Cavs beat Garey

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Correspondent

POMONA — When discussing the 1974 San Antonio League basketball race, the one word that has crept up in conversations most frequently is "balance."

The eight-team loop seems to be like a pair of scales with 20 pounds of feathers on one end and 20 pounds of steel hanging from the other.

There are distinct differences, but everything seemingly balances out.

This was very apparent Friday night at Garey High School as Montclair scored a 62-54 victory over the Vikings to make both teams 1-1 in SAL play.

It was a big win for Lanny Moore's Cavaliers, especially coming on the road. And a loss Friday night, after the heartbreaking overtime defeat to Ganesha in the league opener, might have dealt Montclair an emotional blow that it might never have recovered from.

Montclair won the game because of two things. First, the Cavs had a definite height advantage with 6-6 Mark Gosswiller and 6-4 Jim Brown clearing both backboards repeatedly, enabling Montclair to roll up a 44-32 rebound advantage.

The biggest reason for Garey's fifth defeat in 13 games was the plain fact that the Vikings were ice cold, and especially frigid in the second half when they connected on only 11 of 32 shots from the field.

The first quarter was as close as they come with score being tied on six different occasions. The Cavs came away with a 17-16 cushion after the first eight minute stanza.

The next period was more of the same, with two squads alternating streaks throughout Montclair jumped ahead by five (23-18) and then Garey came back to take over 28-25, behind the outside shooting of reserve guard Jerry Loftis.

The Cavs then scored six unanswered points to lead at the half, 31-28.

But the last two periods were when Gosswiller and Brown started asserting themselves and Montclair scored a 16-11 decision in the period which just about knocked out Garey for all intents and purposes. Garey scored the first nine points to grab the lead back at 37-33 as Montclair went nearly five minutes without scoring.

No one was going to run away with this game, however, and in the final three minutes, it was the Cavs' turn to go on a spree and they certainly did, outscoring the smaller Vikings, 14-2.

In that deciding stretch, Montclair scored six baskets and five of them were tallied underneath, thanks to the fine rebounding of Brown and Gosswiller.

These two tied for scoring honors in the game with 18 piece and Brown hauled in 13 rebounds while Goswiller was credited with 11.

The less experienced Garey team simply had no one who could find the range with any consistency, outside of Loftis. The three leading scorers for Garey, Billy Evans, Delbert McDonald and Gary Carpenter were limited to 12, 11 and 6 points respectively and had an aggregate shooting percentage of 32, as they went 12 for 37.

Each team will try to get back over the .500 level in SAL play Tuesday afternoon as Garey travels to Chino while Montclair will tangle with Damien at the Spartan gym.

Barton signs to play in WFL

TORONTO (UPI) — One-time NFL quarterback Greg Barton has resigned as the Toronto Argonauts' director of Canadian player personnel to join a team in the new World Football League, the Argonauts announced Friday.

The club did not say which team Barton would join in the new league.

Barton, 25, played for the Argos in 1971 and 1972 after joining the team from the Detroit Lions. Detroit had used him as a back-up quarterback.

Walnut beats SD

By FRED CLAIRE
P-B Correspondent

SAN DIMAS — Walnut High School remained undefeated in Hacienda League play here Friday night by defeating San Dimas High 66-54.

It was Walnut's second league win while the Saints now find themselves with a 1-1 mark.

The Mustangs' attack was paced by the outside shooting of guard Marcelo Maurin, the leading point producer in the game with 21.

The combination of Maurin's outside shooting and the rebounding of a tall front line trio composed of Kirk Christ, Lance Parrish and Steve Will was too much for the shorter Saints to overcome.

The hustling Saints held their own in a first quarter which ened in a 14-all deadlock.

Walnut held a 32-24 lead at halftime and then blew the game open by outscoring the Saints 20-12 in the third period.

The Saints started off on the right foot in the second half by scoring the first four points to cut the Mustangs' margin to four points, 32-28, but that was to prove the end to their threatening position.

With the score at 32-28 the Mustangs ripped off 12 consecutive points to increase their lead to 44-28. The Mustangs went the first two minutes of the second half without scoring but Maurin broke the ice with a field goal with 5:47 to play in the third period to open the scoring splurge. Will and Christ combined for the next 10 points with Will scoring six on three quick field goals.

The Mustangs had three players in the double figures as Christ scored 19 points and Parrish 10 in addition to Maurin's 21. Christ scored 13 of his points in the second half.

Greg McCrary led the Saints with 20 points and was a one-man show in the second half as he scored 16 points. Bobby Childress scored 14 points for the Saints.

The Saints made one final spurt in the fourth quarter after Walnut apparently had put the game away.

Young 'Hens crush Caltech; La Verne rolls over Toluca

Pomona-Pitzer spurted to a 26-6 lead over visiting Caltech Friday night and then coasted to a 79-45 victory.

In an exhibition game, La Verne walloped Toluca University of Toluca (Mexico), 101-68.

The Sagehens were led by center Geoff Northrop with 16 points and forward Brandon Boyd with 14. Boyd scored 12 of his points in the early part of the game while the 'Hens were taking their big lead.

Pomona-Pitzer outshot the the Beavers, making 35 of 67 field goal attempts while Caltech hit on only 21 of 54.

But the visitors outrebounded the Sagehens 40-35. Center Sam Locanthi of Caltech was the game's leading scorer with 19 points.

Subs Dave Coleman and Bill Harris sparkled with 21 points between them, 11 for Harris and 10 for Coleman, a little-used center.

Pomona-Pitzer, now 8-4 over all and 2-0 in league play, hosts Toluca University of Mexico in an exhibition game tonight.

Toluca may have lost to La Verne Friday night, but the Mexican school boasted the game's leading scorer in center Manual Pena who scored 38 of the visitors' 68 points.

The Leos, 2-9, are idle until Wednesday when they travel to Redlands and resume Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC) competition.

Coach Art Bias was able to give his subs some playing time Friday night. Bias used 14 players.

SLO defense too much

Broncos stomped

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

SAN LUIS OBISPO — Defense is the name of the game at Cal Poly SLO.

The Mustangs earned their sixth victory in seven games Friday night by shutting off the Poly Pomona Broncos, 63-52, to open California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) basketball action.

SLO entered the game fourth in the NCAA Division II statistics with a 62.1 defensive average, helped by a 52.8 mark during their current streak.

Obviously, the Broncos helped keep that defense average down as the Mustangs' tight one-two-two zone bottled the Pomona attack.

The Broncos, who were held to their lowest point total of the season, must try to bounce back tonight against Cal State Bakersfield at the Bakersfield Civic Auditorium.

Even though Pomona lost by 11, they almost pulled off a comeback in the second half.

Down by that margin at halftime, the Broncos bounced back to close the deficit to three, 53-50, before SLO broke it open with 10 straight points.

"We didn't quite do it, did we?" Pomona coach Don Hogan said. "We just can't put two good halves together. We just don't move the ball quick enough against the zone."

The shooting percentages tell the story as the Broncos could make only 24 of 61 shots for 39.3 per cent while SLO connected on 26 of 55 for 47.1 per cent. Pomona hit on 49.1 per cent in the second half but it still was not enough to overcome the 31.3 figure in the first half.

SLO also enjoyed a big 37-30 edge in the rebound department, with both teams being charged with 15 turnovers.

Forward Dave Bush and guard Pinky Williams each scored 15 to pace the Mustange, while Horace Aubrey paced the Broncos with 14. Newcomer David Kennedy had a rough night in his Bronco debut in making only one of five shots.

Art Williams and Paul Newton led the Bronco second half comeback.

Trailing 46-34 with 10:09 left, the Broncos rallied for seven straight points with Art Williams scoring a key basket in the spurt.

SLO made 11 of 16 free throws, while the Broncos could hit on only four of nine opportunities.

Center Lee Roy Williams, who isn't effective against a zone defense, again ran into his usual foul problems, fouling out with 5:03 remaining. He stayed in the game long enough to lead the Broncos in rebounding with eight.

The Broncos go to Bakersfield with a 0-1 CCAA mark and 5-8 overall while SLO (7-6) has the task of trying to stop UCR tonight at SLO

Prep roundup

Locals defeated

Only the Christians survived the local basketball wars Friday, as high school hoop action saw the public schools drop their contests while the two Christian highs won.

Bonita dropped a 70-57 decision to Sierra Vista and Ontario was beaten by Royal Oak by a 56-52 count in Hacienda League games. Rowland lost its' Montview League game to Workman by a 56-42 count, while Ontario Christian dumped Whittier Christian 81-55 and Western Christian beat Valley Christian 54-43.

Sierra Vista's Dave Howard pumped in 23 points to prove the biggest problem for the Bearcats. H. P. Drake was held below his season average, scoring 17 points. Scott Johnson added 15 for Bonita.

Royal Oak and Ontario battled on even terms throughout their contest, until a Jaguar stall backfired in the final moments. Ontario turned the ball over twice while in the stall, each time for easy Royal Oak hoops.

Rory Pernot of the Romans led all scorers with 23 points, while Paul Gonzales played his best game of the season for Ontario with 22 markers.

Rowland fell behind 12-4 at the end of the first quarter and never did catch Workman.

Mounties put contender's role on line

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

COSTA MESA — Unaccustomed to its newly earned role as a contender in the South Coast Conference basketball race, Mt. San Antonio seeks its second victory of the campaign against once-beaten Oreange Coast tonight at 7:30.

The Mounties opened conference play Wednesday by stunning San Diego Mesa, 85-76, to share first place in the standings with co-favorites Santa Ana and Cerritos. The latter was an 82-55 winner over Coast, while Santa Ana stopped Fullerton, 103-90.

MSAC head coach Gene Victor has adopted "a one game at a time" approach to the rest of the season. "The only game on the schedule is the next one we play," he said.

His Mounties have now won five of their last six encounters and are approaching the .500 mark for the season at 7-10. But where it counts most, in the SCC standings, the Mounties are 1-0.

Coast, with a wealth of talent, is 13-6 for the season. Center Bob Manker, is the leading scorer with a 17-point per game average. Forwards Rod Snook (6-6), Jim Worthy (6-4) and guard Tom Crunk (6-2) all average in double figures. The other guard, Bruce Miller (6-2) is averaging 7.7 per game.

South Coast

	conference W	L	Pct.	overall W	L
Cerritos	1	0	1.000	15	4
MSAC	1	0	1.000	7	10
Santa Ana	1	0	1.000	15	5
Fullerton	0	1	.000	11	7
Orange Coast	0	1	.000	13	6
San Diego Mesa	0	1	.000	13	7

Tonight's games
MSAC at Orange Coast, 7:30 p.m.
Fullerton at Orange Coast, 7:30 p.m.
Fullerton at San Diego Mesa, 7:30 p.m.
Santa Ana at Cerritos, 7:30 p.m.

The Priates were careless with the ball against Cerritos in a game they wanted to win badly to set the tone for the rest of the conference schedule.

"Cerritos probably played its best game of the season," said one Coast official, "and we probably played our worst. In this league we could go 0-10."

That isn't likely, and neither is an undefeated conference schedule a possibility. Most observers see the champion or co-champions coming in with a record something like 8-2 or 7-3.

The Mounties were never given much of a chance as a contender until the shocker over Mesa, which went into the game with a 13-6 record.

Center Gary Nasg led MSAC's effort, canning 28 points and grabbing 12 rebounds. He was a dominant force at both ends of the floor.

Freshman forward Gary Melugin added 16 points, and three other Mounties were in double figures. It was Melugin's eighth double figure scoring effort in a row. It upped his average to nearly 14 points a game.

They like 'em big in Newton

NEWTON, Ill. (UPI) — The "Fifth Quarter," an interdenominational get-together that follows a Newton-Robinson high school game, goes in for record-breakers.

Last year hungry prep football fans dined on a banana split 61-½ feet long and a hot dog 160 feet long. The husky edibles were touted as the world's largest banana split and the world's longest hot dog.

Following the Newton-Robinson basketball game Friday night, the fans who turn out for the "Fifth Quarter" are to dine on what is billed as the world's largest pizza.

The Rev. Robert Feldman, pastor of the United Church of Christ, sponsor of the meeting, said the pizza will be 13 feet long and 3 feet wide.

Several pizza houses in the area will join culinary forces to produce the big pie.

"Hurry up," the man demanded, "and put the $50 bills in, too."

But Linda wasn't buying his sweet talk. She fell to the floor and the man ran away, leaving the candy.

Getty Museum in Malibu

MALIBU — Perched in the low hills overlooking the Pacific Ocean 55 miles west of Pomona sits the now-nearly-completed J. Paul Getty Museum, destined to become, according to a nationally known art critic, "one of this country's major cultural centers."

It was the conceit of Getty, reputed to be the richest American alive, that the museum would be a reconstruction of the Villa dei Papyri, a large Roman seaside villa at Herculaneum near Pompeii. The villa was the home of a wealthy patrician family of the 1st Century B. C., until it was destroyed by the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius in 79 A.D.

Eight thousand miles and 2,000 years removed from the original, the recreated Villa dei Papyri will open its doors to the public Wednesday. Admission is free.

The new museum is situated on 10 acres of Getty's 65-acre ranch adjacent to his residence, which he has not occupied for 22 years, and to the old and now outgrown Getty Museum, which opened in 1954. The treasures of the old museum have been transferred to the new structure, joining a trove of art objects added to the collection since Getty began it in the 1930s.

Humor still avoided

Network televisions soapers searching for new formats

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Network television's daytime soap operas are thrashing about, searching for new forms, or at least variations on the old. They have to be very careful, however. If they ever discover that there is humor in the world, an entire broadcasting institution built on misery could collapse.

Nonetheless, the search for something new in the soap opera field continues, prompted no doubt by the ratings loss a while back of some of the long-established daytime serials, and an attempt to inject new blood and attitudes into the Monday-through-Friday weepers.

Unquestionably, there has, for some time, been a good deal of frank, contemporary material in the soapers. In fact, they were, for quite a while, way ahead of prime time shows in this respect. And now, in turn, daytime melodramas are beginning, more and more, to borrow a prime time programming device: The long-form show.

A number of 90-minute, one-shot daytime television tales have been popping up, giving viewers a bit of an alternative to the standard form soapers and game shows that dominate morning and afternoon video. This week, in fact, ABC-TV has been offering a different 90-minute daytime story each afternoon. Here and there over the months, a one-shot tale for show merit, but by and large these productions don't stray too far from soap opera values and techniques.

The appeal of the longform approach, however, is currently so pronounced in daytime network video that NBC-TV plans to integrate it in standard running soap opera stories. In fact, on Monday, it introduced a new daily serial, "How to Survive a Marriage," with a 90-minute episode. The new daytime entry, which will deal with "the problem of separation and impending divorce as it confronts a couple after 12 years of marriage," normally will run 30 minutes each outing.

According to NBC-TV's Lin Bolen: "We feel that the expanded premiere offers an excellent opportunity to explore in some depth what the characters are all about, and will also provide...insight into the major conflicts in the story."

NBC-TV says this is "the first time a serial-drama has been launched in this form," and Miss Bolen adds: "It is an experiment which...will be used in the future not only to introduce new series, but to introduce new storylines within an existing series as well."

And to indicate the network interest in one-shot daytime offerings nowadays, NBC-TV says of the debut of "How to Survive a Marriage" that "a complete storyline will be self-contained within the 90-minute...espisode," meaning, apparently, it will double as a solo entry.

By the way, as further proof that video's daytime programming executives are working hard these days, a new NBC-TV morning game show series that bowed Monday has had its title changed from "Bank-o" to "Jackpot!" One can imagine the effort that went into that decision.

"The autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman," a two-hour special starring Cicely Tyson as a fictional former slave period of historic social change, and two lives to take part in the birth of the civil rights movement, will be persented on CBS-TV Jan. 31 ... NBC-TV's new middle-of-the-night talk series from California, "Tomorrow," hosted by Tom Snyder, will do six programs from New York City starting Jan. 21, and producer Rudy Tellez says: "We will travel to many cities in the coming year."

SENIOR CITIZENS—"Los Viejitos," the "dance of the little old men," is one of the authentic folk dances in the Padua Hills Theater production of "In Musical Michoacan." Performances at the Claremont theater are at 8:30 Wednesday through Saturday nights and at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, Saturdays and and Sundays. The musical continues through Feb. 23. Information and reservations can be obtained at 626-1288.

Council okays price hike for 8 tire makers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Cost of Living Council has approved the second price rise in three months for eight major tire makers.

The second round increases total $190 million, and average 3.28 per cent. Another $190 million dollars was approved by the Council last October.

The Council, announcing approval of the second increase Wednesday, said it would hold hearings Jan. 22 on another prenotification by the tire companies of increases totalling $209 million.

Picture 'possessed'

'Exorcist' needed one

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — "The picture, too, was possessed," says Jason Miller.

The picture he refers to is "The Exorcist," based on William Peter Blatty's huge bestseller dealing with the devil's possession of a little girl. girl.

Miller, who has been known more as a writer (he wrote "That Championship Season") than as an actor, has a key role in "The Exorcist." He plays Father Karras. So he's been in on the filming from the beginning.

Currently, there is a major fight raging between Blatty and director William Friedkin over the way the film was handled. Miller believes it's all part of the same possession.

"The Blatty-Friedkin problem," he says, "is, I think, just a lot of steam. It's part of the whole thing."

He itemizes the difficulties the production had as proof of his thesis. Once the set caught fire. Another time it was flooded when sprinklers went off without cause. A couple of people died during filming. Others were badly injured in freak accidents.

"For one small scene," he says, "we worked for six weeks in sub-freezing temperatures. Things kept going wrong. Everybody got sick. I did, too.'

Miller started out in Scranton, Pa., to be an actor. It was as a writer that he had his first big success. Now he's doing both. He'll write the screenplay when his big Broadway hit, "That Championship Season," becomes a movie.

He's also going ahead with his acting career. Following hard on the heels of "The Exorcist" he's got the lead in Bob Mulligan's "The Nickel Ride." He's in every scene.

"I'd like to do everything," he says. "I'd like to write, direct and act. That's the way the old-timers used to do things in the theater. I think the trend is toward that type of personal expression in films, too."

JASON MILLER

Miller lives in a New Jersey suburb of New York but he's considering moving to California. He says the whole east is crumbling.

"Broadway," he says, "is just one big men's room — the blood, the urine, the vomit. It's terrible. Going to the theater should be a lovely experience — not just the play itself but the whole evening.

"A theater should be in an area of fountains like you have here at the Music Center. It shouldn't be in an area where you have to run for your life. People who go to see plays in New York now have to test their bravery."

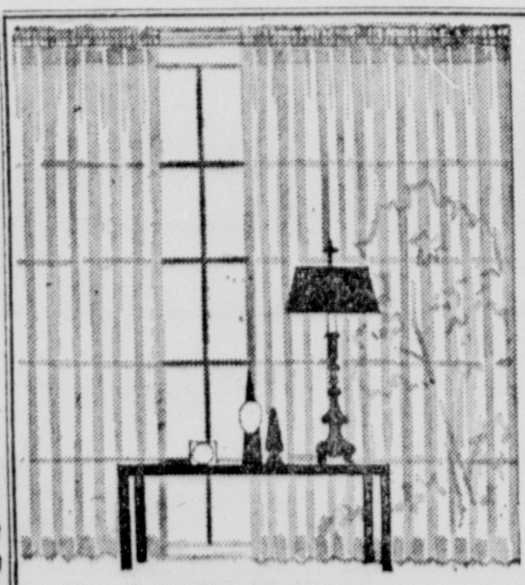

Miller thinks there is more vitality and creativity on the West Coast now than on the East.

"On Broadway today," he says, "you can no longer afford to experiment, to try new things."

Bringing the ancient villa to life in the Southern California hills were Langdon and Wilson, Los Angeles architects; Dr. Norman Neuerburg, architectural historian; Emmet Wemple, landscape architect; the Dinwiddie Construction Company and Stephen Garrett, consultant and deputy director of the museum. (Getty himself is the director.)

The museum houses three major collections — Western European Paintings, Greek and Roman Antiquities, and French Decorative Arts—in 38 galleries, from large halls to intimate chambers, totaling 48,000 square feet, about the size of the Ahmanson Galley of the county Museum of Art.

To Getty's extensive Italian Renaissance and Netherland Baroque collections, he has added a number of important new acquisitions including 14th Century Italian paintings and works by such French masters as Georges de la Tour and Francois Boucher.

The major Greek and Roman works are sculpture, one of Getty's chief interests. Here is the renowned Lansdowne Herakles in its shrine-like cupola, the Mazarin Venus, and an Amazon head from the Temple of Hera in Argos. With its 4th Century stelai and Greek and Roman portraiture, the museum houses, in the opinion of many art experts, a collection of antiquities ranking behind only the Metropolitan and Boston museums in this country.

The Decorative Arts collection features French furniture of the late 17th and 18th centuries, silver, ceramics, tapestries and Oriental carpets made for the royal household and French nobility.

The western vista of the resurrected Villa dei Papyri displays the 320-foot-long Peristyle Garden, adorned with plants, fountains, frescoes and colonnaded walks. The Inner Peristyle Garden is set within the main museum building, as it was in the original. There are smaller walled gardens and a vegetable garden growing fruits and vegetables native to Southern Italy.

The Getty Museum is developing an active educational program with USC, UCLA and other institutions for which it will provide a priceless reference and research center. A docent program is being launched to provide tours for adults and school groups.

In addition to its impressive art collections, the museum has a reference library of over 15,000 volumes concentrating on the three collections, a photo archive of more than 100,000 photographs of art from all periods, a conservation laboratory designed to serve the museum, private collectors, and California institutions, and a lecture theater seating 250.

Besides Garrett, a member of the Royal Institute of British Architects, Getty's staff includes curator of paintings Burton Fredericksen, adjunct curator of Renaissance and Baroque painting at the county Museum of Art; Dr. Jiri Frel, former associate curator of Greek and Roman art at New York's Metropolitan Museum, curator of antiquities; and Gillian Wilson, curator of decorative arts, formerly with the Victoria and Albert Museum in London.

Getty, now 80, maintains his home in London, but keeps up on the progress of the museum and its collections through telephone calls to Malibu, sometimes several a day. Of the new art center, the American billionaire wrote in a recent newspaper article, "I would like every visitor at Malibu to feel as if I had invited him to come and look about and feel at home."

The Getty Museum will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesdays through Saturdays, and from noon to 5 p.m. Sundays. It will be closed Mondays, Tuesdays and holidays.

To reach the museum, Pomona Valley residents should take the San Bernardino Freeway and Santa Monica Freeway to the Pacific Coast Highway, north on the highway to Sunset Boulevard, east on Sunset to Los Leones (first left turn) and north to the museum gates at the end of Los Leones.

Information can be obtained at (213) 454-2111.

ON THE COVER

The J. Paul Getty Museum in Malibu, the newest and one of the richest art centers in the country, will open its doors to the public Wednesday. The museum is patterned on a Roman villa in Herculaneum that was buried in an eruption of Mt. Vesuvius in 79 A.D. At top a workman prepares the "Crouching Aphrodite" for opening day.

A French drawing room with gilded mirrors, clocks and cabinets and tapestries after Boucher is part of the Decorative Arts collection.

"Zeus" is one of the priceless antiquities in the Roman and Greek collection.

5 Bonita jazzmen in Southland band

By KITTY WOODALL
Bonita Reporter

Five Bonita students recently have been chosen as members of the All Southern California Jazz Band. This is the largest number of students in history to have been selected from any one school.

Bonita's participants will make up one-fourth of the total band membership.

The students are: Robby Davis (string bass), Kevin Mason (French horn), Joe Movich (guitar), Bill Peters (trombone), and Bill Snyder, a veteran of last year's all-star band, (trombone).

"This is probably one of the most outstanding high school jazz groups in California," said Robin Snyder, Bonita band director.

Over 200 students from the Southern California region (San Diego-Santa Barbara) auditioned.

Each of the Bonita five has received various awards and is recognized as an outstanding musician in his own right.

The band, directed by John Price, director of jazz activities at Cal State Long Beach, will perform at various musical events throughout the year.

Vacation ends

Claremont campus quiet after holiday

By DAVE NIMMONS
Claremont Reporter

Well, we're back from vacation, and things are pretty quiet around these parts! As a matter of fact, it's so quiet that one might almost believe that we're keeping busy with classes and homework!

But, whatever the reason, not too much is happening at the moment. There are a few things going on, though, most notably in the drama department.

First of all, members of Claremont High's Thespian Troupe 2129 are out raising money. The reason for this is that they are in great need of funds if they are going to present the annual Thespian show.

The show this year will be the suspenseful thriller, "Nightwatch," to be performed (hopefully) Feb. 21, 22, and 23.

If you're interested, tickets may be purchased from any Thespian member or from the theatre office.

Junior theater

Here's something that might be of interest to the under-12 set: This week marks the final week of rehearsals for the drama department's first Junior Theatre show this year. The show, "The Butterfly That Blushed" features music, dancing and comedy. Members of the cast include: Robin Brooks, Jennifer Elder, David Gassner, Harold Sloane and Rosanne Sloane. Don Fruechte is directing the show, with Kathy Kilsby serving as assistant director.

Musical director for the production will be Alisa Allen. Ticket information and reservations for this weekend are available during the week at 624-9041 ext 289.

That's about all the news this week. Coming soon: What's going on with "MAME".

It's a musical

Pomona dramatists in 'Stop The World...'

By KEN SWART
Pomona Reporter

The well-known musical, "Stop The World . . . I Want To Get Off" by Anthony Newley and Lesley Briccus, will be performed by the Pomona High School drama department several times during January in the Devils' Ring Theater.

The first performance was last Thursday. It will be repeated Thursday, Jan. 17, at 3:30 p.m and Thursday, Jan. 24, at 7 p.m.

Tickets are $1 for adults and students without ASB cards, 75 cents with an ASB card and 50 cents for elementary school children. They may be purchased at the door.

This is the first in a series of musicals which will be performed at Pomona High Devils' Ring Theater during 1974. The drama theme for the 1973-74 school year is well-known musicals, and only musicals will be performed this year.

"Stop The World . . . I Want To Get Off" is directed by a drama student, Kathy Lane. The stars of the musical include: Frank Kohel as Littlechap, Peggy Weis as Evie, April Vahle and Darlene Dickinson as Susan and Jane and Gene Kohel as The Boy.

These people compose the necessary chorus for the musical: Nancy Feldman, Sharon Ivey, Gina Meister, Sue Mix and Debbie Nageotte.

The Devils' Ring Theater is in the fine-arts building on the Pomona High School campus.

Claremont AFS

Four to go abroad

The American Field Service Chapter at Claremont High School has selected four students to be sent abroad for 1974-75.

They are Roselle Kovitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Kovitz of 278 Wiley Court; Tanya Wodinsky, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Abraham Wodinsky of 2211 La Paz Drive; Andrew Vogel, son of Mrs. Eva Vogel of 553 Baughman Ave.; and Lisa Pompa, daughter of Mrs. Angelina Pompa of 667 Sebastopol St. and Melque Pompa of Fontana.

All four passed area selection and now are awaiting final word from AFS International in New York City.

These students, highly qualified to represent Claremont and the United States, must wait in hopes that qualified homes can be found for them in other countries.

When this final selection is made, they will spend next school year living with families abroad and attending schools with children of their host families.

Any family desiring to become a host family for a foreign student is requested to contact C. F. Myers of 2262 Tulsa Ave., 624-6485. The selection of homes to extend a similar American experience to foreign students now is being made.

Research analysis in Garey career program

By LUANNE HARDCASTLE
Garey Reporter

The Career Program at Garey High gave excellent opportunities to students who were looking for jobs or trying to get experience in a possible future career. December began a new tri-mester with other career selections, but this time there is one course, Research Analysis, headed by Mrs. Ginger Friedman, which will not only help students but hopefully the national energy crisis as well.

Students working in this career will research the possibility of getting all employes of the Pomona school district into car pools. Questionnaires were sent to every Pomona school employe, approximately 1,900, asking for work location, home address, and whether he or she would be willing to try the system of car pooling. Results of the questionnaires are being sent back to Mrs. Friedman.

After receiving the results, the students in the career program will match question with question and people with people. By doing this, and with the agreement of all willing employes the class is hoping to arrange car pools within a one-or two-mile radius of work and home.

According to Mrs. Friedman, "After the matching is accomplished one of the major difficulties facing the young researchers will be trying to coordinate the times people leave from home and work."

Gas and money will be saved depending upon how many people are in one car pool. Each employe will save from two to four tanks of gasoline a month.

3 exchange students at Alta Loma

Three foreign exchange students are attending Alta Loma High School.

They are Peter Hanen of Ringsted, Denmark; Anita Calvache of Cuenca, Ecuador; and Maria Valsequez of Riobamba, Ecuador.

Extend watch

Operation Schoolwatch, an anti-vandalism campaign, has been extended in Pomona schools through January. Everyone is asked to watch the schools and report suspicious persons to the police department.

A $500 reward is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the arsonist who set fire to Madison school's resource center Nov. 10-11.

Despite personal problems

Silvers keeps jokes going

By ROBERT E. MORSBERGER

THIS LAUGH IS ON ME: THE PHIL SILVERS STORY, by Phil Silvers with Robert Saffron. Prentice Hall, $7.95

When the Ahmanson Theatre in Los Angeles opened its 1971 season with a revival of A FUNNY THING HAPPENED ON THE WAY TO THE FORUM, its star man who made the world his shill. In actuality, he is a sensitive individual whose oversized grin sometimes conceals confusion and vulnerability.

But most of Silvers' autobiography, like his comedy routine, is highspirited and extroverted. Memoirs of movie stars, as told to some professional polisher of prose, are apt to be uninspired anecdotes and name-dropping gossip.

I therefore began Phil Silvers' story with some apprehension, which was dispelled by the first paragraph: "When I was eight I sang at a stag coming-out-of-jail party for a local hoodlum named Little Doggie. In the middle of my number, a man was shot dead at my feet." This blend of wry humor and lively narrative continues through the rest of the book.

How does one get to be Top Banana? Phil Silvers was born in 1911 to Russian refugee parents who settled in Brooklyn, where young Fischel grew up among street fighters and resident gangsters.

Starting out as a singer in kiddie shows, he worked up into vaudeville, playing at the Palace when he was 12.

Throughout his teens, he toured with vaudeville troupes as the Kid in Short Pants.

When vaudeville died, he moved into Minsky burlesque, with summers on the Borscht Circuit in the Catskills. Silvers reconstructs many comic routines for the reader and gives a picture of show business between the world wars that is a colorful piece of Americana.

In 1939, he moved on to Broadway with his first stage musical, Yokel Boy, in which he portrayed Punko Parks, the first of many con men, such as Harrison Floy in High Button Shoes, Jerry Biffle in Top Banana, Sergeant Bilko, and Pseudolus.

Breaking into movies in 1942, he played basically the same role in nine years' worth of musicals — the good-humored confidant to Rita Hayworth and Betty Grable.

His biggest screen success was as TV's Sergeant Bilko from 1955-59, which won just about every award for comedy and made Silvers an international celebrity, identifiable by his trademark glasses and bald dome.

But his professional success was accompanied by private problems. A gambling addict, he threw away a fortune at the races. Two marriages ended in failure. Finally, there was the seven-year period of depression. Just as he made his comeback with A Funny Thing Happened, he was struck by a heart attack that closed the show.

But Silvers is irrepressible and has a way of bouncing back. Even during his worst depression, he kept working in films and on nightclub tours. Despite personal difficulties, he remained the professional. This book is his latest comeback.

Though best known as a movie and television comic, Silvers was apparently funnier on stage than screen. Much of his stage success depended on his improvisational skill and ability to generate a spontaneity and audience rapport that is impossible on film.

This talent serves him well in his reminiscences, where he appears as a genuinely funny man not dependent on a stable of gag writers.

He reconstructs the world of show business with nearly total recall, dialogue and all. Silvers seems to have known everybody, and they're all here, but in character, not just anecdotally.

His collaborator, Robert Saffron, seems mainly to have edited the flow of Silvers' reminiscences; except for some transitional passages, the style is all Silvers.

Robert E. Morsberger is professor of English at Cal Poly, Pomona.

Phil Silvers earned rave reviews as the funniest Pseudolus on record.

The production went on to New York to win Silvers a Tony Award as the best actor in a musical.

What audiences did not know was that Phil Silvers was just pulling out of seven years of profound depression, of physical and psychological illness.

On stage and screen, Silvers was the incarnation of chutzpah — the brash con

Hughes a recluse trapped by wealth

By WILLISTON WIRT

JUST ABOUT EVERYBODY vs. HOWARD HUGHES by David B. Tinnin. Doubleday, $10.

(Williston Wirt, is a staff Member of the Pomona Public Library.)

The author, a Time Magazine editor, has done 25 Time "cover stories", and is now the magazine's European Editor. Thus, he has had a front seat from which to make this study of Howard Hughes, whose career has involved extremely odd behavior.

Some say no man in the world has more wealth. In 1970, Clifford Irving, a reputable and successful author, concocted a Howard Hughes hoax. He purported to be a Hughes confidant, with permission to publish an authorized biography. No one would be able to verify its details—even the U.S courts could not get Hughes as a witness after years of trying—so Irving's book was accepted by McGraw Hill, who paid Irving $765,000 for it.

Life magazine had to recall copies containing a lead story based on excerpts. This entire debacle is set forth in this book — the first full account of it.

The chief purpose for the book, however, is to provide the details of the gigantic struggle for control of TWA. It involved hundreds of millions of dollars, over 11 years.

It makes for absorbing reading as David Tinnin sets forth the story of the trial in non-technical language.

According to Tinnin, Hughes emerged from WW II a daring aviation innovator, a crack test pilot, and a manufacturer of planes.

The author says Hughes employed his great fortune to make unusual motion pictures, and to establish TWA as a major U.S. airline. Eighty per cent of TWA stock was owned by Hughes, and we are told that he supervised every detail, dictatorially.

As the jet age came in, Boeing produced the first successful passenger plane. But Hughes, says the author, was a large Convair stockholder and used their planes. This precipitated a management flight, with Hughes forced to relinquish control, even though he practically owned TWA.

A court action followed, with both sides employing the best legal talent that money could buy. The author outlines the continuing efforts to get Hughes to appear and testify, but Hughes' lawyers, who had never cast eyes on their client, prevented it.

The high stakes—half a billion dollars—made the struggle tremendously important. You follow every aspect of the trial as it is logistically set forth by the author.

Years went by, and at last the TWA management emerged victorious. Hughes had to raise a huge fine, so he sold his TWA stock for $546,549,771.

Book offers mystery, romance

By VONNE ROBERTSON
P-B Staff Writer

INVITATION TO PARADISE, by Lesley Howard, Coward, McCann and Geoghegan, $6.95.

What would, at first, appear to be a peaceful research project on the tiny island of Sardinelle off the coast of Europe soon turns into a sinister plot of life and death for Cleo Anderley, a young American woman.

Using suggestions of danger like a falcon circling overhead and an ornithologist who obviously knows little about birds, the story soon leads to intrigue, mystery and, of course, romance.

In this, her first novel, Miss Howard, displays a skillful use of descriptive phases. Her characters are well defined and the settings almost visual. However, to a real mystery fan, the villain is too easily detected. This really doesn't spoil the story, in this case.

Miss Howard holds a degree in modern languages and history from Cambridge University and has traveled extensively, having been a resident of seven countries in past years. She puts her knowledge to good use in producing an interesting, easy-to-read book.

Critic flays author for anti-vasectomy report

By THEODORE HUMPHREY

VASECTOMY: The Truth and Consequences of the Newest Form of Birth Control — Male Sterilization, by John J. Fried. Saturday Review Press, $5.95.

(Theodore Humphrey teaches composition and a variety of literature courses at California State Polytechnic University, Pomona.)

Under the guise of sweet reason and objective reporting, Fried has written an irresponsible book. Fried proposes to look at the simple sterilization operation being chosen by increasingly large numbers of men — vasectomy — and to examine not only the causes of its sudden popularity but also its "possible" consequences, consequences extending beyond that of sterility.

He argues that we do not know enough about these consequences to continue to perform the operation and ought therefore to declare a moratorium on vasectomy.

Now, it is true that we really ought to know as much as possible about any medical or surgical procedure. A very serious question arises about the wisdom of any moratorium on vasectomy, however, when we weigh the advantages and disadvantages of proceeding under our present knowledge of the operation — i.e., that it is a relatively painless, foolproof, safe procedure undergone by over three million men — or of waiting until "all" the possible consequences are clearly known.

Fried, while surveying the arguments for vasectomy — he sneers at the ecological consequences of overpopulation as "doomsday" worries — devotes much of his book to a highly speculative consideration of some of the more unlikely, though to be sure possible, effects of vasectomy such as immunological reactions that lower a male's natural resistance to disease or thrombosis. But it is instructive to note that his account is larded with qualifying words and phrases — "vasectomy may have secondary . . . effects," "solid hints," "still highly theoretical (possible consequences)," and the like. And one looks in vain in Fried's book for any sort of solid evidence to support his speculations.

One cannot argue with Fried's contention that thorough research into all of the possible effects of vasectomy should be undertaken. But so should research be conducted into all of the possible consequences of continued fertility — poverty, unwanted children, the greater danger to women forced to undergo abortions or sterilization operations more complicated than that for the male if their choice is not to produce babies, the spectre of overpopulation — the list goes on and on.

Fried concludes his brief book with an interesting argument. Vasectomy to him "represents one more irrational and badly thought out, one more semi-hysterical, solution to family planning and population control . . . (It) is a direct indictment of our refusal to make a political and public commitment to give priority to the development of a national population policy or to finance a well-coordinated research program to develop, test and distribute an entire spectrum of contraceptive drugs and devices that would allow individual men and women to choose one they can use without playing roulette with their health every ten years."

Yes, continued research should be undertaken. Yes, a national policy of population limitation should be formulated and that quickly. But it does not follow that vasectomy operations should cease to be performed in the interim.

What Fried seems to be saying most clearly is that vasectomy, done badly for the wrong reasons might possible have some ill effects sometimes on some people. Until better arguments are advanced I, for one, shall continue to recommend the procedure.

New book retells sad life of Poe

By WILLISTON WIRT

EDGAR ALLAN POE. Visitor from the Night of Time, by Philip Van Doren Stern, Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., $4.50.

Edgar Allan Poe lived and died a poor man, paid only pittances for the strenuous efforts he made to earn a living as a writer and editor.

For during his lifetime book and magazine publishers could pirate the works of foreign authors since it was before there were any copyright laws. To get his poems and stories into print, Poe had to offer them free, taking only a few extra copies as his share of the deal.

Says the author of this short biography, "The editors who underpaid Poe are all forgotten, and so are the journals that printed his work. But the rich heritage he left lives on, has been translated into many languages".

Actually Poe became a favorite author in France long before he won recognition from his own countrymen. The French critic Maurice Barres wrote "Dreams, sommambulism, madness, a sense of the mystical relationship between the senses and the phenomenon of nature are the heritage left by Poe to all who felt his influence".

Today many, many thousands of us consider Poe a literary genious. Lovers of mystery stories regard Poe as the inventor of the detective thriller, his immortal sleuth G. Auguste Dupin being the foreunner of Sherlock Homes, Perry Mason, and all other fictional ferrets.

Poe was born in Boston in 1809, a significant year that saw the birth also of Abraham Lincoln, Oliver Wendell Homes, Sr., Charles Darwin, Alfred Lord Tennyson, and Felix Mendelssohn.

His professional actor parents gave Edgar as a small child to Mr. and Mrs. John Allan of Richmond, Virginia, to raise. (This accounts for Poe's middle name). Allan was a fairly well-off merchant and in 1815 the family went to England where Edgar got his first schooling. Evidently the black ravens of London Tower made a deep impression on him. Five years later they returned to Richmond where Edgar began dabbling in poetry with Byron as his model.

While there Poe acquired a fondness for alcohol which never left him. He was able to obtain an appointment to West Point, where poetry became his major interest. He left the academy before graduation in order to pursue this art full time.

At 15 Poe served on the honor guard when Lafayette visited Richmond. There being but little rapport between the foster father and his son, Poe was sent to the University of Virginia. Jefferson was still its active patron.

He married Virginia Chisholm, in her 14th year. Their life together was very happy, but did not last long as Virginia succumbed to tuberculosis.

At the age of 24 Poe settled in Baltimore, a center of publishing, and he entered a story in a newspaper contest. This shifted his attention from poetry to prose, although poetry remained a passion with him all his life.

He obtained employment as a magazine editor at $10 a week. He began writing stories for Burton's Gentlemen's Magazine, and also developed a talent for cyphers and cryptology, which the magazine featured.

Thus in 1841 came the first printings of "Murders in the Rue Morgue" and "A Descent Into the Maelstrom", as magazine articles. The following year came "The Mystery of Marie Rogert" and "The Pit and the Pendulum". And 1843 "The Tell-tale Heart", "The Black Cat' and "The Gold Bug."

At that time the American reading public considered Poe a writer of horror stories, a dabbler in exotic subjects and failed to realize that his mind was producing some of the most creative literature ever achieved.

Not until the 1880s and 1890s were Poe's works recognized as profoundly unique, and collected editions of his works brought out. Today, of course Poe is one of the most written-about American authors.

Says Stern: "A knowledge of Poe's work is an essential part of one's education. He alone, of all the American writers of the first half of the 19th Century has become a world figure. In France, he outshines not only his contemporaries, but all other American authors."

And finally, "He was the hero of this own tales of troubled conscience. He was the chronicler of death, but he also celebrated the tenderness of love, and endlessly sought affection for himself". Late though it is, we gladly accord a great deal of affection for Edgar Allan Poe.

Plantation life background of narrative

By CHARLOTTE LYON

BEULAH LAND by Lonnie Coleman. Doubleday, $8.95.

(Charlotte Lyon is a staff member of the Pomona Public Library.)

Daily life in ante bellum Georgia near Savannah is the subject of this lengthy novel about the 200 or more souls that it took to run a plantation called "Beulah Land".

The complex interrelationships between black and white and among those from neighboring towns and plantations were an accepted and even welcomed aspect of their lives.

Sarah Kendrick and her husband Leon were the managing-owners of the plantation, and are the pivotal characters around which the lives of dozens are woven during the decades 1820 through 1861. Sarah and Leon are benign in their treatment of their slaves, and there is little in the novel to suggest the holocaust that was so imminent.

Rural life, the growing of cotton crops, the development of cooperative ginning, tending schools for small white and black children, numerous weddings, picnics, canning, cooking, and periodic family grave-tending fill its pages.

Such a story should appeal to those women readers who so frequently ask the librarian, "Do you have any Southern novels like Gone with the Wind?" However, one could prepare such a reader.

Sex and bodily functions, though a minor aspect of the book, are not treated euphemistically in this slow-moving novel. Some suspense is introduced by way of the character Roscoe Elk, a part Indian, part Negro, freedman overseer, who becomes powerful and wealthy loaning money to the blacks and then buying up properties surrounding Beulah Land.

The story climaxes with the firing upon Ft. Sumter and all able-bodied men being tearfully sent off to the conflict by wives and families. One can then easily surmise the fate of Beulah Land — once land of the blessed.

Business disasters show easy money often dirty

By MURRAY PROJECTOR

GREAT BUSINESS DISASTERS, Edited by Isadore Barmash; Ballantine Books; $1.50.

Big businesses are newsworthy and big business disasters are especially newsworthy.

(Murray Projector is a Pomona Valley business consultant and actuary.)

Barmash, a veteran business editor and reporter, has assembled previously published reports about 15 of America's most sensational business disasters. These begin with the McKesson & Robbins debacle of 1938 and finish with the Equity Funding scandal still under investigation.

The cast of characters includes "bunglers and swindlers," yet it is the swindlers who fascinate. The bunglers are not necessarily incompetent, only the victims of circumstances, as with the Edsel fiasco. But the swindlers are awe-inspiring men of imagination and charisma.

These are the corporate confidence men, with "energy, ingenuity and a dazzling gift of salesmanship." They are accustomed to success, and cannot accept defeat.

Corruption is the consequence, not the cause. Empire building is a worthy cause, as they see it, and all is justified that contributes to corporate (and personal) success.

At first, their dazzling gifts lead to success without compromise, without deceit, fraud or deception. But eventually, as Barmash points out, the search for ever increasing triumphs in a fiercely competitive situation brings out the latent element of corruption, although there is no sense of guilt.

Then we are treated to creative accounting, the demonstration of profits when none exist. Genius is at work, albeit at the expense of investors. Financial experts, as well as the amateurs, are the victims.

The articles are uneven in length, quality and interest. Some are brief, factual contemporary newspaper accounts. Others, the better reports, are lengthy analyses.

The best is "The $3,754,103 Footnote," by Andrew Tobias, an ex-vice president of the National Student Marketing Corp. which collapsed in 1970. This corporation was the product of W. Cortes (Cort) Randell, a representative superpromoter.

Tobias explains well how the funny money game is played, and why it succeeds as long as it does. The supersalesman cannot do it all by himself. The staff helps, and the investors help deceive themselves.

Even when there is evidence that all is not well, no one is likely to speak up. Team loyalty, and the chance for continuing pain (no matter how improper) are enough to ensure continuing cooperation.

"Great Business Disasters" is of interest despite the uneven quality of its contents. At its best, this mishmash by Barmash is a revealing report of the Protestant Ethnic run amuck.

In view of Los Angeles' own still unfolding Equity Funding scandal, such a report is most timely.

Hughes a recluse trapped

To invest this huge sum, Tinnon states that Hughes took over Las Vegas, buying hotels, gambling casinos, until he dominated the strip.

He also invested in mining claims, airports, and Las Vegas' commuter airlines, which became Hughes Airwest. He took over a lofty penthouse and lived there incommunicative, unapproachable, and invisible. Yet in influence he was dominant in Nevada, where money is king.

Meanwhile, TWA vs. Hughes worked its way up to the court of last resort. And there, in the U.S. Supreme Court, a reversal took place.

The Justices decided that the 11-year struggle through lower courts carried no weight, since Hughes had not received justice there. The Supreme Court voted six to two against TWA management, and for Hughes. Chief Justice Burger and Justice Blackman filed briefs that took exception to the verdict.

Where was Hughes when the upset was publicized? Well on Dec. 23, 1972, he was in Nicaragua when the earthquake struck. President Samoza of Nicaragua visited with him briefly to make sure he was unharmed. Hughes was flown to England incognito, and is there today — holed up on the ninth floor of London's Inn-on-Hyde-Park.

The final chapters of the book recount the continuing struggle for control of the Hughes financial empire. Robert Mahue (who has never laid eyes on Hughes) acted as his agent in purchasing and managing the Las Vegas properties until December 1970. The author maintains that he was fired by Hughes after Hughes Toolco managers got the upper hand.

For us minor league bleacher sitters, this book is Big League, with the players vying for astronomical financial stakes. We shake our heads, for this is not fiction—it is real life. It involves the world of enormous wealth.

CLIFF KING Says:

Have you ever wondered how your favorite local TV station gets the news items that are broadcast? Well, strictly local news is covered and taped prior to air time by local teams of news reporters and cameramen.

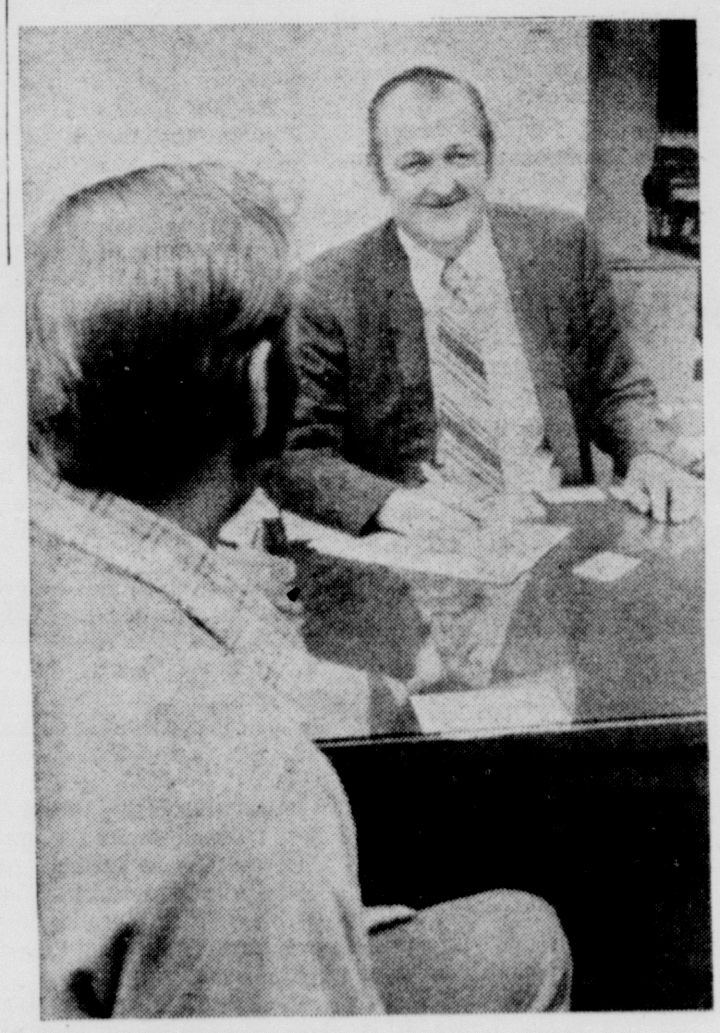

National and international news cannot, of course, be covered by each local station. Each of the networks provides a news service for its affiliated stations. The networks film the big news events each day and send them to the stations between regular network broadcasts. The local stations can then edit the selection of taped news stories and use any or all of them in their own non-network news programs.

Keep up with the news today and enjoy the best in TV entertainment, too, with a new color TV which has all the latest, most desired features. Let us quote our competitive prices on the leading line . . . the great new RCA. When you buy from us, you know your set will be properly SERVICED.

Superior's newly remodeled store at 9135 Central Ave.

Dee Ryder, interior decorating adviser, discusses a customer's furnishings needs.

MONTCLAIR — Superior Furniture at 9135 Central Ave. is a one-stop shop for the whole house where customers are never pressured.

"We're here to help, not to harass," says General Manager Pete Gottuso of the 32,000-square-foot store that offers name brand furniture, appliances, carpeting, wall decor, interior decorating services and even paint.

The store features some 100 room groups fully set up and on display at all times with such names as Bassett, American Martinsville and Stanley.

In addition to full lines of Spanish, Mediterranean and transitional furniure, the store carries a complete line of maple furnuture, which Gottuso says is pretty hard to come by nowadays.

Some of the brands of maple on hand include Cal Wood, Cal Shops, Deluxe and Revere.

Just about everything in the store carries a five-year warranty and a 30-day price guaranty by which customers can receive the difference in price plus 10 per cent if they find a similar item selling for less elsewhere.

In the store's large carpet department, customers can browse through some 350 rolls of such brand name carpeting as Bigelow, Royalweave, World and Coronet. All carpeting is guaranteed for three years, and installation and delivery are available.

In addition, customers are likely to find prices a good deal easier on the pocketbook. The better prices are especially evident, Gottuso says, in apartment groups, but the bargains are available everywhere in the store.

A key reason for the popular prices is the fact that the Montclair store is one of six throughout Southern California. Stores in Glendora, Garden Grove and San Diego allow the chain greater buying power, as will more stores planned for the future.

Along with the many services, good prices, wide selection and friendly atmosphere, customers can also take advantage of the many years of experience Gottuso and his staff have in the furniture business.

Gottuso himself knows furniture literally from the ground up. He started as a five-year-old dusting furniture in his father's refinishing shop back East and has been in the business ever since with some 15 of those years spent in the local area.

Dee Ryder, interior decoration consultant, has had some 18 years of experience throughout the country. He's also owned his own store in Arizona.

Barry Barr, who heads up the carpet department, lays claim to 17 years in the carpeting business, while Mark Bernstein, sales manager, has served with Superior stores for the past three years.

General Manager Pete Gottuso, standing, Sales Manager Mark Berstein talk shop.

Deanne Bark, left, is the night office manager; Annette Ostler is order chief.

Why not fly south—all the way South

By ROBERT C. MILLER

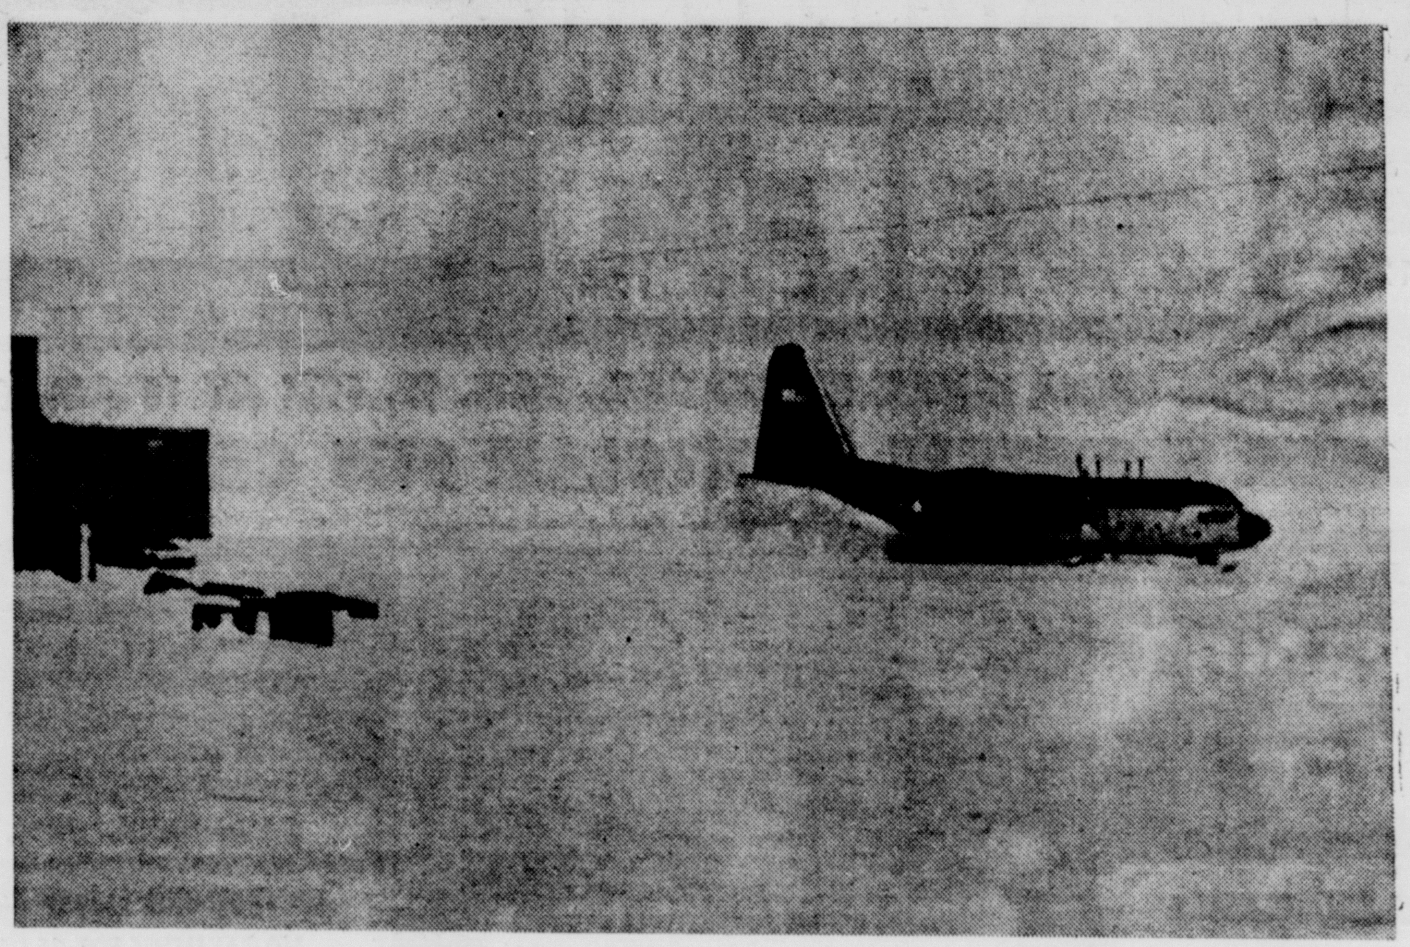

THE SOUTH POLE, Antartica (UPI) — The coffee and rolls are free on S.P.C.A.— South Pole Commuter Airlines —but your seat companion could be anything from a penguin to a diesel generator.

The Navy's antarctic airline shuttles daily—weather permitting—across 803 miles of the most beautiful and deadly terrain in the world, linking the main American base at McMurdo Sound with the pole. Its heavily-laden Hercules traverse the ice-limbed Queen Maud and assorted other 10,000 foot ranges following the same general route of the early Antarctic explorers who struggled southward afoot seeking the poles, but finding, many times, only death in the frozen wastelands.

From November until mid-February the ski-equipped C130s are the only supply link between the outside world and the 175 Americans living at the pole. These two camps—the old Russ Amudsen and the new station now being built with Seabee and civilian labor— contain just about every possible amenity of the civilized world, except women, all of it either flown in or parachuted to the sites adjoining the pole.

A broken-backed Hercules lying at the end of the ice runway tells better than words the perils of polar flying. The loaded transport hit a "white out" while attempting to land, and the sudden blending of snow, sky and atmosphere into a blind world of whiteness caused the pilot to pancake into the ice. Although the plane was severely damaged, there were no injuries.

"You'll notice," explained flight engineer David Brown (Camarillo, Calif., and Berwick, Pa.) "that we never stop the props while we're on cold where it's anywhere from 25 to 50 below zero (Fahrenheit) you might never get the engines going again if you had starting troubles."

SAFE LANDING — Looking like a penquin itself with a dark and light paint job, a heavily-loaded C-130 Hercules lands on skis at the South Pole carrying supplies to the Americans living at the outpost near the old Ross-Amudsen polar camp.

White-out record

The record holder for whiteout landings is Lt. Cmdr. Floyd W. Eldredge of Denison, Tex., who has made five three of them in one day.

"Co-pilot Ernie Carman, Newport, R.I., was getting a little damp under the armpits that day," Eldredge said, "as we had him down on the floor of the cockpit looking out the window to yell 'contact' when the skis were about to hit the ice."

During the November to the ground. In this intense mid-February "summer" period, SPCA flies two and three shuttles daily to the pole and pilots such as Joel Hans Jensen (Vancouver, Wash.) log more than 600 hours in the air, all of it daylight flying with built-in problems rarely experienced in other locales.

Navigator Craig Jacobsen (Austin, Tex.) never looks at the plane's compass.

"If you were to trust your compass down here, you'd end up flying over there," he explained, pointing off towards the forbidding Royal Society Mountains looming off to the right 130 degrees divergent from our course.

Penguin payload

The loadmasters never know whether they're going to get a penguin, congressman or a tractor as the payload. Randall Pack (Sparta, Tenn) shook his head and chuckled about the time a crate of emperor penguins was brought aboard.

"They were all in a crate and the guys felt sorry for them after they were airborne and decided to let them out to waddle around," Pack said. "Trying to catch the penguins afterwards was a bad enough job, but it was nothing compared to the clean-up job of penguin manure spread all over the place."

The first flight into the pole each year makes the crew the most popular people in all Antarctica, Pack said.

"We're the first people they've seen in about 10 months and we're bringing them the first mail they've had since the previous February. Do they ever love us!"

Loadmaster Willard Click (Taylor, Tex.) said the weirdest cargo to the pole was 13 lemons, each one carried by an arriving passenger on the first flight for radioman Donald Lusaur of Woonsocket, R.I.

"Lusaur had been broadcasting for weeks about his cravings for a lemon," Click said. "Each disembarking passenger ceremoniously presented him with a lemon, and Lusaur cut them in half and ate the whole 13 before even opening his mail."

LOOK, MA—I MADE IT! — United Press International's Robert Miller only thinks he's at the South Pole. He's hugging the well-known barbership pole marker—which has moved north, along with the continent, since it was planted at what used to be the South Pole.

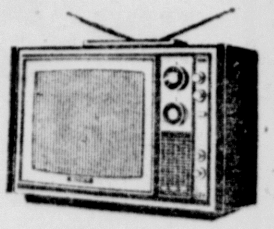

Sisters, 4 and 3, nurse hangovers

HALIFAX, England (UPI) — Sisters Tina and Tracey O'Brien, aged four and three, left the hospital recently recovered from their New Year's hangovers.

When nobody was looking they drank a bottle of liqueur and some other alcoholic beverages. "We shan't drink any of your pop again,' they told their mother.

Heavy, lonely, cold, healthy-- South Pole trivia

SOUTH POLE STATION, Antarctic (UPI) — Things about the South Pole you might have forgotten or never known:

The darn thing moves, about a foot a week. In a northerly direction.

The altitude at the pole is 9,000 feet, but the land mass upon which it rests is below sea level. That's because there is an estimated two miles of ice beneath the pole. But National Science Foundation geologists say that if the ice were to melt, the removal of all that billions of tonnage would cause the pressurized land mass to rise, and the pole would end up above sea level.

On a real hot, summer day— around mid-January—the mercury bubbles up to nearly zero. But it's not the coldest spot on earth. The Russian station at Vosok, near the South Magnetic Pole, holds that Chamber of Commerce achievement with an official low reading of 126.9 degrees below zero. The lowest temperatures at the American South Pole station run close to minus 100 degrees.

Nearly 200 Americans live and work at the pole during the 10 weeks of "summer" and a couple dozen will spend the winter here without seeing, touching or smelling another human from Valentine's Day to about Thanksgiving. And at times they won't hear any other voices except their own when the frequent blackouts cut off all communication with the outside world, often for days at a time.

The American flag is raised and lowered only once a year here at South Pole station. It comes down when the sun sets and the long antarctic night begins, and is raised when the sun reappears again for the first time.

The South Pole was discovered on December 14, 1911, by Roald Amudsen who won the race because he used dogs for both locomotion and food for survival. The Englishman Robert Scott and his disappointed party reached the Pole a month later, Jan. 17, 1912, only to find the Norwegian flag and Amundsen's vacated tent still standing. Scott and his party perished in their vain attempt to return to their McMurdo Sound base.

The pole is one of the healthiest places in the world; there are practically no germs in the frozen, dry air. But when pole residents return to civilization they are highly susceptible to disease, particularly colds and pneumonia as their systems have temporarily lost their immunity to bacteria.

There are three South Pole markers. The one planted by Amundsen lies buried in the glacial ice more than half a mile north of the spot where the pole is today. The striped barber pole with the mirrored glass ball on top has also been moved by the slow-moving glacial ice field from where it was planted during the 1957-58 Geophysical year. Only a red flag on the end of a willowy bamboo pole now marks the exact location of the pole.

It Happened in Pomona

By Doc Peirsol

Inflation an old gripe

Some advertising slogans are as good today as they were 80 years ago. For example, consider the one used here in Pomona by Padghams Cash Grocery House in 1893. It read:

"Walk in and see what a little money can do."

But how, you ask, can such a slogan be as applicable today as it was then? The answer is simple. It's all in how the words are accented—under today's conditions that slogan would read:

"Walk in and see WHAT A LITTLE money can do."

However it is a matter of record that, throughout the entire history of this community, citizens have never been happy with the prices being quoted by local retail establishments. In Pomona, in the year 1904, hams were selling at 16 cents a pound. Sirloin beef was 17 cents a pound, and Porterhouse steaks could be purchased for 18 cents a pound. Bananas were 30 cents a dozen; onions 5 cents a bunch and cabbage 5 cents a head. But wouldn't you know it! Then as now Pomonans were complaining bitterly about the high cost of living. An article in The Pomona Daily Review on June 15, 1904, read:

"At the present prices of food most people will be forced to eat less, and according to the doctors this will be a blessing."

More than one way to unload a house

By CARLTON SMITH

For homeowners faced with the problem of having to sell a house, and sell it fast, there's a new wrinkle in real estate brokerage making it possible for the owner to unload in a hurry, and get his cash out.

Two new wrinkles, in fact. Two organizations, involving nationwide networks of some 2,300 brokers, offer plans for taking a house off the owner's hands. One provides immediate cash for most of the owner's equity, the other a guaranteed fast sale.

One broker group operates under the name, The Gallery of Homes, or GH for short. It embraces some 300 affiliated brokers, operating 600 offices in 40 states, according to the McGraw-Hill publication, "Business Week Letter."

The GH plan offers a homeowner 80 per cent of his equity at once, the remaining 20 per cent when the house is sold. GH brokers make their own estimate of the selling price. Subtract from this the balance due on any mortgage loan, the closing costs, brokerage fees, any FHA "points" or other costs, and what's left is the owner's equity.

His 80 per cent is received at once, in the form of a GH voucher. "It's as good as cash, to other brokers," says editor Jane Quinn of "Business Week Letter." Any other broker you deal with should accept it as down payment.

Since the house hasn't actually been sold yet, the amount of the voucher is in reality a loan—the equivalent of a second mortgage, and you're charged interest at the prevailing rate in your area.

Interest payments are deferred for six months, however, unless the house is sold sooner. In that case the accrued interest is subtracted from the balance of the equity due the owner — along with a charge of $50 to $100 for preparation of documents and other costs of sale.

The second plan, offered by a network of some 2,000 brokers known as Potere, guarantees a buyout within 60 or 90 days, rather than making an advance on the owner's equity.

Sale at a fixed price is guaranteed, the price being determined by appraisal. Again the mortgage loan balance, closing costs, brokerage fee and other expenses of sale are deducted, along with a 1 per cent service fee.

If a sale hasn't been closed within the specified 60 to 90 days, the owner gets cash for his net equity at that time, but continues to pay a monthly service fee of 1 to 2 per cent, for a maximum of six months or until the house is sold, whichever comes first.

Either of these plans is obviously going to cost an owner something, above the normal expenses of selling a house.

Under the GH plan, in addition to the $50 to $100 service fee, you pay interest at prevailing second-mortgage rates until the house is sold — presumably, indefinitely.

Under the Potere plan, if the house hasn't been sold by the specified closing date, the charges could total 6 to 12 per cent of the owner's equity, if the house remains unsold for as long as six months.

Even so, the cost of having the house taken off your hands quickly could be well worth it. Anyone who's experienced a forced quick move, and wound up owning two houses for a time, can tesitfy to the severe drain this imposes on the family budget.

To obtain a list of brokers participating in the two plans, write to Gallery of Homes, 314 N. York Rd., Elmhurst, Ill. 60126, or to Potere, 470 Elmore Ave., Elizabeth, N.J. 07028.

Legal profession to trim 'inferior' lawyers

NEW YORK (UPI) — The legal profession, worried by the performance of some trial lawyers practicing in Federal courts, has taken a major step toward eliminating "inferior advocacy."

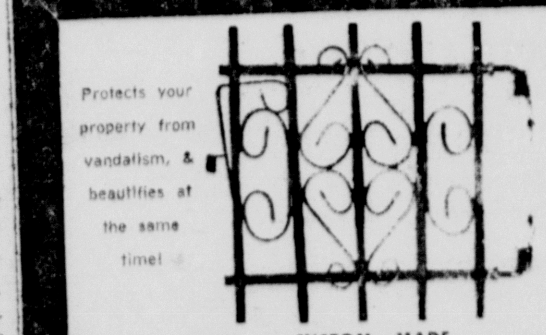

Chief Judge Irving R. Kaufman of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, which encompasses New York, Connecticut, and Vermont, this week announced the formation of an 18-member panel of legal experts to study the problem of attorneys who "demonstrate a lack of experience, competence and integrity."

Robert L. Clare Jr., President of the American College of Trial Lawyers, was named chairman of the group, called the Committee on Qualifications to Practice Before the United States Courts in the Second Circuit.

The circuit is second in prestige to the U.S. Supreme Court. The formation of the committee, Kaufman said, was in response "to a growing concern over criticism of the legal profession."

The advisory group, the first of its kind in the nation, is expected to lay the ground work for the formation of similar committees in other Federal court districts.

Kaufman and Chief Justice Warren Burger have both been critical in recent speeches of the time consuming and inefficient trial conduct of some defense attorneys and prosecutors.

SAN DIEGO SINGERS — The San Diego-based country-western group, Brush Arbor, will perform in the John Wayne Theater of Knott's Berry Farm at 2, 4 and 6 p.m. Jan. 20. The Allen Family, a pop group, appears there at 7 and 9 p.m. Friday and at 1 and 3 p.m. next Saturday. Taking the stage at 7 and 9 p.m. next Saturday will be bluegrass favorites Dennis and Danny Agajanian, with a variety of instruments.

Pomona College sets four music programs

CLAREMONT — Four music programs have been scheduled at Pomona College in six days, starting with a choral concert at 8:15 tonight.

All programs are free and all start at 8:15 p.m. They are held in Thatcher Music Building with the exception of the Monday night piano recital which is scheduled for Bridges Hall of Music.

Robert Wuertz, a student at Claremont Graduate School, will conduct tonight's choral program.

The program includes the "Gypsy Lieder," Op. 103 by Johannes Brahms, the "Pater Noster" by Heinrich Schuetz, and two works from the English Renaissance: William Byrd's "Mass in Four Parts," and John Dowland's "Weep Ye No More, Sad Fountains." Among the lighter numbers will be the folk tune "Glendy Burk" and "Stomp Your Foot," from Aaron Copeland's opera, "The Tender Land."

Patrick Gallagher of Claremont, a music major at Pomona College, will present his senior piano recital at 8:15 p.m. Monday.

Gallagher will perform a Prelude and Fugue from Bach's "Well-Tempered Klavier;" Bach's "Fantasy in C minor, S. 906," and Stravinsky's Piano Sonata. The program will conclude with four pieces from Brahms' Opus 76 (two intermezzos and two capriccios) and Beethoven's "Waldstein" sonata.

Student recitals will be held at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, the first featuring Brahms' Trio for Horn, Violin and Piano, Op. 40.

The trio was written in 1965 for a natural, as opposed to a valve, horn. The ensemble will consist of Nancy Miller, horn; Anne Cramer, violin, and Gene Carl, piano.

Among the other works on these two programs are the Songs for Alto, Viola and Piano, Op. 91, by Brahms, performed by Ginevra Chandler, alto; Mark Emile, viola, and Margery S. Briggs, piano; four songs by Gabriel Faure, sung by baritone Andy Howard, accompanied on the piano by Gene Carl, and a group of songs by Aaron Copland and Benjamin Britten, featuring Tim Molina, baritone, accompanied by Mrs. Briggs. Bonny Hough, pianist, will play two preludes by French composer Olivier Messiaen.

Iceland uses natural heat

Work by Pomonan to receive premiere

LOS ANGELES — "Berceuse Seche," a musical composition by Pomona composer David Noon, will be given its world premier by the Debut Orchestra in the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 20.

Noon, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Noon, is a graudate of Pomona High School and Pomona College. He holds a master of musicology degree from New York University and a master of musical arts degree from Yale University where is is now a doctoral candidate.

Many of Noon's compositions have been published and performed and he has won numerous prizes, including scholarships and grants, a Fellowship to the Academy of Music in Warsaw, Poland, and a $1,000 Debut Award for Composition, for which the premire performance is also offered.

Neal Larrabee, 25-year-old pianist, will perform Rachmaninoff's Piano Conceto No. 3 in E Flat Major. The orchestra, conducted by 23-year-old Michael Nowak, will also play Bahms' Variations on a Theme by Haydn, Op. 56, and Bartok's Dance Suite.

Simon uneasy over publicity

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Energy chief William E. Simon apparently is fearful he may be developing what most Washington officials reportedly desire— a personality cult.

As head of the new Federal Energy Office, Simon has been enveloped in a wave of publicity as a result of his efforts to ease the fuel crisis.

At a recent staff meeting, Simon told his assistant administrators he wanted more publicity for them, and less for himself.

Convenience in every feature of this home

By HIAWATHA ESTES

Here is a home which is packed with about every conceivable item and feature. These will contribute toward modern ease and comfort and will assure delightful living for every member of the family.

A series of arches, tied together with an ornamental iron railing, outlines the front exterior of this striking Spanish design. A wooden gate, which matches the garage door, has been located in the arch which provides entry to the roofed walkway along the side of the garage. This roofed walk is also accessible from the garage. Planting areas are against the garage and in front of the living room.

To the left of the entry is the living room which faces the street but from which there is access to the rear patio and yard through the sliding glass doors in the dining ell. To the right of the entry is a huge family room which also has a view toward both the front and rear of the house. This room is completely open to the kitchen so as to form one spacious area where informal living can really be appreciated. Highlights of the kitchen are an eating nook for family meals and an abundant amount of storage space including broom and pantry closets. Another closet opens to the family room.

This design requires only a small amount of hall space. A washer and dryer closet opens to the hall. This feature eliminates the necessity of carrying both dirty and clean clothes from one end of the house to another. Both baths have twin pullman lavatories and the master bedroom suite boasts two wardrobes.

This same exterior, plus a Contemporary exterior, is also available in a three bedroom floor plan, at a different price structure, and is illustrated in our book, Town & Country Homes.

Complete working drawings for plan 41107 can be purchased for only $12.55 for the first set and $6.30 for each additional set ordered at the same time. This plan will be available at these special prices until May 13, 1974. Please allow two to three weeks for delivery. A specification booklet is available for $1.05.

A large reproduction rendering of the exterior is available for $1.05. The following home plan books are also available: Distinctive Homes — $1.31; Prize Homes — $1.31; Hallmark Homes — $1.31; Town & Country Homes — $1.31; Homes by Hiawatha — $1.31; Ranch & Modern Homes — $2.10. All six books — an $8.65 value — for only $6.83. Orders for less than three books, please add an extra 20c per book for postage and handling. Prices include sales tax. Send all orders to: Hiawatha Estes, P.O. Box 404-PO, Northridge, California 91324.

Do it yourself

Use that wall space and empty corner for shelves

No house has enough storage space. If you are building or remodeling you can plan extra storage before the work is completed. If you are living in an older home and have no plans to remodel then finding new storage space may be a problem.

All storage is a personal matter. It differs from family to family. The right approach to solving the problem is to start by determining what you must store, then determine the best way to do it. Make an inventory so you know whether it's books, linen, clothes, shoes or tools that need extra facilities. Determine in what parts of the house these various items should be stored.

After this you can begin to sort out the solutions.

In many instances simple rearranging of existing facilities may be all that is needed. Most closets are poorly organized. This also is true of many cabinets.

Will a few extra shelves help? Make them adjustable so they can be rearranged from time to time. Maybe drawers or trays instead of shelves will do more to help.

How about an extra rod for hanging clothes? Short items or children's clothes can be hung from a rod placed closer to the floor than the ceiling, or placed in a waist-high area.

There are dozens of gadgets on the market to make your storage easier. You can find rods that pull out or fold away, special hardware for hats, special racks for almost anything.

Your kitchen cabinets can offer more space with some of these gadgets. Special hooks and racks can make them more efficient. You can hang an extra drawer on the underside of a wall cabinet. The drawer is light weight, comes complete with ready-to-install drawer guides.

Find spots out of the main traffic areas in which to place extra storage facilities. Consider wall spaces in out-of-the way places. Shelves or cabinets can be installed in corners. They can be hung high enough so that there is still room for furniture below. Book shelves can be installed on the sides of a doorway and even above it.

That window against which you can't put anything anyway can offer space. Place shelves below it. Use a low chest, place cushions on it and you have a window seat.

Move furniture around to make better use of wall space. If there are paintings or photographs on the wall, consider whether moving them might make the space available for shelves.

Some free-standing storage units serve as furniture. Wall to ceiling (or almost that high) cabinets can be used as room dividers, turning a large room into two smaller ones and creating a storage wall where there was none before.

You can buy or build multi storage units to go on a single wall. These units are designed to house hi-fi equipment, a television set, records and books. Arrange shelves so that every part of the unit is used for the items that best fit it or it will become a junk collector.

Help budget survive pinch--do it yourself

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — "You've never hammered a nail, cleaned a sink trap or painted a wall and you never will?" Don't bet on it.

The 1970s are going to be known as the decade of do-it-yourself, says Howard M. Findley, vice president-marketing and sales, for Rockwell International Building Components Division.

Findley said a recent survey by a national building supplies magazine and the Home Improvement Council revealed that more than 50 million American homeowners — accounting for more than housing units — plan at least two home improvement projects this year.

Cost of these projected improvements is estimated at a record $22.3 billion and, Findley said, nearly $8 billion, or more than one-third is earmarked for do-it-yourself projects.

He said do-it-yourself repair and maintenance has become a way of life for the majority of American homeowners faced with the increasing scarcity of competent, reliable help and the steadily increasing costs of such help when it can be found.

Now, also, more than ever before, homeownrs are opting to improve their present housing rather than invest in newer homes at inflated prices and record high mortgage rates.

The survey, Findley said, indicated more than half of all homeowners who need more living space plan to expand their present living quarters rather than move this year, their decision reflecting "economics." At the same time, Commerce Department statistics showed a larger share of the home improvement market turning to do-it-yourself projects to beat rising labor costs and material mark-ups.

The situation, Findley said, has reversed itself from a few years ago when the homeowner with a few extra dollars and less leisure time favored the professional craftsman. Today, he said, do-it-yourself is an accepted activity for the American homeowner.

The do-it-yourself surge which occupied home handymen with game rooms during the late 1950s is updating kitchens and baths in 1973, Findley said.

Of all home improvement projects, do-it-yourself plumbing grew at the fastest rate — 63 per cent — over the past five years, according to the Commerce Department. This year, the do-it-yourself market is expected to climb another 10 per cent.

Do-it-yourself, Findley said is here to stay.

Do-it-yourself home improvements, Findley said, not only improve a homes resale value, they also provide better living conditions at minimal cost to the homeowner.
